

I'd like information for 2011 on the following:

- 1) The number of car multiple choice theory tests conducted and passed broken down by age and gender
- 2) The number of car hazard perception tests conducted and passed broken down by age and gender
- 3) The number of car theory tests conducted and passed broken down by age and gender

Please find attached at Annex B, details of car theory tests conducted and passed broken into gender and age for the 2011 calendar year. This information is correct as of 25 April 2012. Please note that we have also included separately, those candidates where the age and gender has not been captured.

- 4) The number of car practical tests conducted and passed broken down by age and gender

Please find attached at Annex C, details of car practical tests conducted and passed broken into gender and age for the 2011 calendar year. This information is correct as of 17 April 2012. Please note that we have also included separately, those candidates where the age and gender has not been captured.

The information supplied to you continues to be protected by copyright. You are free to use it for your own purposes, including for private study and non-commercial research, and for any other purpose authorised by an exception in current copyright law. Documents (except photographs) can be also used in the UK without requiring permission for the purposes of news reporting. Any other re-use, for example commercial publication, would require the permission of the copyright holder.

Most documents supplied by the Driving Standards Agency will be protected by Crown Copyright. Most Crown copyright information can be re-used under the Open Government Licence (<http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/doc/open-government-licence/>). For information about the OGL and about re-using Crown Copyright information please see The National Archives website - <http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/information-management/uk-gov-licensing-framework.htm> .

Copyright in other documents may rest with a third party. For information about obtaining permission from a third party see the Intellectual Property Office's website at www.ipo.gov.uk.