Chapter 1 – Introduction

1.1 Commission's role and legislation

- 1.1.1 Under Schedule 1 to the Scotland Act 1998, as amended by the Scottish Parliament (Constituencies) Act 2004, the Boundary Commission for Scotland is responsible for reviewing the constituencies and regions of the Scottish Parliament, and making recommendations to the Secretary of State for Scotland.
- 1.1.2 The Commission's structure and governance is set down by the Parliamentary Constituencies Act 1986. The membership of the Commission during this review is set out in Appendix A.
- 1.1.3 This is the report that we are required to submit in accordance with paragraph 3(4) of Schedule 1 to the Scotland Act 1998. The Act requires us to submit our report to the Secretary of State for Scotland by 30 June 2010 on a review of the Scottish Parliament boundaries. We are required to show the alterations we propose to constituency and region boundaries or to state that in our opinion no alteration should be made.

1.2 Procedure and timing

- 1.2.1 The procedure for this review is set out in Schedule 1 to the Scotland Act 1998 which appears at Appendix B.
- 1.2.2 At the start of the review, we examined the July 2007 electorates of the existing constituencies. We concluded that, due to changes in electorates and to council area boundaries, the existing constituencies and regions required alteration to better reflect the statutory rules.
- 1.2.3 We announced the start of the review by placing a notice in the Edinburgh Gazette and issuing a news release on 3 July 2007.

1.3 Constituencies and regions at the start of this review

- 1.3.1 The 73 Scottish Parliament constituencies were defined in the Scotland Act 1998 to be the same as the Westminster constituencies at that time, with the exception that Orkney and Shetland should each form a separate constituency. These 73 constituencies had resulted from the Commission's Fourth Periodical Report on Westminster constituencies which was submitted to the Secretary of State for Scotland in December 1994. The recommendations of that report were enacted by the Parliamentary Constituencies (Scotland) Order 1995 (SI 1995/1037).
- 1.3.2 The Scottish Parliament electoral system also requires 8 regions for the election of regional MSPs, with the extent of each comprising a number of whole constituencies. The initial regions for the Parliament were coterminous with the European Parliament constituencies which resulted from the Commission's report on European Parliament constituencies, submitted to the Secretary of State for Scotland in June 1996. The recommendations of that report were enacted by the European Parliamentary Constituencies (Scotland) Order 1996 (SI 1996/1926).

- 1.3.3 Further details of the Scottish Parliament constituencies and regions that existed at the start of this review appear in our Information Paper, Scottish Parliament constituencies and regions 1999-2011.
- 1.3.4 There have been no alterations to the 73 constituencies and the 8 regions since they were defined.

1.4 Legislative changes

- 1.4.1 Since the definition of the existing Scottish Parliament constituencies, the number of Westminster constituencies in Scotland has been reduced from 72 to 59. The current Westminster constituencies were brought into force following the Commission's Fifth Periodical Report in November 2004. Since the number of Westminster and Scottish Parliament constituencies now differ, it is not generally possible for Scottish Parliament constituencies to have the same boundaries as Westminster constituencies.
- 1.4.2 Local government in Scotland changed in 1996 from a two-tier system of Regions and Districts to 32 single-tier council areas. The current Scottish Parliament constituencies were created through the aggregation of regional electoral divisions from the former two-tier system. Since that time, there have been 2 complete reviews of local government electoral areas. As a result, current Scottish Parliament constituency boundaries no longer generally follow current local government electoral ward boundaries.
- 1.4.3 Since the passage of the European Parliamentary Elections Act 2002, Scotland forms a single electoral region for the European Parliament. Therefore, there are no European Parliament constituency boundaries to be considered when designing Scottish Parliament boundaries.

Chapter 2 – Principles

2.1 Legislation

- 2.1.1 Schedule 1 to the Scotland Act 1998, as amended by the Scottish Parliament (Constituencies) Act 2004, sets out statutory rules which we must follow when designing Scottish Parliament constituencies and regions. The rules and their consequences are discussed in greater detail in Chapter 3.
- 2.1.2 The Scotland Act 1998 states that there will be 73 Scottish Parliament constituencies and that these will be the Orkney Islands, the Shetland Islands, and 71 others. We have power neither to alter the total number of constituencies, nor to alter the fact that 2 of these constituencies will be the Orkney Islands constituency and the Shetland Islands constituency. Thus, 71 out of the 73 constituencies for the Scottish Parliament are the subject of this review.
- 2.1.3 The 1998 Act also determines that there will be 8 Scottish Parliament regions, each returning 7 members to the Parliament and we have no power to alter these numbers.

2.2 Electoral quota

- 2.2.1 The legislation requires us to undertake the review using the local government electorate, since this comprises those eligible to vote in Scottish Parliament elections.
- 2.2.2 The electorate count is the number of local government electors on the electoral register in force at the start date of the review (July 2007). This figure remains fixed for the review, regardless of any changes which might occur during the review.
- 2.2.3 The electoral quota is defined as the average local government electorate count of the 71 constituencies that are the subject of this review, at the start date of July 2007. The electoral register at that date included 3,885,700 such electors, making the electoral quota 54,728 electors per constituency.

2.3 Electorate change

- 2.3.1 We examined the existing Scottish Parliament constituencies and noted that in many areas there had been significant changes to the electorate counts. Appendix C shows the changes in electorate counts for the existing constituencies between 1999 and 2007, and their respective divergences from the electoral quota.

2.4 Treatment of wards

- 2.4.1 In the past, electoral wards have been aggregated to design parliamentary constituencies since they were of a suitable size in terms of numbers of electors, electorate data was readily available from the electoral register, and their areas were well defined. This approach was not required by the legislation but had benefits for the administration of elections and local organisation of political parties.

- 2.4.2 Following the introduction of multi-member wards for local government elections in Scotland in 2007, the size of electoral wards increased significantly and currently ranges from 6,000 to 24,000 electors.
- 2.4.3 At a preliminary stage in this review, we examined the possibility of aggregating electoral wards to design constituencies. We concluded that whole wards could not be used consistently throughout Scotland to produce constituencies that conformed to the statutory rules. We found that similar difficulties would also be encountered using other non-statutory areas such as, for example, community council areas, civil parishes and polling districts.
- 2.4.4 We therefore decided not to use standard building blocks for constructing constituencies. Instead, we considered many factors when determining the extent of each constituency, including local government electoral ward boundaries, clear geographical features such as roads, railways and rivers, and existing non-statutory areas such as those listed in 2.4.3.
- 2.4.5 The electorate for each proposed constituency was calculated as follows: first, we compiled the number of local government electors for each postcode from the electoral register in force at the start of the review (July 2007); second, we used the boundaries of each postcode area, as published by the General Register Office for Scotland, to determine the postcodes in each proposed constituency, and hence the number of electors.

2.5 Naming and designation of constituencies

- 2.5.1 We noted that in previous reviews, the naming of constituencies had been contentious. We concluded that constituency names should reflect their geographic extents, and that local views should be taken into account. We also concluded that names should, wherever possible, be short and should not attempt to describe an area exhaustively.
- 2.5.2 We were aware that confusion can arise where the names of Westminster constituencies and Scottish Parliament constituencies are the same. We therefore agreed that names of Scottish Parliament constituencies should in general differ from those of Westminster constituencies, where an appropriate and distinct alternative was available.
- 2.5.3 When formulating our Provisional Proposals for constituencies, we decided to adopt a naming convention to help distinguish Scottish Parliament constituency names from Westminster constituency names. Under this convention, we placed the compass-point element of the name (e.g. north, south, east, west etc.) at the beginning. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
- 2.5.4 During the consultation on our Provisional Proposals for constituencies, representations were made stating that the adopted naming convention would be insufficient to distinguish Scottish Parliament constituency names from Westminster constituency names, in which the compass point appears at the end of the name. In addition, geographically adjacent constituencies would not appear near each other in alphabetical lists of constituency names.

- 2.5.5 As a result, in our Revised Recommendations for constituencies, when we used a compass point as part of a name, we avoided placing it at the beginning of the name.
- 2.5.6 In addition, notably in Glasgow, respondents identified a strong preference for constituency names which incorporated names of localities rather than compass points. By contrast, we received representations on constituencies in City of Edinburgh council area that asked for constituency names incorporating compass points to be retained.
- 2.5.7 Taking all of these factors into account, we agreed that it would be necessary for decisions on constituency names to be taken in the light of the individual circumstances surrounding them. We also noted that, historically, the Commission has adopted a general approach of following the advice on names provided by Councils. We agreed to continue with this general approach.
- 2.5.8 We agreed our revised approach to constituency names after considering Paper 2009/11. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
- 2.5.9 Each constituency has to be designated as either a county constituency or a burgh constituency. These designations affect the allowable expenses by candidates during elections. The legislation does not define these designations. We have, therefore, followed previous practice by designating constituencies which comprise predominantly urban areas as burgh constituencies and constituencies which comprise predominantly rural areas as county constituencies.

2.6 Council area boundary reviews¹

- 2.6.1 During the course of our review, the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland (LGBCS) began 3 minor reviews of short sections of council area boundaries. In each case, the section of boundary being reviewed by LGBCS coincided with constituency boundaries in our Provisional Proposals. We decided that, if any of these LGBCS reviews resulted in a modified council area boundary before the completion of our review, we would modify our constituency and region boundaries so that they continued to coincide with the council area boundary. We announced this intention when we published our Revised Recommendations for constituencies and Provisional Proposals for regions in May 2009.
- 2.6.2 As a result of these LGBCS reviews, Orders were passed implementing council area boundary changes between Glasgow City and North Lanarkshire council areas², and between Angus and Dundee City council areas³, coming into force on 1 April 2010. We have incorporated these

1 The terms council area and local authority area are used interchangeably in this report.

2 The Glasgow City Council Area and North Lanarkshire Council Area (Cardowan by Stepps) Boundaries Amendment Order 2009 (SSI 2009/368)

3 The Angus Council Area and Dundee City Council Area (Fithiebank) Boundaries Amendment Order 2009 (SSI 2009/442)

minor changes into our recommendations for constituencies and regions covering those council areas.

- 2.6.3 A third LGBCS review between East Dunbartonshire and Glasgow City council areas has not yet resulted in an Order being made. If necessary, we will conduct an Interim Review of the Scottish Parliament constituency and region boundary in this area once any Order resulting from that review has been made.

2.7 Liaison with political parties

- 2.7.1 In June 2007, we met with those political parties represented in the Scottish Parliament to explain our intended approach to the review, and to discuss their participation in the review process.
- 2.7.2 We took the innovative step of offering the political parties assistance with the use of software for analysing the boundary information and electorate data which we use during a review. We decided that this would assist us by allowing the parties to make better informed representations and alternative suggestions when we published our proposals for consultation. We also saw benefit from the political parties and ourselves using directly comparable data.
- 2.7.3 The assistance we provided comprised a licence to use the same mapping software which the Commission uses, map and boundary data from Ordnance Survey, postcode boundary data created by the General Register Office for Scotland, electorate counts for each postcode compiled from the July 2007 electoral register, and training.
- 2.7.4 We did this with the agreement of our data suppliers (General Register Office for Scotland and Ordnance Survey). We awarded a small contract to Forth Valley GIS to conduct training for the political parties on our behalf, and 2 training sessions took place at our offices early in the review.
- 2.7.5 In reviewing the representations made by the political parties in response to our public consultations, we concluded that this innovation was successful in allowing parties to engage in a more effective fashion than was previously the case.

