A NATIONAL STATISTICS PUBLICATION

National Statistics are produced to high professional standards set out in the Code of Practice for Official Statistics. They undergo regular quality assurance reviews to ensure that they meet customer needs. They are produced free from any political interference.

The United Kingdom Statistics Authority has designated these statistics as National Statistics, in accordance with the Statistics and Registration Service Act 2007 and signifying compliance with the Code of Practice for Official Statistics.

Designation can be broadly interpreted to mean that the statistics:

- meet identified user needs;
- are well explained and readily accessible;
- are produced according to sound methods, and
- are managed impartially and objectively in the public interest.

Once statistics have been designated as National Statistics it is a statutory requirement that the Code of Practice shall continue to be observed.

Introduction

What is Child Benefit?

Child Benefit is a tax-free payment that you can claim for your child. It is usually paid every four weeks but in some cases can be paid weekly. The payment can be claimed by anyone who qualifies, whatever their income or savings.

Child Benefit is paid to those responsible for children (aged under 16) or qualifying young people. The latter includes:

- a) those in full-time non-advanced education or (from April 2006) on certain approved vocational training courses and who are under 19, or are aged 19 and have been on the same course since their 19th birthdays. (Note: those reaching 19 up to 9 April 2006 ceased to qualify on their 19th birthdays);
- b) those entered for future external examinations, or are in the period between leaving education (or exams finishing) and the week containing the first Monday in September (or similar dates after Easter and in early January, if earlier), and are not in work (there are slight variations for Scotland);
- c) those aged under 18 who have moved directly from full-time education to being registered for work or training with the Careers service or with Connexions.

You can get Child Benefit even if your child doesn't live with you. However, if they live with someone else, you can only get Child Benefit if:

- a) you pay towards the upkeep of your child
- b) what you pay is at least the same as the amount of Child Benefit you get for your child
- c) the person bringing up your child is not getting Child Benefit for them - if you and another person both claim Child Benefit for the same child, only one of you can get it

You can also claim Child Benefit for a child even if you're not their parent, but you have to be responsible for them to qualify.

Awards are also subject to residence criteria being satisfied.

There are two separate amounts, with a higher amount for your eldest (or only) child and a lower amount for each of your other children.

For further information about who can claim please refer to the HMRC website:

<http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/childbenefit/start/who-qualifies/index.htm>

What does this publication tell me?

This publication includes details of the number of families claiming Child Benefit as at 31st August 2011, the number and ages of children within those families and their geographical location. Population counts at Country and English Region level are shown, as well as by Local Authority and Parliamentary Constituency (Westminster and Scottish) in the United Kingdom.

The statistics are as close to real-time as possible and represent the complete picture as at the 31st August, including back-dated awards. As these statistics are classified as National Statistics the date of publication is pre-announced a year ahead in the previous publication.

This publication includes detailed analysis of the Child Benefit population as at 31st August 2011, as well as headline time series figures for each August back to 2003, this is because HM Revenue & Customs took over the responsibility for Child Benefit from April 2003.

Previously and up until April 2003, Child Benefit was administered by the Department of Social Security (now the Department for Work and Pensions), statistics for previous years are available on the DWP website:

We also publish detailed small area statistics for Great Britain, at Lower Layer Super Output Area (LSOA) for England and Wales, Data Zone for Scotland and Electoral wards for the United Kingdom. These statistics are based on the same source data and totals for higher level geographies will match up. The statistics are available with the National Statistics release of these statistics. Currently the small area data is not badged as National Statistics and appears on the HMRC website and on the Neighbourhood Statistics website.

Further geographical statistics, down to Lower Layer Super Output Area (LSOA) in England and Wales, Data Zones in Scotland and Output Areas in Northern Ireland are available from the following sites:

- Scottish Government: Scottish Neighbourhood Statistics
- Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency \(NISRA\): Northern Ireland Neighbourhood Information Service

National Statistics Review

We carried out a formal review of our National Statistics publications, covering both Tax Credits (provisional and finalised) and Child Benefit in 2011.

