

I have been asked by a group of instructors to request if the DSA have statistics on the number of ADIs who fail check tests on the first of their three attempts. We are hoping to persuade the driving school that we work with, to fund check test preparation support.

The figures requested will help us assess if there is a case to be made for support to be provided prior to an initial attempt.

In the calendar year 2010, 1900 approved driving instructors (ADIs) failed their check test on their first attempt. During this period, a total of 14,111 check tests were conducted.

The information supplied to you continues to be protected by copyright. You are free to use it for your own purposes, including for private study and non-commercial research, and for any other purpose authorised by an exception in current copyright law. Documents (except photographs) can be also used in the UK without requiring permission for the purposes of news reporting. Any other re-use, for example commercial publication, would require the permission of the copyright holder.

Most documents supplied by the Driving Standards Agency will be protected by Crown Copyright. Most Crown copyright information can be re-used under the Open Government Licence (<http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/doc/open-government-licence/>). For information about the OGL and about re-using Crown Copyright information please see The National Archives website - <http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/information-management/uk-gov-licensing-framework.htm> .

Copyright in other documents may rest with a third party. For information about obtaining permission from a third party see the Intellectual Property Office's website at www.ipo.gov.uk.