2.8 Publicising our proposals

- 2.8.1 The legislation sets out certain minimum requirements for publishing our proposals for public consultation. These are that we must publish information in at least 1 newspaper circulating in each constituency, and make the proposals available for inspection in at least one place in each constituency.
- 2.8.2 To meet these requirements, we consulted with each Council and agreed with them the newspapers and display points to be used in their council area. In practice, we agreed significantly more than the minimum required number of newspapers and display points in order to make information more readily accessible. We used these newspapers and display points at each stage when we published information for public consultation.

2.8.3 In addition to the statutory requirements, we disseminated proposals in various ways. Details of proposals were sent directly to a variety of targeted recipients, including MPs, MSPs, political parties' Scottish headquarters, the Scottish Parliament Information Centre, and the House of Commons library. In addition, we notified Electoral Registration Officers and the Association of Community Councils of the publication of the proposals. We also issued News Releases on each occasion when we undertook public consultation, and made all of the consultation documents available on our website.

2.9 Representations

2.9.1 When we published proposals for public consultation, we received representations from a range of interests, including political parties, local authorities, elected representatives and members of the public.

2.9.2 In many cases, representations raised common issues. In some cases representations comprised identical pro-forma letters with only the respondent's details being different. On occasion, we received petitions where signatures had been gathered supporting a representation.

2.9.3 Prior to the appropriate meeting, our Secretariat summarised the representations received and the issues that they raised, and prepared a paper for our consideration. Full copies of all of the representations were available to us at the meeting. This approach allowed us to consider thoroughly all of the issues raised in representations.

Chapter 3 – Statutory rules for constituencies and regions

3.1 Background

- 3.1.1 Schedule 1 to the Scotland Act 1998 (see Appendix B) sets out the statutory rules that we must follow when designing Scottish Parliament constituencies and regions. Paragraph 12 of the Schedule sets down the 4 rules to be used when designing constituencies, and paragraph 13 of the Schedule sets down the 2 rules to be used when designing regions.
- 3.1.2 In the conduct of the review, we aimed to adopt a consistent and balanced approach to applying the statutory rules to all of the areas subject to review.
- 3.1.3 We recognised that there is a tension between the different rules, and that in many instances it is not possible to satisfy any one of the rules completely without adversely impacting on compliance with the other rules.
- 3.1.4 We have conducted our review independently of political considerations or influence.

3.2 Constituency rule 1 - council area boundaries

- 3.2.1 Rule 1 of the constituency rules requires us to take into account the boundaries of council areas. Therefore, one of our first considerations was how constituencies might fit within each of the council areas.
- 3.2.2 The theoretical entitlement of a council area to constituencies is calculated by dividing the total number of local government electors for that area by the electoral quota (see 2.2). Appendix D sets out the theoretical entitlement to constituencies of each council area, as at July 2007.
- 3.2.3 By examining the theoretical entitlement of each council area, we took the initial view that there were several council areas where it was reasonably practicable to have a whole number of constituencies exactly covering each of those council areas.
- 3.2.4 Where we found that it would not be possible, under the statutory rules, to allocate a whole number of constituencies to a council area, it was necessary for us to consider combining the council area with neighbouring areas. In configuring constituencies for these combined areas, a number of constituencies would have to cross a council area boundary. We aimed to keep such cross-border constituencies to a minimum.

3.3 Constituency rule 2 - electoral parity

- 3.3.1 Rule 2 of the constituency rules requires that the electorate of a constituency must be as near the electoral quota (see 2.2) as is practicable, while having regard to rule 1.
- 3.3.2 As noted in 3.2, our initial view on allocating constituencies to council areas aimed to meet the requirements of rule 2. We continued to take account of this rule, along with the other statutory rules, when reviewing existing constituency arrangements and in the development of our recommendations.
- 3.3.3 We recognised the importance of this rule in ensuring that the weight of an elector's vote in one constituency is the same as that of an elector in another constituency. When designing constituencies, we considered parity in every case.

3.4 Constituency rule 3 - geographical considerations

- 3.4.1 Rule 3 of the constituency rules enables us to make allowance for any special geographical considerations that may apply to a particular area.
- 3.4.2 As noted in 2.1, we have no power to alter the total of 73 Scottish Parliament constituencies. Therefore, any decision to make allowance for special geographical considerations in one area impacts upon the development of constituencies in other areas.
- 3.4.3 Examination of council areas and their theoretical entitlements to constituencies led us to agree that the special geographical circumstances of Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area (Western Isles) required special treatment under this rule. We, therefore, designed a constituency which exactly covered that council area. We did not consider that there were sufficient special geographical circumstances in any other council area for us to depart from the broad allocation of constituencies determined by the theoretical entitlement.
- 3.4.4 Our decision to allocate a constituency to Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area required the remaining 70 constituencies under review to absorb the shortfall of 32,529 electors in that constituency.
- 3.4.5 We also recognised that there might be instances where special geographical considerations would have a bearing on our recommendations for the detailed design of individual constituencies.

3.5 Constituency rule 4 - local ties

- 3.5.1 Rule 4 of the statutory rules requires us to take account of inconveniences arising from alterations to constituencies, and local ties that would be broken by such alterations.
- 3.5.2 We were aware of the importance that the public places on not breaking local ties in the design of constituencies, and that the public sometimes seeks the application of this statutory rule to the exclusion of the other rules.

3.5.3 When applying this rule, we found that there were occasions when breaking of local ties was unavoidable, when taking account of the overall application of the statutory rules and the absence of viable alternatives.

3.6 Regional rules

3.6.1 The first regional rule requires that each constituency is contained within a single region. Therefore, when designing regions we can only consider the different ways of combining whole constituencies.

3.6.2 The second regional rule requires that the electorate of each region must be as near to that of the other regions as is practicable, while having regard to special geographical considerations.

3.6.3 The regional rules do not make any mention of the boundaries of council areas, local ties, or inconveniences attendant on alterations, all of which appear in the rules for constituency design. However, these factors were among those which we considered when developing our recommendations for Scottish Parliament regions.

3.6.4 Electoral administration is made easier where electoral areas are coterminous with council area boundaries. Similarly, public recognition of Scottish Parliament regions is likely to be improved if the public can identify with the extent of those regions, and the set of communities that are encompassed by each one. For each of these reasons, we preferred designs that minimised the number of council areas which were divided between Scottish Parliament regions, all other factors being equal.

3.6.5 We recognised that there might be special geographical circumstances in respect of highland Scotland and particularly the island areas which should be taken into account when we made recommendations for Scottish Parliament regions in these areas.

Chapter 4 – Procedure

4.1 Introduction

4.1.1 This Chapter sets out in general terms the main steps that we followed when conducting the review. Details of our consideration of constituencies for each individual area of Scotland are given in Appendix E. Details of our consideration of regions for all of Scotland are given in Appendix F.

4.2 Constituencies: Provisional Proposals

4.2.1 We developed our Provisional Proposals for constituencies at our meetings between June and December 2007. Further detail of our Provisional Proposals can be found in the appropriate sections of Appendix E.

4.2.2 On 14 February 2008, we published our Provisional Proposals for the 71 constituencies subject to review for public consultation for the statutory period of 1 month, lasting until 14 March 2008.

4.3 Constituencies: Local Inquiries into Provisional Proposals

4.3.1 We received over 5,000 representations concerning our Provisional Proposals for constituencies. Further detail of our consideration of representations can be found in the appropriate sections of Appendix E.

4.3.2 We decided at our meetings of April, May and June 2008 to hold a Local Inquiry in each of the areas listed in Appendix G. The legislation sets out that a Local Inquiry into our proposals for constituencies must be held if the public consultation results in objections from not less than 100 electors or from an affected Council. In addition, the legislation gives us discretion to hold a Local Inquiry even if those statutory criteria are not met.

4.3.3 At our invitation, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed a Sheriff Principal as an Assistant Commissioner to conduct each Local Inquiry on our behalf. The resulting 10 Local Inquiries took place between August and November 2008 at venues which we agreed with each Assistant Commissioner. The venues were generally provided by local authorities, with some Local Inquiries hearing evidence at two or three venues to ensure that the Inquiry was more conveniently accessible to a large number of people.

4.3.4 The Local Inquiries were valuable in allowing us to hear evidence from all those concerned about our proposals. The reports on the Local Inquiries provided the recommendations and views of the Assistant Commissioners which we considered, together with the representations received, when reaching our decisions on whether to amend our proposals.

4.4 Constituencies: Revised Recommendations

- 4.4.1 At our meetings of October and December 2008, we considered the representations received on our Provisional Proposals for constituencies in those council areas where there had been no statutory requirement for a Local Inquiry (Dundee City, Falkirk, Glasgow City and Na h-Eileanan an Iar). We confirmed that a Local Inquiry was not required in any of those areas, and agreed our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in those areas.
- 4.4.2 At our meetings of December 2008, February and March 2009 we considered the reports on the Local Inquiries which had been held into our Provisional Proposals, together with the representations received concerning those areas, and agreed our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in those areas.
- 4.4.3 At our meeting of March 2009, we considered the possible effect on our recommendations of reviews being carried out by the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland, and agreed a statement of our intentions (as detailed in 2.6) to be published along with our Revised Recommendations.
- 4.4.4 On 21 May 2009, we published our Revised Recommendations for constituencies for public consultation for the statutory period of 1 month, lasting until 21 June 2009. At the same time, we published our Provisional Proposals for regions (see 4.7).

4.5 Constituencies: Further Recommendations

- 4.5.1 We received almost 400 representations concerning our Revised Recommendations for constituencies, and considered those representations at our meeting of July 2009. Further detail of our consideration of representations can be found in the appropriate sections of Appendix E.
- 4.5.2 The legislation sets out that if a Local Inquiry has been held in an area, then the Commission has the discretion to decide whether a further Local Inquiry is required. We concluded that no further Local Inquiries were required into our Revised Recommendations for constituencies since the issues raised in the representations received were ones that we had already considered fully during our discussions.
- 4.5.3 At our meeting of July 2009, in response to the representations received, we decided to consult on further changes in Aberdeen City, Argyll and Bute, and City of Edinburgh council areas. On 3 September 2009, we published our Further Recommendations for constituencies for those areas for public consultation for the statutory period of 1 month, lasting until 3 October 2009.
- 4.5.4 At our meeting of July 2009, we also decided not to make Further Recommendations for any other areas, and agreed to adopt our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for constituencies for those other areas.

4.6 Constituencies: Final Recommendations

- 4.6.1 We received 3 representations concerning our Further Recommendations for constituencies, and considered those representations at our meeting of October 2009. Further detail of our consideration of representations can be found in the appropriate sections of Appendix E.
- 4.6.2 We decided to adopt our Further Recommendations for Aberdeen City, Argyll and Bute, and City of Edinburgh council areas as our Final Recommendations for constituencies for those areas.
- 4.6.3 We confirmed our earlier decision, taken at our meeting of July 2009, that we would adopt our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for constituencies for all other council areas included in the review.

