Subject: minimum price for alcohol

I support the introduction of a 50p per unit minimum price for alcohol.

It would be a real shame if the current opportunity to introduce a significant public health improvement was diluted due to the significant influence of the drinks industry rather than doing what would help save lives.

Every day I see many people extremely unwell and dying of alcohol related diseases. These are increasing in number and increasingly effecting younger people. It is no longer uncommon to see 30 year olds dying in our hospital beds.

Please don't dilute this down. 50p per unit.