The Child Benefit Statistics User Consultation ran from 11 July to 30 September 2011 and covered Child Benefit National Statistics and Official Statistics using an on-line survey. A summary of the results from the consultation have been published on the HMRC website: <http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/statistics/child-benefit-stats.htm>

Following feedback from the consultation, we have introduced a new category in this publication to show the number of families in receipt of CB for four children and five or more children. Also, we have published small area statistics by Electoral wards for the UK.

Who might be interested?

The statistics contained in this publication will be of interest for anyone that is looking for the latest possible data on Child Benefit and children. Specifically, there are statistics on the number of children, by age band, in each geographical area. The user consultation showed that these statistics are used mainly by Local Government followed by Central Government and Academics. There are a variety of uses for Child Benefit statistics including identifying specific child populations by age for schools entry analysis or wider issues such as comparing the statistics to comparable Tax Credits statistics and other data sources.

The take-up rate of Child Benefit has held fairly constant over the past few years at around 96%, therefore the child population (up to 16) within Child Benefit is a useful proxy for the child population as a whole.

For more information see the published take-up statistics on the HMRC website:

<http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/statistics/fin-takeup-stats.htm>

What do the tables contain?

At end-August 2011 there were 7.88 million families, responsible for 13.72 million children and qualifying young people ("children"), receiving Child Benefit (CB). The figures cover backdated awards, and so include all awards now reckoned to have entitlement spanning that date.

Table 1 shows the high level time series for August 2003 to August 2011. It shows the number of families in receipt of Child Benefit in each Country and English Region, as well as the number of children.

Table 2 shows further breakdowns of these numbers by the number of children within each family, and separately the age bands of the children within the awards.

Table 3 provides the first detailed view of August 2011 statistics. This table shows the headline figures for the number of children in each family, as well as the number of children broken down by age band, in each Country and English Region.

Table 4 provides a detailed breakdown of the counts of the number of children by individual ages for each Country and English Region.

Tables 5, 6 and 6a provide the same headline figures of the number of families receiving Child Benefit by the number of children, and the number of children broken down by age band for each Local Authority (Table 5), Westminster Parliamentary Constituency (Table 6) and Scottish Parliamentary Constituency (Table 6a).

Table 7 shows the number of children by individual ages for each local authority in the United Kingdom. We previously published this data in a supplementary release which is now available within this publication.

On-going User Engagement

Bespoke analysis of Child Benefit data is possible although there may be a charge depending on the level of complexity and the resources required to produce. If you would like to discuss your requirements, to comment on the current publications, or for further information about the Child Benefit statistics please use the contact information at the beginning of this publication, or from the HMRC website:

<http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/statistics/updates.htm>

We are committed to improving the official statistics we publish. We want to encourage and promote user engagement, so we can improve our statistical outputs.

Although we have captured views through a recent consultation, we would welcome any further views you have using the link to the feedback form below. We will undertake to review user comments on a quarterly basis and use this information to influence the development of our official statistics. We will summarise and publish user comments at regular intervals.

<http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/statistics/feedback.htm>

Rounding

The figures have been independently rounded to the nearest 5. This can lead to components as shown not summing to totals as shown.