4.7 Regions: Provisional Proposals

- 4.7.1 At our meeting of March 2009, after reaching conclusions on all of our Revised Recommendations for constituencies, we discussed and agreed our Provisional Proposals for regions. Further detail of our Provisional Proposals can be found in Appendix F.
- 4.7.2 On 21 May 2009, we published our Provisional Proposals for regions for public consultation for the statutory period of 1 month, lasting until 21 June 2009, simultaneously with our Revised Recommendations for constituencies (see 4.4).

4.8 Regions: Local Inquiry into Provisional Proposals

- 4.8.1 We received over 200 representations concerning our Provisional Proposals for regions, and considered those representations at our meeting of July 2009. Further detail of our consideration of the representations can be found in Appendix F.
- 4.8.2 The legislation sets out that a Local Inquiry must be held into our proposals for regions if our public consultation results in objections from not less than 500 electors or from an affected Council. In addition, the legislation gives us discretion to hold a Local Inquiry even if those statutory criteria are not met. We decided that a Local Inquiry should be held into our Provisional Proposals for certain regions.
- 4.8.3 At our invitation, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Kerr QC, Sheriff Principal of North Strathclyde, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry on our behalf. The Local Inquiry took place on 22 October 2009 in Glasgow.

4.9 Regions: Revised Recommendations

- 4.9.1 At our meeting of November 2009, we considered the report on the Local Inquiry, together with the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals for regions, and agreed our Revised Recommendations for regions.

4.9.2 On 7 January 2010, we published our Revised Recommendations for regions for public consultation for the statutory period of 1 month, lasting until 7 February 2010.

4.10 Regions: Final Recommendations

4.10.1 We received 13 representations concerning our Revised Recommendations for regions, and considered those representations at our meeting of February 2010.

4.10.2 We decided to adopt our Revised Recommendations for regions as our Final Recommendations for regions.

Chapter 5 – Final Recommendations

5.1 Constituencies

- 5.1.1 We recommend that the 73 Scottish Parliament constituencies should be as shown in Figure 5.1. Full definitions of the boundaries of the constituencies are contained in the DVD-ROMs which we are submitting with this report.
- 5.1.2 The constituencies covering Orkney Islands and Shetland Islands council areas are included in Figure 5.1 for completeness, although their extents are defined in the legislation and, therefore, these constituencies were not within the remit of this review.
- 5.1.3 Figure 5.1 lists each constituency with its local government electorate in July 2007 and the percentage difference of that electorate from the electoral quota. The electoral quota is described in Chapter 2.2.
- 5.1.4 Details of our deliberations in arriving at our recommendations for each constituency are given in the appropriate sections of Appendix E. Summary maps of the recommended constituencies appear in the appropriate sections of Appendix E, and on our website there are maps of individual recommended constituencies.
- 5.1.5 Details of the wards and part-wards making up each constituency are in Appendix H, together with listings of the recommended constituencies covering each council area.
- 5.1.6 The Office for National Statistics (ONS) published a Coding and Naming Policy for UK Statistical Geographies in June 2009. In accordance with the policy, we suggest that the recommended constituencies are assigned the codes listed in Appendix I.

Chapter 6 – Conclusions

6.1 Recommendations and analysis

- 6.1.1 We recommend that the 73 Scottish Parliament constituencies and 8 Scottish Parliament regions should be as set out in Chapter 5.
- 6.1.2 The July 2007 electorates of 38 of the recommended constituencies are within 5% of the electoral quota, and a further 26 of them are within 10% of the quota.
- 6.1.3 Figure 6.1 shows graphically the July 2007 electorates of the recommended constituencies, arranged in ascending order of electorate. The constituencies covering Orkney Islands and Shetland Islands council areas are included in Figure 6.1 for completeness, although their extents are defined in the legislation, as described in Chapter 2.1.
- 6.1.4 Of the recommended constituencies, 61 are each contained within a single council area, while the others each include parts of 2 council areas.
- 6.1.5 By comparison, the July 2007 electorates of 17 of the constituencies existing at the start of this review were within 5% of the electoral quota, and a further 17 of them were within 10% of the electoral quota. Also, 57 of the constituencies existing at the start of this review were each contained within a single council area, 14 included parts of 2 council areas, while the other 2 included parts of 3 council areas. Thus, the review has improved compliance with statutory rules 1 and 2 for the design of constituencies (see Chapters 3.2 and 3.3).
- 6.1.6 The July 2007 electorates of the recommended regions range from 10.3% above to 31.7% below the average of all of the regions.
- 6.1.7 Figure 6.2 shows graphically the July 2007 electorates of the recommended regions, arranged in ascending order of electorate.
- 6.1.8 Of the 32 council areas in Scotland, 27 are each contained in a single recommended region, 4 are each divided between two of our recommended regions, and 1 is divided between three of our recommended regions.
- 6.1.9 By comparison, the July 2007 electorates of the regions existing at the start of this review ranged from 10.8% above to 34.1% below the average electorate of all of the regions. Also, of the 32 council areas in Scotland, 21 were each contained in a single region, 10 were each divided between two regions, and 1 was divided between three regions. Thus, the review has slightly improved compliance with rule 2 for the design of regions (see Chapter 3.6).

The constituency rules

- 12 These are the constituency rules.

Rule 1

- (1) So far as is practicable, regard must be had to the boundaries of local authority areas.
- (2) “Area” and “local authority” have the same meanings as in the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973.⁷

Rule 2

- (1) The electorate of a constituency must be as near the electoral quota as is practicable, having regard to Rule 1.

⁷ References to a local authority under the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973 are to be construed to be to a council under the Local Government etc (Scotland) Act 1994, as required by section 183 of the Local Government etc (Scotland) Act 1994.

- (2) The Boundary Commission for Scotland may depart from the strict application of Rule 1 if they think that it is desirable to do so to avoid an excessive disparity between the electorate of a constituency and the electoral quota or between the electorate of a constituency and that of neighbouring constituencies.
- (3) The electoral quota is the number obtained by dividing the total electorate by 71.
- (4) The electorate of a constituency is the aggregate of the persons falling within paragraphs (5) and (6) below.
- (5) A person falls within this paragraph if his name appears on the register of local government electors in force on the enumeration date under the Representation of the People Acts for a local government area which is situated wholly in the constituency.
- (6) A person falls within this paragraph if his name appears on the register of local government electors in force on the enumeration date under the Representation of the People Acts for a local government area which is situated partly in the constituency and his qualifying address is situated in the constituency.
- (7) The total electorate is the total number of persons whose names appear on the registers of local government electors in force on the enumeration date under the Representation of the People Acts for all of the local government areas in Scotland (except the local government areas of Orkney and Shetland).
- (8) The enumeration date is, in relation to a report of the Boundary Commission for Scotland, the date on which notice with respect to the report is published in the Edinburgh Gazette in accordance with paragraph 7(1) above.
- (9) “Qualifying address” and “local government area” have the same meanings as in the Representation of the People Act 1983 (c. 2).

Rule 3

The Boundary Commission for Scotland may depart from the strict application of Rules 1 and 2 if they think that special geographical considerations (including in particular the size, shape and accessibility of a constituency) render it desirable to do so.

Rule 4

The Boundary Commission for Scotland need not aim at giving full effect in all circumstances to Rules 1 to 3 but they must take account (so far as they reasonably can) —

- (a) of the inconveniences attendant on alterations of constituencies other than alterations made for the purposes of Rule 1, and
- (b) of any local ties which would be broken by such alterations.

The regional rules

Rule 1

A constituency must fall wholly within a region.

Rule 2

The regional electorate of a region must be as near the regional electorate of each of the other regions as is practicable, having regard (where appropriate) to special geographical considerations.

- 14 (1) This paragraph applies for the purposes of the regional rules.
- (2) For the purposes of a report of the Boundary Commission for Scotland in relation to a region, the regional electorate is the number of persons —
- (a) whose names appear on the enumeration date on the registers of local government electors in the region, and
 - (b) who are registered at addresses within a constituency included in the region.
- (3) The enumeration date is the date on which notice with respect to the report is published in the Edinburgh Gazette in accordance with paragraph 7(1) above.
- (4) Sub-paragraphs (2) and (3) also apply for the purpose of construing references to the regional electorate in relation to a report of the Boundary Commission for Scotland made for the purposes of a report as mentioned in sub-paragraph (2).

Appendix C – Constituencies and regions at the start of this review

This Appendix lists the Scottish Parliament constituencies and regions in existence at the start of this review, together with their local government electorate in 1999 (when the first elections were held to the modern Scottish Parliament), and in July 2007 (at the start of this review). Further details of these constituencies and regions appear in our Information Paper, Scottish Parliament constituencies and regions 1999-2011.

Figure C.1 lists each Scottish Parliament constituency at the start of this review in alphabetical order, together with the designation of each constituency, its local government electorate in 1999 and 2007, and the percentage difference of that electorate from the electoral quota calculated at that time. The electoral quota is described in Chapter 2.2.

Figure C.3 lists each Scottish Parliament region at the start of this review in alphabetical order, with its local government electorate in 1999 and 2007 (calculated by aggregating the constituency electorates), and the percentage difference of that electorate from the average of all regions at the time.

Figure D.1 shows the electorate (i.e. the number of local government electors on the electoral register) at July 2007 for each council area in Scotland. It also shows the theoretical entitlement to constituencies of each council area, calculated by dividing the electorate by the electoral quota (see Chapter 2.2).

Orkney Islands and Shetland Islands council areas are each entitled to 1 constituency under the legislation, as described in Chapter 2.1.

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for the council areas of Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, Angus and Moray after considering the options in Paper 2007/13. We had in mind the following considerations:
- the combined electorate of Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, Angus and Moray council areas was 491,270, giving them a theoretical entitlement to 8.97 constituencies;
 - in order to achieve acceptable electoral parity, it would be necessary to design constituencies which crossed boundaries between Aberdeenshire and each of the other council areas;
 - the north and north-eastern areas of Aberdeenshire council area largely comprise small urban, rural and farming interests which could form a coherent constituency; and
 - the electorate in Moray council area was too large for a single constituency.
5. Having recognised the need to cross council boundaries, we decided to design a constituency associating the coastal communities of Buckie, Findochty and Portknockie within Moray council area with the coastal communities in north-east Aberdeenshire council area. Secondly, we decided to combine part of Aberdeenshire council area lying to the immediate south of Aberdeen City council area with all of Aberdeen City council area to form 3 constituencies. Thirdly, we decided to design a constituency which combined the south eastern part of Aberdeenshire council area with Angus council area.

6. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.
7. We considered further the division of Aberdeen City between constituencies in Paper 2007/13A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 3 October 2007.
8. We considered further the division of Aberdeenshire between constituencies at Strichen and Boddam in Paper 2007/13B. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007.
9. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
10. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, Angus and Moray council areas which were as shown in Figure E.1.6.

11. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

12. We considered the 140 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/11. The main issues raised were:
 - suggestions that constituencies should reflect local associations and communities and not be driven by electoral parity;
 - requests that Moray council area should comprise a single constituency;
 - suggestions that the proposed division of Angus council area between 2 constituencies could be improved on, as suggested by Angus Council; and
 - suggestions of alternative names for constituencies, including the point that the names should be distinct from the names of Westminster constituencies.
13. Based on the representations received, which included objections from Aberdeen City Council, Aberdeenshire Council, Angus Council and Moray Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
14. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 22 May 2008.

Local Inquiry

15. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed Sir S S T Young QC, Sheriff Principal of Grampian, Highlands and Islands as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our proposals for Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, Angus and Moray council areas. We arranged for transcripts to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Aberdeen on 27 October 2008, and at Buckie on 3 November 2008.
16. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report on the Local Inquiry that:
 - ward 17 (North Kincardine) of Aberdeenshire council area should be combined with Aberdeen City council area to provide 3 constituencies (theoretical entitlement to 3.03 constituencies), with the configuration following that put forward by Aberdeen City Council;
 - Angus Council's alternative suggestion for the constituencies in its area should be adopted;
 - the Commission's Provisional Proposals (excluding the names) in respect of the East Aberdeenshire, West Aberdeenshire, Buchan Coast and Moray constituencies should be adopted;
 - the constituency names should be modified so that where compass points form part of the constituency name they should come at the end of the name; and
 - Buchan Coast constituency should be renamed Banffshire and Buchan Coast constituency.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

17. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/10. We agreed to accept the Assistant Commissioner's recommendations, acknowledging that the recommendations demonstrated better adherence to the statutory rules.

18. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
19. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. In addition, we decided to accept the Assistant Commissioner’s suggestions for names, and also to adopt the name Aberdeen Donside for the northern constituency within Aberdeen City council area in order to differentiate it from the Westminster constituency named Aberdeen North. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
20. We noted the review by the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland (LGBCS) of the council area boundary at Fithiebank between Angus and Dundee City council areas, as described in Chapter 2.6, in Paper 2009/13. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
21. We adopted the revised constituencies arising from paragraphs 17 and 19 as our Revised Recommendations for Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, Angus and Moray council areas.

Revised Recommendations

22. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, Angus and Moray council areas which were as shown in Figure E.1.7.

23. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Revised Recommendations, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Revised Recommendations which are available on our website.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

24. We considered the 17 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/37.
25. The issues raised in the representations included:
- a minor amendment to the boundary between Aberdeen Central and Aberdeen Donside constituencies;
 - a wish for Moray council area to be coterminous with a single constituency;
 - a change to the boundary between the Aberdeenshire East and Aberdeenshire West constituencies at Kemnay;
 - a wish for Keith to be included in the Banffshire constituency; and
 - alternative naming of constituencies.
26. In light of the representations received, we decided to make a small amendment to the boundary between the Aberdeen Central and Aberdeen Donside constituencies. We agreed that this was the only change that needed to be made to our Revised Recommendations for Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, Angus and Moray council areas.
27. We adopted these 2 revised constituencies as our Further Recommendations for Aberdeen City council area.
28. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Further Recommendations

29. On 3 September 2009 we published for consultation our Further Recommendations for Aberdeen Central and Aberdeen Donside constituencies, which were as shown in Figure E.1.8.

30. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Further Recommendations, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Further Recommendations which are available on our website.

Consideration of Further Recommendations

31. We considered the 1 representation received in response to the public consultation on our Further Recommendations in Paper 2009/44. The representation was supportive of the Further Recommendations. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 19 October 2009.
32. As a result of the LGBCS review referred to in paragraph 20, the council area boundary at Fithiebank has been amended⁴, taking effect on 1 April 2010, decreasing the electorate of Angus South constituency by 10. We have incorporated that amendment into our Final Recommendations.
32. We agreed that no other changes were required to our Further Recommendations.

Final Recommendations

33. We adopted our Further Recommendations, incorporating the minor amendment discussed in paragraph 32, as our Final Recommendations for Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, Angus and Moray council areas. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.1.1, E.1.2, E.1.3 and E.1.4.
34. Figure E.1.9 shows the electorates of the recommended constituencies relative to the electoral quota.

3. At the establishment of the modern Scottish Parliament in 1999, Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire and West Dunbartonshire council areas were divided between 5 constituencies, as shown in Figure E.2.5.

Provisional Proposals

4. At our meeting of 6 September 2007, we considered the complexities involved in providing for constituencies in West, Central and South West Scotland, which complied with the statutory rules. This large area involved the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, North Lanarkshire, Renfrewshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire, West Dunbartonshire and West Lothian. The combined area had an electorate of 1,270,250, and a theoretical entitlement to 23.21 constituencies.
5. It was clear to us that it was not possible to leave the existing arrangements unchanged, or to make minor alterations to them, because of large imbalances of electorate between the existing constituencies in the area. Substantial change was necessary.
6. We concluded that we should deal with this large area by dividing it into 2 blocks. Block 1 combined the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, Renfrewshire and West Dunbartonshire to provide for 7 constituencies. We referred to this block as West Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Block 2 combined the council areas of East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, North Lanarkshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire and West Lothian to provide for 16 constituencies. We referred to this block as South West and Central Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.
7. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for Argyll and Bute and West Dunbartonshire council areas, as part of our Provisional Proposals for West Scotland, after considering the options in Paper 2007/15. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for East Dunbartonshire council area, as part of our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland, after considering the options in Paper 2007/16, and in Paper 2007/16A.

8. We recognised that the proposal to cross the River Clyde at Erskine was a departure from previous arrangements and might raise some concerns. Accordingly, we closely reviewed the alternative which involved combining part of West Dunbartonshire council area with part of East Dunbartonshire council area and consequential changes elsewhere. We agreed that this was demonstrably less attractive in terms of meeting the demands for equitable electorates, and that the geography and distribution of electorates was such that there would be a division of communities at the interface between East Dunbartonshire and West Dunbartonshire council areas.
9. We agreed that the proposals, which saw a single constituency cross the River Clyde to bring together all of the built-up area of Clydebank with Renfrew, Erskine and Bishopton, were better constructed in terms of the electoral quota and offered strong, easily identifiable boundaries.
10. Our discussion and conclusions concerning all 3 council areas are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 3 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
11. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
12. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire, and West Dunbartonshire council areas. These were contained in our Provisional Proposals for West Scotland (which included Argyll and Bute, and West Dunbartonshire council areas) and our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland (which included East Dunbartonshire council area). The Provisional Proposals were as shown in Figure E.2.6.

13. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

14. We considered the 1,600 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals for West Scotland, of which some 430 related directly to Argyll and Bute and West Dunbartonshire council areas, in Paper 2008/14. We also considered the 1,290 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland, of which some 50 related directly to East Dunbartonshire council area, in Paper 2008/15. The main issues raised relating to Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire and West Dunbartonshire council areas were:
 - opposition to a constituency that crosses the River Clyde;
 - whether individual council areas should comprise constituencies; and
 - whether all of Clydebank should be in a single constituency.
15. Based on the representations received in response to our Provisional Proposals for the area of West Scotland, which included objections from Argyll and Bute Council, East Renfrewshire Council, Renfrewshire Council, and West Dunbartonshire Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry covering those council areas should be held.
16. Based on the representations received in response to our Provisional Proposals for the area of South West and Central Scotland, which included objections from East Ayrshire Council, North Lanarkshire Council, South Lanarkshire Council and West Lothian Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held covering those council areas. East Dunbartonshire Council was generally satisfied with our Provisional Proposals. As East Dunbartonshire Council did not object to our Provisional Proposals and fewer than 100 representations were received from electors residing in the proposed Milngavie and Bishopbriggs constituency, we agreed that the Milngavie and Bishopbriggs constituency would not be included in the scope of the inquiry.
17. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 16 June 2008.

Local Inquiries

18. There were 2 Local Inquiries which had part of this area in their scope: those for West Scotland, and for South West and Central Scotland.
19. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Kerr QC, Sheriff Principal of North Strathclyde, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our proposals for West Scotland. We arranged for transcripts to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Paisley on 26 August, 27 August and 28 August 2008 and Clydebank on 1 September and 2 September 2008.
20. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Lockhart, Sheriff Principal of South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into 15 out of 16 of our proposed constituencies for South West and Central Scotland. We arranged for transcripts to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Airdrie on 23 September and 24 September 2008, Ayr on 26 September and 29 September 2008, and Lanark on 30 September and 1 October 2008.

21. The Assistant Commissioner reach the following conclusions in his report on the Local Inquiry on West Scotland that related to Argyll and Bute and West Dunbartonshire council areas:
- there should be no constituency created which spans the River Clyde and has the effect of dividing the central part of the town of Clydebank from the remainder;
 - wards 9-11 of Argyll and Bute Council should not be separated from one another and instead be kept together in a single constituency; and
 - the existing Argyll and Bute constituency, Dumbarton constituency and Clydebank and Milngavie constituency should continue in their present forms with only a single alteration, namely that all of East Dunbartonshire ward 2 (Bearsden North) should be included in the Clydebank and Milngavie constituency.
22. The Assistant Commissioner made a number of recommendations in his report on the Local Inquiry on South West and Central Scotland which directly or indirectly related to East Dunbartonshire council area:
- the Commission should revisit its plans for the proposed constituency of Lanark, Shotts and Whitburn with a view to keeping intact the boundary between Lanarkshire and West Lothian;
 - in light of evidence that points essentially to the status quo, the Commission should consider allowing the existing constituencies of Airdrie and Shotts, Coatbridge and Chryston, and Cumbernauld and Kilsyth to remain largely unaltered; and
 - the Commission should revisit its proposals for a Clydesdale and Cumnock cross-council constituency and consider alternative arrangements that respect the boundary between Ayrshire and Lanarkshire.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

23. We considered the Assistant Commissioners' Reports and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/03. We gave further consideration to these matters while considering Paper 2009/03A.
24. We noted that the combined electorate of Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire and West Dunbartonshire council areas was 216,230, giving a theoretical entitlement to 3.95 constituencies.
25. We examined revised constituency proposals prepared by our Secretariat, based on the recommendations of both Assistant Commissioners and the representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals. We looked favourably on the proposed revised constituencies of Argyll and Bute; Clydebank, Milngavie and Bearsden; Dumbarton; and Strathkelvin, exactly covering the combined council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire, and West Dunbartonshire. These revisions to our Provisional Proposals met the conclusions of both Assistant Commissioners, complied with the statutory rules and did not require the configuration of a constituency spanning the River Clyde.

26. We noted that, although the Milngavie and Bishopbriggs constituency had not fallen within the scope of either Local Inquiry, it was not possible to act on the Assistant Commissioners' conclusions without altering the configuration of this constituency. We agreed that this consequence was justified in order to enable improved arrangements over the wider area.
27. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009 and the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
28. We reviewed the constituency names in the light of our revised approach described in Chapter 2.5, and decided that no changes were required as a result of that revised approach. However, we decided to recommend the names Clydebank and Milngavie constituency and Strathkelvin and Bearsden constituency since these names were already in use for similar Scottish Parliament constituencies. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
29. We adopted the 4 revised constituencies arising from paragraphs 25, 26, and 28 as our Revised Recommendations for Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire, and West Dunbartonshire council areas.