Age bands of data on children

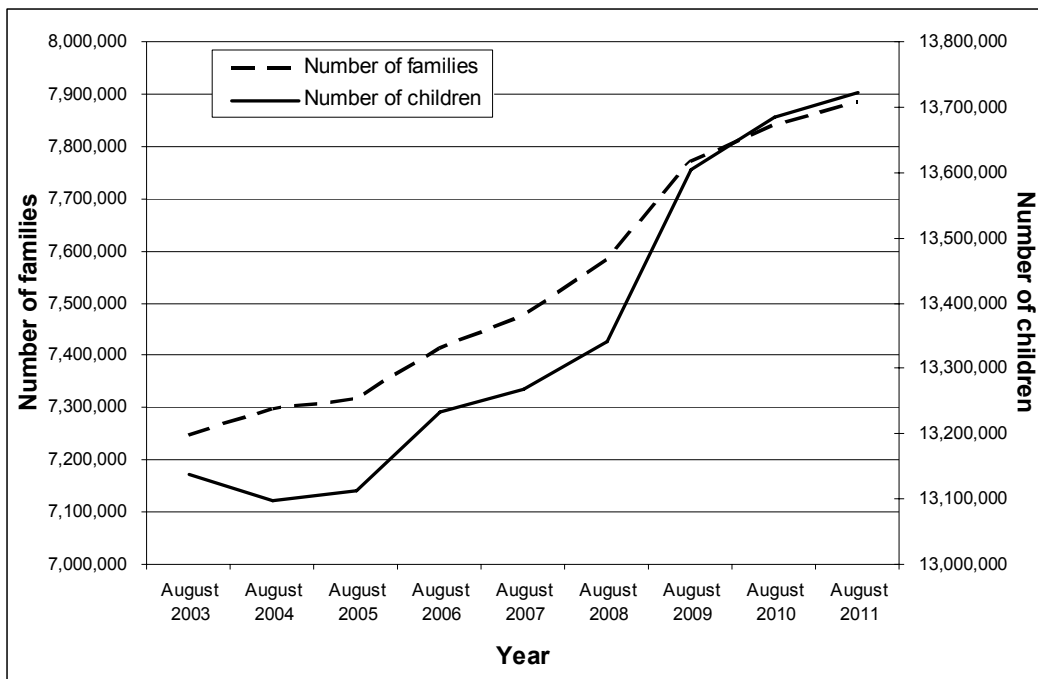

For most tables in this publication, figures showing the age of children for whom CB is claimed have been grouped into four age bands. Figures at a local authority level showing the number of children by single year of age are available in Table 7 and replaces the Supplementary Table publication.

Commentary

Overall Trends in time series of families and children

Since August 2007 we have seen significant growth in both the number of families in receipt of Child Benefit as well as the number of children being claimed for. The increases between August 2007 and August 2011 across each of the countries of the United Kingdom are between 1% and 6%, with the number of families and children attributed to Foreign and unknown being quite volatile. We are yet to fully understand the reasons for this but it could be due to inaccuracies in the recorded information and also the net inflow of migrant workers.

Figure 1: The number of families and children in receipt of Child Benefit, 2003 to 2011

In August 2011 there were 7.88 million families, responsible for 13.72 million children and qualifying young people ("children"), receiving Child Benefit (CB), compared with 2010, when there were there were 7.84 million families, responsible for 13.69 million children. The rise between August 2010 and August 2011 continues the general trend, for both claimants and children, seen in the previous year. (Figure 1) .

Under UK domestic law a claimant is eligible to receive Child Benefit if they are present and ordinarily resident in the UK. For citizens of other countries (such as EEA, A2 and A8 countries) they are able to claim Child Benefit as long as they meet the requirements of the "right to reside" test, which amongst other requirements means that they must generally be in registered or authorised employment (as set out in Home Office transitional regulations), in self-employment or be self-sufficient.

The number of families with one child has increased each year since 2003 whereas the number of families with more than one child has been in general decline over the same period. Changes in the size of families in receipt of Child Benefits could be due to qualifying young people staying on in education or just a reflection of the general rise in birth rates over the same period. The average number of children per family for which child benefit is paid has reduced each year since 2003 (Figure 3).

Figure 3: Average number of children per family broken down by country, 2003 to 2011

In terms of the age distribution of children, the number of children and young people aged 16 to 19 had been increasing steadily for some time and continues to do so although it is slowing and decreased slightly between 2010 and 2011. There was a significant increase in this age group between August 2005 and August 2006 following the extension in April 2006 of Child Benefit to qualifying 19 year olds. There has been an increase in the number of children aged 10 and under over the last year but a fall in older age groups. The 11-15 year olds has shown a slight fall, this is likely to be as a result of the size of the 16 year old cohort who have moved out of this group being larger than the 11 year old cohort who have just entered this range. (Figure 4)

Analysis of August 2011 Population

There are higher numbers of children in the North West, London and the South East. (Figure 5)

Figure 5: The number of families and children broken down by country and English region, at 31st August 2011

Figure 6 shows the average number of children for whom Child Benefit is being claimed for, per family. The average number of children is fairly consistent across many of the regions, where there is an average of between 1.72 and 1.78, but the North East (1.68), Scotland (1.66) and Northern Ireland (1.83) show a significant difference.