Revised Recommendations

30. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire, and West Dunbartonshire council areas. Apart from the constituency of Argyll and Bute, which we recommended in the Revised Recommendations should be called Argyllshire and Bute, our Revised Recommendations were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.2.1, E.2.2, E.2.3 and E.2.4.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

31. We considered the 12 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/31.
32. Among the representations, Argyll and Bute Council, West Dunbartonshire Council, the Scottish Labour Party, the Scottish Liberal Democrats, the Scottish Conservatives, and 2 members of the public supported our Revised Recommendations.
33. Argyll and Bute Council and a member of the public suggested that Argyllshire and Bute constituency be renamed Argyll and Bute.
34. Jo Swinson MP (East Dunbartonshire) and East Dunbartonshire and Clydebank Liberal Democrats opposed the Revised Recommendations, preferring our Provisional Proposals.
35. In light of the representations received, we decided to use the name Argyll and Bute for a constituency, even though its extent differs from the Westminster constituency and the council area of that name.

36. We agreed that this was the only required change to our Revised Recommendations for Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire, and West Dunbartonshire council areas.
37. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Further Recommendations

38. On 3 September 2009 we published for consultation our Further Recommendations for the revised constituency named Argyll and Bute, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.2.1, E.2.2, E.2.3 and E.2.4.

Consideration of Further Recommendations

39. We considered the response to the public consultation on our Further Recommendations in Paper 2009/45. No representations were received. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 19 October 2009.
40. We agreed that no changes were required to our Further Recommendations.

Final Recommendations

41. We adopted our Further Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire and West Dunbartonshire council areas. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.2.1, E.2.2, E.2.3 and E.2.4.
42. Figure E.2.7 shows the electorates of the recommended constituencies relative to the electoral quota.

Total			111,730	110,670

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for Clackmannanshire and Stirling council areas after considering the options in Paper 2007/14. We had in mind the following considerations:
- Clackmannanshire council area, with a theoretical entitlement to 0.67 constituencies, required to be combined with other council areas in order that acceptable constituencies, throughout the whole of Scotland, could be configured within the terms of the statutory rules;
 - the electorate of the combined Clackmannanshire and Stirling council areas was 101,950, giving a theoretical entitlement to 1.86 constituencies;
 - two constituencies could be configured covering the combined council areas of Clackmannanshire and Stirling, complying with the statutory rules and requiring only 1 council area boundary to be crossed;
 - there appeared to be no added benefit to the wider design of constituencies in retaining the existing arrangements which resulted in boundaries between 3 council areas being crossed;
 - the neighbouring council areas of Highland, Perth and Kinross, Fife and Falkirk had theoretical entitlements to justify whole numbers of constituencies exactly covering their respective council areas without the need to combine them with other council areas; and
 - it was not practicable in terms of geographical considerations to combine either or both council areas with Argyll and Bute, East Dunbartonshire, North Lanarkshire or West Dunbartonshire council areas.
5. Our preferred configuration combined an area of Stirling Council ward 1 (Trossachs and Teith) between the River Forth and the council area boundary, Stirling Council ward 3 (Dunblane and Bridge of Allan) and all of Clackmannanshire council area to create one constituency, and combined Stirling Council wards 2, 4, 5, 6 and 7 with the remainder of Stirling Council ward 1 to create a second constituency.

6. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.
7. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
8. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for the combined Clackmannanshire and Stirling council areas which were as shown in Figure E.3.5.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	Electorate
Clackmannanshire and Dunblane	Clackmannanshire Stirling	County	51,000
Stirling	Stirling	County	50,950
Total			101,950

9. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

10. We considered the 340 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/05. The main issues raised were:
 - Stirling Council suggested that all of ward 1 (Trossachs and Teith) should be included in the proposed Stirling constituency; and
 - objections in almost all representations to the proposed arrangements in respect of the Doune, Deanston, Dunblane and Bridge of Allan areas.
11. We noted Stirling Council's representation. Clackmannanshire Council made no comment. Based on the representations received, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
12. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 4 April 2008.

Local Inquiry

13. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed R A Dunlop QC, Sheriff Principal of Tayside, Central and Fife, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our proposals for the combined council areas of Clackmannanshire and Stirling. We arranged for a transcript to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Stirling on 11 November 2008.
14. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report of the Local Inquiry that:

- the logic in combining the two council areas to form constituencies is hard to fault;
- constituencies that are coterminous with local administrative boundaries in this area would offend against Rule 2 of the statutory rules;
- the placement of Doune, Deanston and Dunblane and the question of local ties provided the greatest focus of attention at the inquiry;
- Doune and Deanston, while having local ties with Dunblane, primarily look west to Callander in this regard and, therefore, Stirling Council's alternative suggestion merits further consideration;
- there is little to distinguish between the alternatives of associating Stirling Council ward 3 (Dunblane and Bridge of Allan) with Clackmannanshire council area to configure a constituency and a constituency associating Stirling Council ward 7 (Bannockburn) with Clackmannanshire council area; and
- the former alternative is supported by Stirling Council and produces a constituency with an electorate that is closer to the electoral quota.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

15. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/07.
16. We noted the conclusions of the Assistant Commissioner and agreed on the benefits of adopting Stirling Council's alternative suggestion which placed all of Stirling Council ward 1 (Trossachs and Teith) within our proposed Stirling constituency. We also agreed that the impact of Stirling Council's suggested amendment, in terms of divergence from the electoral quota, was acceptable. We concluded, therefore, that our Provisional Proposals should be amended to take account of Stirling Council's suggested change to form our Revised Recommendations.
17. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009.
18. We reviewed the constituency names in the light of our revised approach described in Chapter 2.5, and decided that no changes were required as a result of that revised approach.
19. We adopted the 2 revised constituencies arising from paragraph 16 as our Revised Recommendations for Clackmannanshire and Stirling council areas.

Revised Recommendations

20. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies for Clackmannanshire and Stirling council areas, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.3.1, E.3.2 and E.3.3.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

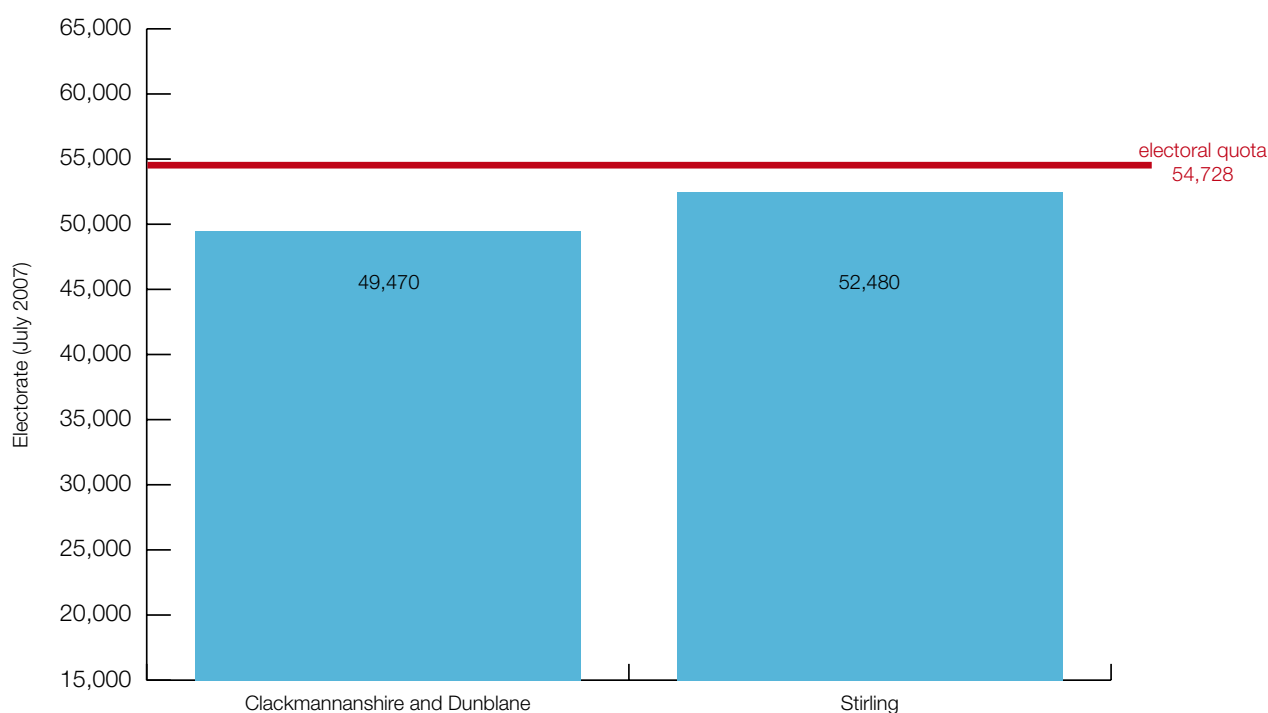

21. We considered the 21 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/23.

22. The representations included 4 from the headquarters of political parties. No representations were received from Clackmannanshire Council or Stirling Council. The representations raised a number of issues including:
- objection to the removal of Dunblane from a Stirling constituency; and
 - suggestions for alternative constituency names.
23. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
24. Our discussions and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

25. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for Clackmannanshire and Stirling council areas. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.3.1, E.3.2 and E.3.3.
26. Figure E.3.6 shows the electorates of the recommended constituencies relative to the electoral quota.

Constituencies at the start of this review

3. At the establishment of the modern Scottish Parliament in 1999, Dumfries and Galloway council area was divided between 2 constituencies, as shown in Figure E.4.4.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	1999 electorate	July 2007 electorate

Galloway and Upper Nithsdale	Dumfries and Galloway	County	53,490	52,860
Total			117,120	115,800

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for Dumfries and Galloway council area after considering the options in Paper 2007/04. We had in mind the following considerations:
- the July 2007 electorate of Dumfries and Galloway council area was 115,800, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 2.12 constituencies;
 - there appeared to be no added benefit in combining the council area with neighbouring council areas for the purpose of creating constituencies that would comply more closely with the statutory rules; and
 - the imbalance of electors within the existing constituencies was of a magnitude that required to be addressed.
5. We concluded that Dumfries and Galloway council area should be divided into 2 constituencies exactly covering the council area. We noted that dividing Dumfries along the River Nith provided a well-defined boundary, whilst maintaining an acceptable balance of electorate between constituencies. Thus, we decided that wards 1 to 7 should form the western constituency and wards 8 to 13 should form the eastern constituency.
6. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 11 June 2007.
7. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
8. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for Dumfries and Galloway council area, which were as shown in Figure E.4.5.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	Electorate
East Dumfriesshire	Dumfries and Galloway	County	59,100
West Dumfriesshire and Galloway	Dumfries and Galloway	County	56,700
Total			115,800

9. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

10. We considered the 370 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/06. The main issues raised were:

- support for 2 constituencies within Dumfries and Galloway council area;
- opposition to the division of Dumfries, using the River Nith as a boundary or otherwise;
- 3 suggestions for alternative boundaries;
- support for maintenance of the status quo; and
- suggestions for alternative constituency names.

11. We noted that Dumfries and Galloway Council were supportive of our Provisional Proposals apart from a suggested change to the proposed constituency names. Based on the number of representations received, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.

12. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 4 April 2008.

Local Inquiry

13. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Lockhart, Sheriff Principal of South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our proposals for Dumfries and Galloway council area. We arranged for transcripts to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Dumfries on 21 October and 22 October 2008.

14. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report on the Local Inquiry that:

- it was significant that council area boundaries had been respected;
- the Commission's proposals for constituencies in the Dumfries and Galloway council area comply with the statutory rules and produce a more balanced distribution of electors between the 2 proposed constituencies than occurs in the existing constituencies;
- the Commission was entitled to take the view that the imbalance in the existing constituencies was of a magnitude that needed to be addressed;
- regarding an alternative suggestion put forward at the Local Inquiry to place all of Dumfries except Troqueer and Cargenbridge in a single constituency, there would be a very substantial imbalance between the constituencies, and only a small section of the electorate in the town of

Dumfries would be excluded from the constituency containing Dumfries, and that thus it is an unacceptable arrangement; and

- if the town of Dumfries is to be divided, it should be in a way which places significant sections of the town in both constituencies.
15. The Assistant Commissioner made no comment regarding constituency names in his report, other than to note Dumfries and Galloway Council's suggestion that the constituencies be renamed Dumfriesshire constituency and Galloway and West Dumfries constituency.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

16. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/09.
17. In light of the representations received and the conclusions of the Assistant Commissioner's report, we decided to adopt the boundaries of our Provisional Proposals as the boundaries for our Revised Recommendations.
18. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
19. We agreed to adopt the alternative constituency names proposed by Dumfries and Galloway Council of Dumfriesshire constituency and Galloway and West Dumfries constituency.
20. We adopted the constituencies from our Provisional Proposals with unchanged boundaries and amended names as our Revised Recommendations for Dumfries and Galloway council area.

Revised Recommendations

21. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Dumfries and Galloway council area, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.4.1, E.4.2 and E.4.3.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

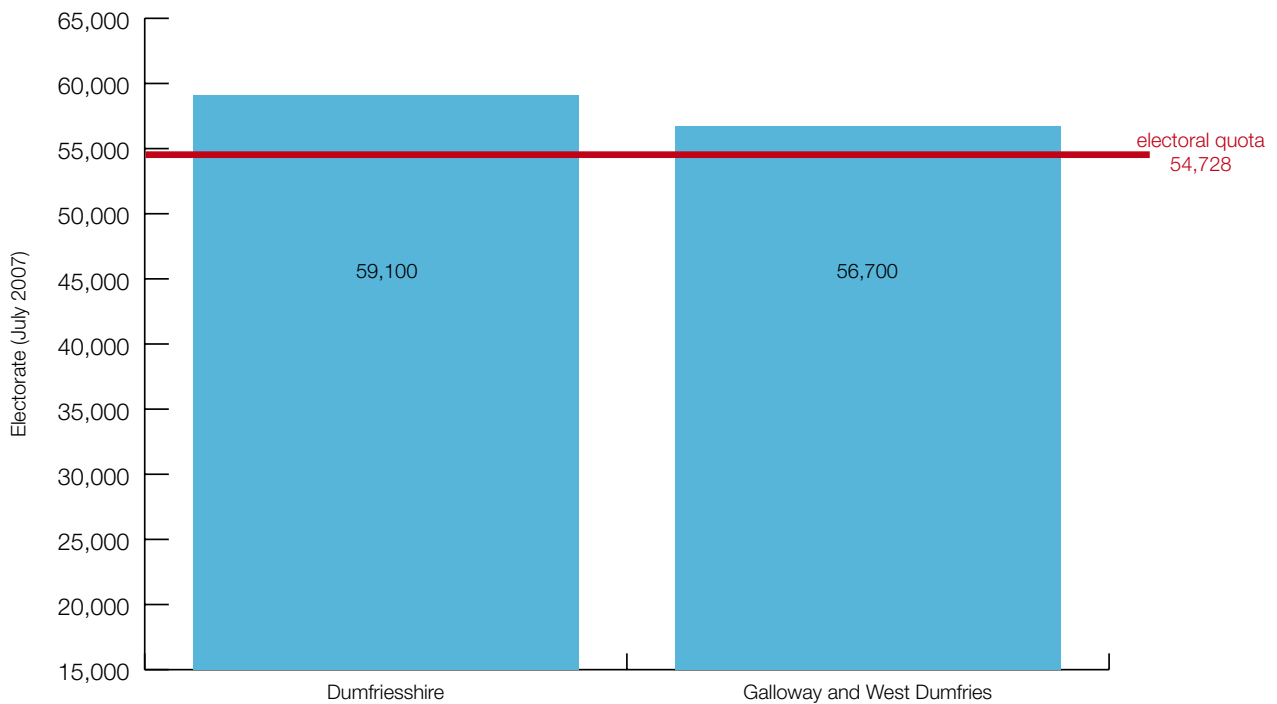

22. We considered the 8 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/32.
23. Of these, Dumfries and Galloway Council, the Scottish Liberal Democrats and the Scottish Conservatives supported our Revised Recommendations. The Scottish Labour Party and 2 other respondents objected to the recommendations, primarily because of the division of Dumfries. Two of the representations suggested alternative names for the constituencies. The Scottish National Party made no comment.

24. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
25. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

26. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for Dumfries and Galloway council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.4.1, E.4.2 and E.4.3.
27. Figure E.4.6 shows the electorates of the recommended constituencies relative to the electoral quota.

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for Dundee City council area after considering the options in Paper 2007/11 and in Paper 2007/11A. In forming our Provisional Proposals we had in mind the following considerations:
- the July 2007 electorate of Dundee City council area was 105,150, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 1.92 constituencies;
 - there was no added benefit in combining Dundee City council area with other neighbouring council areas for the purpose of creating constituencies that would comply more closely with the statutory rules;
 - it was possible to design 2 constituencies exactly covering Dundee City council area which satisfied the statutory rules; and
 - it would be desirable to reduce the electoral imbalance that currently exists between the constituencies in the city.
5. Having considered the wider area, we concluded that Dundee City council area should be divided into 2 constituencies that exactly covered the extent of the council area. We were aware that this approach would necessitate changes to the existing constituency boundaries in order to incorporate 3 areas currently in Angus constituency, and could provide an opportunity to address the electoral imbalance that exists between the constituencies in the city.
6. In examining different options, we noted that it was not possible to construct 2 constituencies which would satisfy the statutory rules and fully respect local government ward boundaries. Neither was it possible to use the current Westminster constituency boundary to produce two constituencies that satisfied the statutory rules.
7. We concluded that a configuration based on the existing constituency boundary, amended to follow the A90 in the north of the council area, produced an acceptable solution in terms of the statutory rules. We adopted this arrangement as our Provisional Proposals.

8. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 10 August 2007.
9. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
10. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for Dundee City council area which were as shown in Figure E.5.5.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	Electorate
East Dundee	Dundee City	Burgh	53,540

Total			105,150

11. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

12. We considered the 4 representations received concerning the boundaries of constituencies in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/22. The representations were supportive of our proposals, and were from Dundee City Council, the Scottish Conservatives, the Scottish Labour Party and the Scottish Liberal Democrats.
13. Based on the representations received, we agreed that there was no requirement to hold a Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

14. In light of the representations received, we agreed to adopt the boundaries of the 2 constituencies proposed under our Provisional Proposals, without amendment.
15. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 October 2008.
16. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. We agreed that differentiation from the Westminster constituency names was desirable, and noted that since our proposed constituencies exactly covered Dundee City council area, there was an elegant solution for the constituency names. We decided to revise the names of the proposed constituencies to Dundee City East and Dundee City West. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.

17. We noted the review by the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland (LGBCS) of the council area boundary at Fithiebank between Angus and Dundee City council areas, as described in Chapter 2.6, in Paper 2009/13. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
18. We adopted the 2 constituencies from our Provisional Proposals with unchanged boundaries and amended names as our Revised Recommendations for Dundee City council area.

Revised Recommendations

19. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Dundee City council area, which were as shown in Figure E.5.6.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

21. We considered the 5 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/20.
22. Among the representations, Dundee City Council, the Scottish Conservatives and the Scottish Liberal Democrats supported our Revised Recommendations. The Scottish Labour Party and Scottish National Party made no comment in respect of the arrangements for this council area.
23. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
24. As a result of the LGBCS review referred to in paragraph 17, the council area boundary at Fithiebank has been amended², taking effect on 1 April 2010, increasing the electorate of Dundee City East constituency by 10. We have incorporated that amendment into our Final Recommendations.
25. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Provisional Proposals

4. At our meeting of 6 September 2007, we considered the complexities involved in providing for constituencies in West, Central and South West Scotland, which complied with the statutory rules. This large area involved the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, North Lanarkshire, Renfrewshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire, West Dunbartonshire and West Lothian. The combined area had an electorate of 1,270,250, and a theoretical entitlement to 23.21 constituencies.
5. It was clear to us that it was not possible to leave the existing arrangements unchanged, or to make minor alterations to them, because of large imbalances of electorate between the existing constituencies in the area. Substantial change was necessary.
6. We concluded that we should deal with this large area by dividing it into 2 blocks. Block 1 combined the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, Renfrewshire and West Dunbartonshire to provide for 7 constituencies. We referred to this block as West Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Block 2 combined the council areas of East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, North Lanarkshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire and West Lothian to provide for 16 constituencies. We referred to this block as South West and Central Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.
7. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas, as part of our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland, after considering the options in Paper 2007/16 and in Paper 2007/16A. We had in mind the following considerations:

- the issues that would be raised by forming a large rural constituency covering parts of East Ayrshire and South Lanarkshire council areas and a substantial tract of the current Clydesdale constituency; and
 - the desirability of keeping towns in single constituencies when practicable.
8. We decided that a constituency combining rural areas around Cumnock in East Ayrshire with rural areas of South Lanarkshire was possible, with good road communications provided east to west by the A70 and A71.
 9. We concluded that it was necessary to divide the town of Ayr between 2 constituencies in order to design constituencies that conformed to the statutory rules, but that it was possible to keep the town of Kilmarnock within 1 constituency.
 10. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 3 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
 11. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
 12. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas. These were contained in our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland. The Provisional Proposals were as shown in Figure E.6.5.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	Electorate
Cumnock and Clydesdale	East Ayrshire South Lanarkshire	County	51,630
Kilmarnock	East Ayrshire	County	51,280
North Ayr and Troon	East Ayrshire South Ayrshire	County	53,610
South Ayr, Carrick and Doon Valley	East Ayrshire South Ayrshire	County	52,260
Total			208,780

13. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

14. We considered the 1,290 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland, of which some 490 related to East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas, in Paper 2008/15. The main issues raised relating to East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas were:
- whether constituencies should avoid crossing the boundary between Ayrshire and Lanarkshire, even if doing so would mean that the resulting constituencies are above the electoral quota;
 - whether the existing Kilmarnock and Loudoun constituency should be retained;
 - whether the creation of the proposed Cumnock and Clydesdale constituency would have a negative impact on the Ayrshire communities in that constituency; and
 - whether the council areas of East Ayrshire, North Ayrshire and South Ayrshire should be covered exactly by 5 constituencies.
15. Based on the representations received in response to our Provisional Proposals for the area of South West and Central Scotland, which included objections from East Ayrshire Council, North Lanarkshire Council, South Lanarkshire Council and West Lothian Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
16. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 16 June 2008.