Figure 6: Average number of children per family broken down by country and English region, at 31st August 2011

Children aged 16-19 are only included within Child Benefit claims if they meet the eligibility criteria for non-advanced further education or training, therefore you can expect to see the number of children in these categories decline sharply away from the mid-year population projections. This is shown in Figure 7.

(Source data: Child Benefit Statistics Table 4 and Population Projections for UK, ONS)

The distribution of children in receipt of Child Benefit closely mirrors the mid-year population projections², except for 16-19 year olds, for the above mentioned reasons, and for infants under 1 where we know there is a delay in claiming Child Benefit. Both series show the lower volumes of children aged 10 and 11 compared to the other age groups, and the resulting increase in birth rates since 2002.

Interestingly the number of children recorded in Child Benefit for children aged 5 to 16 is marginally higher in most cases than the latest population projections. One reason for this is the inclusion in the Child Benefit statistics of children within Child Benefit claims who are not ordinarily resident in the UK and are being claimed for under EC Regulation 883/2004. As at July 2011 there were approximately 41 thousand children in this category, no change from the same point during 2010¹.

Coverage and compilation of the figures

The tables are based on an extract from the Child Benefit Computer System taken on 31st August 2011 and supplemented with additional cases as identified from a further extract on 30th November 2011. This identifies new claims that started between 31st August 2011 and 30th November but are in relation to a child born prior to 31st August 2011.

Geographical allocation

For August 2011, we have remained with the process introduced for August 2007. In publications prior to August 2007 the postcode on the Child Benefit computer system was used wherever possible and, where missing or invalid, was supplemented with postcodes from the previous year.

Due to the increasing demand for low level geographical analysis, greater scrutiny is required when comparing information across different administrative systems. In respect of Child Benefit, as a significant proportion of CB claimants also claim tax credits, it is essential that everything is done to ensure that a family is treated equally within both systems and both sets of small area statistics. From August 2007 we have individually matched the Child Benefit and tax credits data together and in the event that there is a discrepancy we have used the postcode as recorded on the tax credits system in the first instance, and then the postcode as recorded on the Child Benefit system.

At national level this does not have a huge effect, and even down to Local Authority or Parliamentary Constituency level the effect is minimal, but with the increasing demand for very small area statistics, such as Lower-layer Super Output Area (LSOA) and Data Zone (the Scottish equivalent of LSOA), we have done everything we can to ensure that where a family appears in both systems, for the statistics we will be assigning them the same geographical details.

Once the postcode had been identified, the geographical details were obtained from the August 2011 National Statistics Postcode Look-up (NSPL), which reflects geographies and administrative boundaries that were live as at August 2011. This includes Scottish Parliamentary Constituencies that came into effect in May 2011.

Further information on the NSPL can be found on the ONS website:

Area codes consisting of nine character alpha-numeric coding were implemented from 1 January 2011, in line with the Government Statistical Service (GSS) Coding and Naming policy. Further information and lookup tables to former area codes are available on the ONS website:

Notes:

¹ This was payable instead of the standard eldest child rate to most people bringing up children on their own until 6 July 1998. From that date it has continued to be payable to recipients at that date. It is also payable to lone parents who were receiving the lone parent rate of family premium in Income Support or Jobseekers' Allowance and move into work; and lone parents ceasing to receive a "specified" benefit (Child's Special Allowance for the eldest dependent child; the higher rate of Industrial Death Benefit for the child; or an increase for the eldest dependent child with either Widowed Mother's Allowance, War Widow's Pension, Retirement Pension, Industrial Disablement Pension - which includes Unemployability Supplement - or Invalid Care Allowance). In April 2007, this transitionally protected rate of Child Benefit for lone parents was extinguished when the standard rate for the first eldest child increased to £18.10 per week.