Local Inquiry

17. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Lockhart, Sheriff Principal of South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into 15 out of 16 of our proposed constituencies for South West and Central Scotland. We arranged for transcripts to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Airdrie on 23 September and 24 September 2008, Ayr on 26 September and 29 September 2008, and Lanark on 30 September and 1 October 2008.
18. The Assistant Commissioner made a number of recommendations in his report on the Local Inquiry. In relation to East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas, he recommended that the Commission should revisit its proposals for a Clydesdale and Cumnock cross-council constituency and consider alternative arrangements that respected the boundary between South Lanarkshire and East Ayrshire.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

19. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/03. We gave further consideration to these matters while considering Paper 2009/03A.

20. We noted that the combined electorate of East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas was 181,900, giving a theoretical entitlement to 3.32 constituencies. We also noted that our Provisional Proposals had included 2 constituencies covering North Ayrshire council area. Those proposals had attracted very few representations, and those representations had generally been in support.
21. We considered a design for 3 constituencies exactly covering East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas with electorates that were 8.9%, 11.6% and 11.9% above the electoral quota. We were concerned that such electorates in these rural areas were relatively high when compared to proposed constituencies in other parts of Scotland.
22. We also considered a design for 10 constituencies covering the three Ayrshire council areas together with East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas. We found that it was possible to produce a design which achieved good electoral parity, but only at the expense of the other statutory rules. The design did not accord with the boundaries of council areas or the maintenance of local ties. Out of the 10 constituencies for the combined East Ayrshire, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, North Ayrshire, Renfrewshire and South Ayrshire council areas, the design required 2 constituencies which included parts of 3 council areas and 2 constituencies which included parts of 2 council areas.
23. Having considered both designs, we concluded that the design comprising 3 constituencies exactly covering East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas provided better conformance with the statutory rules.
24. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009 and the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
25. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and decided on the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. We decided on the constituency name of Kilmarnock and Irvine Valley since it provided an acceptable description of the area covered by the constituency, and had the advantage of being different from the name of its Westminster counterpart (Kilmarnock and Loudoun) which had a different extent. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
26. We adopted the 3 constituencies arising from paragraphs 23 and 25 as our Revised Recommendations for East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas.

Revised Recommendations

27. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire council areas, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.6.1, E.6.2 and E.6.3.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

28. We considered the 10 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/27.
29. The representations were generally supportive of the Revised Recommendations, and included support from East Ayrshire Council and the main political parties. South Ayrshire Council did not make a representation.
30. Some of the representations suggested amending the name of Kilmarnock and Irvine Valley constituency to Kilmarnock and Loudoun.
31. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
32. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for East Lothian, Midlothian and Scottish Borders council areas after considering the options in Paper 2007/12.
5. We noted that the combined electorate of East Lothian, Midlothian and Scottish Borders council areas was 223,580, giving a theoretical entitlement to 4.09 constituencies.
6. Among the options were several which designed a single constituency exactly covering Midlothian council area. We concluded that this would result in a constituency which deviated from the electoral quota by 13 per cent, and that such a deviation could not be justified in this case where links to adjacent council areas were possible.
7. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for East Lothian, Midlothian and Scottish Borders council areas which comprised:
- a constituency comprising part of Midlothian council area and part of East Lothian council area at Musselburgh;
 - a constituency comprising the rest of Midlothian council area, which included Penicuik, Newtongrange and Gorebridge, with part of Scottish Borders council area that included Galashiels, Lauder and Peebles;
 - a constituency containing the remaining, larger, part of East Lothian council area which related closely to the former area of Haddingtonshire; and
 - a constituency which closely reflected the former counties of Berwickshire, Roxburghshire and Selkirkshire within Scottish Borders council area.
8. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.

9. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
10. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for East Lothian, Midlothian and Scottish Borders council areas which were as shown in Figure E.7.5.

Total			223,580

11. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

12. We considered the 480 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/13. The main issues raised were:
 - objections to any part of Midlothian council area being combined in a constituency with any part of Scottish Borders council area;
 - suggestions for the configuration of constituencies covering Scottish Borders council area;
 - whether Midlothian council area should comprise a single constituency; and
 - suggestions for the name of the constituency covering most of East Lothian council area.
13. Based on the representations received, which included objections from East Lothian Council, Midlothian Council and Scottish Borders Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
14. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 22 May 2008.

Local Inquiry

15. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed E F Bowen QC, Sheriff Principal of Lothian and Borders, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our proposals for East Lothian, Midlothian and Scottish Borders council areas. We arranged for transcripts to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Loanhead on 7 October 2008, Peebles on 14 October 2008, and Musselburgh on 16 October 2008.

16. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report on the Local Inquiry that:
- we should revisit the possibility of creating a single constituency exactly covering Midlothian council area;
 - a constituency should be formed combining the two eastern coastal wards of East Lothian council area with the north-eastern part of Scottish Borders council area; and
 - the constituency name East Lothian should be used in place of Haddington.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

17. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/29 and in Paper 2009/01.
18. We had concerns about adopting a constituency which included the whole of Midlothian council area, and which would result in an electorate of 61,680 (13% above the electoral quota). Looking at the national picture, such a constituency could only be countenanced where there were exceptional circumstances. From the evidence that had been submitted, we agreed that such circumstances had not been established. Furthermore, we concluded that the Assistant Commissioner's suggestion which would combine part of East Lothian council area including North Berwick, Gullane and Aberlady with part of Scottish Borders council area was no more likely to reflect local links than the Provisional Proposals which combined parts of Midlothian council area, including Newtongrange and Gorebridge, with Scottish Borders council area. We also examined alternatives which took account of the Assistant Commissioner's recommendations to differing degrees.
19. We concluded that none of the alternatives improved upon the Provisional Proposals.
20. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 1 December 2008 and the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009.
21. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. We accepted the Assistant Commissioner's recommended change of constituency name from Haddington to East Lothian. In addition, we concluded that our proposed name of Roxburgh, Selkirk and Berwickshire was insufficiently distinct from the Westminster constituency covering a different, but overlapping, area, and adopted the alternative name of Ettrick, Roxburgh and Berwickshire. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
22. We adopted the 4 constituencies from our Provisional Proposals with unchanged boundaries and amended names as our Revised Recommendations for East Lothian, Midlothian and Scottish Borders council areas.

Revised Recommendations

23. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for East Lothian, Midlothian and Scottish Borders council areas, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.7.1, E.7.2 and E.7.3.

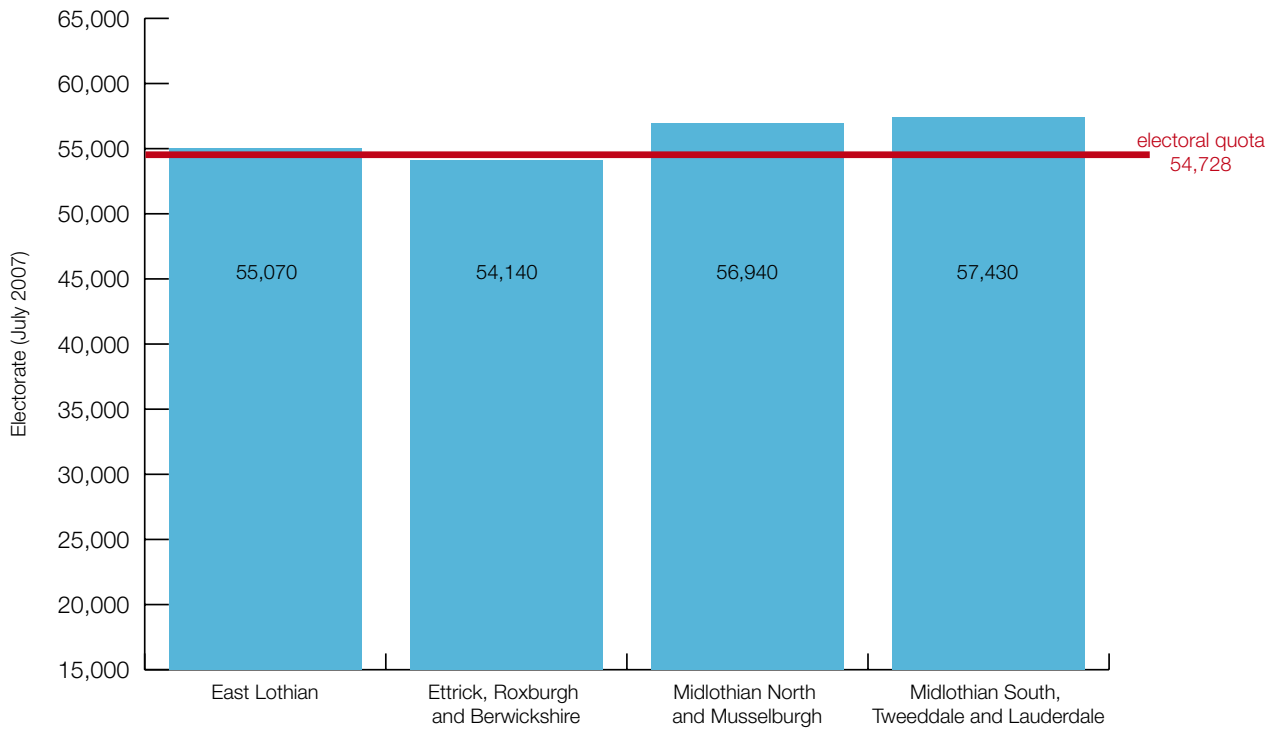

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

24. We considered the 12 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/29.
25. The representations from East Lothian Council and an MSP supported our Revised Recommendations.
26. The majority of the representations supported the Assistant Commissioner's recommendations, and reiterated the arguments in favour of them.
27. Taking account of all the evidence, we confirmed that a constituency exactly covering Midlothian council area produced an unacceptably high electorate and that combining part of East Lothian council area with parts of Scottish Borders council area was no more likely to reflect local links than the Revised Recommendations which combined parts of Midlothian council area with parts of Scottish Borders council area.
28. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
29. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

30. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for East Lothian, Midlothian and Scottish Borders council areas. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.7.1, E.7.2 and E.7.3.
31. Figure E.7.6 shows the electorates of the recommended constituencies relative to the electoral quota.

At the start of this review, as a result of a minor amendment to council area boundaries², these council areas were divided between 6 constituencies, as shown in Figure E.8.4.

Provisional Proposals

4. At our meeting of 6 September 2007, we considered the complexities involved in providing for constituencies in West, Central and South West Scotland, which complied with the statutory rules. This large area involved the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, North Lanarkshire, Renfrewshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire, West Dunbartonshire and West Lothian. The combined area had an electorate of 1,270,250, and a theoretical entitlement to 23.21 constituencies.
5. It was clear to us that it was not possible to leave the existing arrangements unchanged, or to make minor alterations to them, because of large imbalances of electorate between the existing constituencies in the area. Substantial change was necessary.
6. We concluded that we should deal with this large area by dividing it into 2 blocks. Block 1 combined the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, Renfrewshire and West Dunbartonshire to provide for 7 constituencies. We referred to this block as West Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Block 2 combined the council areas of East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, North Lanarkshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire and West Lothian to provide for 16 constituencies. We referred to this block as South West and Central Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.

² In 2002, a minor amendment to the council area boundary between Glasgow City and Renfrewshire council areas resulted in a small part of Glasgow Govan constituency (which was previously in Glasgow City council area) being in Renfrewshire council area.

7. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas, as part of our Provisional Proposals for West Scotland, after considering the options in Paper 2007/15.
8. We recognised that the proposal to cross the River Clyde at Erskine was a departure from previous arrangements and might raise some concerns. Accordingly, we closely reviewed the alternatives which involved combining part of West Dunbartonshire council area with part of East Dunbartonshire council area and consequential changes elsewhere. We agreed that this was demonstrably less attractive in terms of meeting the demands for equitable electorates, and that the geography and distribution of electorates was such that there would be a division of communities at the interface between East Dunbartonshire and West Dunbartonshire council areas.
9. We noted that revised constituencies contained wholly within each council area gave rise to significant under-representation. However, combining these council areas and providing for a constituency that linked part of Renfrewshire with West Dunbartonshire allowed for many difficulties to be resolved.
10. We agreed that the proposals, which saw a single constituency cross the River Clyde to bring together Clydebank with Renfrew, Erskine and Bishopton, were better constructed in terms of the electoral quota and offered strong, easily identifiable boundaries.
11. We noted also that no link between East Renfrewshire council area and South Lanarkshire council area could be established because of the distribution of electorate in South Lanarkshire. The two communities of Rutherglen and East Kilbride are both dense urban areas which display strong, tightly-defined boundaries, and we concluded that if practicable we should avoid splitting either of them.
12. Similarly, the geography and distribution of electorate to the south of East Renfrewshire and in the north of East Ayrshire precluded the possibility of establishing a constituency which straddled the council area boundaries in that vicinity. Further, the position of Glasgow City council area, which had a theoretical entitlement to 8 constituencies exactly covering its area, offered no scope for absorbing electorates from the adjoining Renfrewshire or East Renfrewshire council areas without having a significantly detrimental impact on the design of constituencies within its area.
13. We noted that, whilst using the M8 as a boundary in the contiguous built-up area of Renfrew and Paisley provided for a strong boundary, it might give rise to views that the town of Paisley was unnecessarily divided at this point. We explored the potential for having a single Paisley constituency. It was evident that none of the alternatives offered a solution which provided for suitable electorates or appropriate constituency geography when designing constituencies across the wider area.
14. We agreed that it was necessary to combine Barrhead with part of Paisley and that the constituency proposed provided for a suitable geography and an appropriate electorate. With regard to an alternative that combined the eastern extent of Inverclyde Council with the largely rural western extent of Renfrewshire council area through Johnstone and Linwood into Paisley town centre, we agreed that swapping Paisley town centre and the Glenburn area between the two proposed constituencies covering Paisley offered no improvement in terms of the balance of electorates and, further, it removed the link that the more rural areas undoubtedly had with Paisley town centre.

15. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 3 October 2007.
16. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
17. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas. These were contained in our Provisional Proposals for West Scotland. The Provisional Proposals were as shown in Figure E.8.5.

18. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

19. We considered the 1,600 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals for West Scotland, of which some 1,480 related to East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas, in Paper 2008/14. The main issues raised relating to East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas were:
 - opposition to a constituency that crosses the River Clyde;
 - requests for the areas of East Renfrewshire council area, East Renfrewshire constituency (Westminster) and the proposed East Renfrewshire constituency (Scottish Parliament) to be coterminous;
 - suggestions for an alternative configuration of 5 constituencies exactly covering the combined council areas of East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire;

- suggestion for an alternative configuration that would combine these council areas with East Ayrshire, North Ayrshire and South Ayrshire to create 10 constituencies;
 - support for the existing arrangements to be retained;
 - over 400 objections to the removal of Barrhead from the existing Eastwood constituency; and
 - support for the proposals.
20. Based on the representations received in response to our Provisional Proposals for the area of West Scotland, which included objections from Argyll and Bute Council, East Renfrewshire Council, Renfrewshire Council, and West Dunbartonshire Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held. Inverclyde Council was generally satisfied with our Provisional Proposals. As Inverclyde Council did not object to our Provisional Proposals and fewer than 100 representations were received from electors residing in the proposed Greenock and Inverclyde constituency, we agreed that the Greenock and Inverclyde constituency would not be included in the scope of the inquiry.
21. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 16 June 2008.

Local Inquiry

22. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Kerr QC, Sheriff Principal of North Strathclyde, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our proposals for West Scotland. We arranged for transcripts to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Paisley on 26 August, 27 August and 28 August 2008 and Clydebank on 1 September and 2 September 2008.
23. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report on the Local Inquiry that:
- there should be no constituency created which spans the River Clyde and has the effect of dividing the central part of the town of Clydebank from the remainder;
 - on the south side of the River Clyde no attempt should be made to form constituencies spanning the boundary between the old larger Renfrewshire and Ayrshire (i.e. constituencies embracing parts of East, North or South Ayrshire council areas together with parts of East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde or Renfrewshire council areas);
 - on the south side of the River Clyde the following five constituencies within East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas should be formed:
 - a county constituency to be named Greenock and Inverclyde constituency consisting of wards 1 (part) and 2 to 6 of Inverclyde Council (56,350 electors);
 - a burgh constituency to be named Paisley constituency consisting of wards 2 (part), 3, 4 (part), 5 and 6 of Renfrewshire Council (55,118 electors);
 - a county constituency to be named North and West Renfrewshire constituency consisting of wards 1, 2 (part), 4 (part), 9 (part), 10 and 11 of Renfrewshire Council and ward 1 (part) of Inverclyde Council (47,207 electors);

- a county constituency to be named South Renfrewshire constituency consisting of wards 7, 8 and 9 (part) of Renfrewshire Council and wards 1 (part) and ward 2 of East Renfrewshire Council (46,457 electors); and
- a county constituency to be named Eastwood constituency or East Renfrewshire constituency consisting of wards 1 (part) and 3 to 6 of East Renfrewshire Council (49,880 electors).

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

24. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/03. We gave further consideration to these matters while considering Paper 2009/03A.
25. We noted that the combined electorate of East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas was 255,100, giving a theoretical entitlement to 4.67 constituencies.
26. We examined revised constituency proposals prepared by our Secretariat, based on the recommendations of the Assistant Commissioner and the representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals.
27. We noted that the 5 constituencies to the south of the River Clyde, suggested by the Assistant Commissioner, included constituencies that were 14% and 15% below the electoral quota. We concluded that such low electorates in relatively compact semi-urban areas would be difficult to justify within the terms of the statutory rules, when compared to our proposed constituencies in other parts of Scotland. We therefore instructed our Secretariat to prepare alternative configurations of constituencies that more closely complied with the statutory rules. We requested configurations that:
 - combined the three Ayrshire council areas with East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas to configure 10 constituencies; and
 - revised the Assistant Commissioner's recommended constituencies for the combined East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas to produce a better balance of electorate between 5 constituencies in these council areas.
28. We considered 3 options produced by our Secretariat in Paper 2009/03A.
29. When we considered a possible design for 10 constituencies covering the three Ayrshire council areas together with East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas, we found that it achieved good electoral parity, but only at the expense of the other statutory rules. The design did not accord with the boundaries of council areas or the maintenance of local ties. Out of the 10 constituencies for the combined East Ayrshire, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, North Ayrshire, Renfrewshire and South Ayrshire council areas, the design required 2 constituencies which included parts of 3 council areas and 2 constituencies which included parts of 2 council areas.

30. We concluded that the option which provided for 5 constituencies covering the combined council areas of East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire, produced a more acceptable solution. We noted that this option more closely followed the Assistant Commissioner's recommendations for the area, while producing constituency electorates that were nearer to the electoral quota. The proposed constituency of Greenock and Inverclyde remained unchanged to that proposed under our Provisional Proposals.
31. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009 and the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
32. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
33. We adopted the 5 constituencies arising from paragraphs 30 and 32 as our Revised Recommendations for East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas.

Revised Recommendations

34. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.8.1, E.8.2 and E.8.3.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

35. We considered the 59 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/35.
36. The main issues raised in the representations were:
 - continued opposition to the division of East Renfrewshire council area between 2 constituencies;
 - alternative configurations for the areas covered by Renfrewshire North and West constituency and Renfrewshire South constituency, including suggestions for the grouping of Renfrewshire settlements within 2 constituencies; and
 - suggestions of alternative names for constituencies.
37. We confirmed our view that a constituency exactly covering East Renfrewshire council area was unacceptable under the statutory rules.
38. We concluded that the alternative configurations suggested for the areas covered by our proposed Renfrewshire North and West constituency and Renfrewshire South constituency did not improve upon our Revised Recommendations.

39. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.

40. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

41. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde and Renfrewshire council areas. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.8.1, E.8.2 and E.8.3.

Constituencies at the start of this review

3. At the establishment of the modern Scottish Parliament in 1999, City of Edinburgh council area was divided between 6 constituencies, as shown in Figure E.9.4.

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for City of Edinburgh council area after considering the options in Paper 2007/06, Paper 2007/06A, Paper 2007/06B and Paper 2007/06C. We had in mind the following considerations:
- the July 2007 electorate of City of Edinburgh council area was 337,280, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 6.16 constituencies;
 - within the terms of the statutory rules, we concluded that it was unacceptable to leave the existing constituencies unchanged;
 - there appeared to be no added benefit in combining City of Edinburgh council area with any of the surrounding council areas to configure constituencies suitable for the Scottish Parliament;
 - it was possible to design 6 constituencies that exactly covered City of Edinburgh council area, which satisfied the statutory rules; and
 - configuring 6 constituencies exactly covering City of Edinburgh council area required significant change to existing arrangements.
5. We agreed that a configuration comprising a central constituency with 5 surrounding constituencies produced better compliance with the statutory rules than other configurations.
6. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 11 June 2007, the minutes of our meeting of 10 August 2007, the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 3 December 2007.
7. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.

1 In 2002, a minor amendment to the council area boundary between City of Edinburgh and West Lothian council areas resulted in a small part of Edinburgh West constituency (which was previously in City of Edinburgh council area) being in West Lothian council area.

8. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for City of Edinburgh council area which were as shown in Figure E.9.5.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	Electorate
Central Edinburgh	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	55,320
East Edinburgh	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	55,350

South Edinburgh	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	56,450
South West Edinburgh	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	56,420

Total			337,280

9. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

10. We considered the 300 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/07. The main issues raised were:
- whether Colinton and Fairmilehead should be in the same constituency as each other;
 - whether South Morningside should be included in the proposed South West Edinburgh constituency;
 - whether the existing Edinburgh Pentlands constituency should be retained;
 - whether the proposed South West Edinburgh constituency should be re-named Pentlands;
 - support for greater alignment with local government electoral wards;
 - whether Gorgie and Dalry should be included in the proposed South West Edinburgh constituency;
 - whether Moredun and Gilmerton should be included in the proposed South Edinburgh constituency; and
 - whether The Inch should be included in its entirety in the proposed South Edinburgh constituency.
11. We noted that no objection was received from City of Edinburgh Council, only some suggestions for minor boundary amendments. Based on the number of representations received, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held and that the scope of that inquiry would focus on the proposed South West Edinburgh constituency and the proposed South Edinburgh constituency and on any consequential changes required for alternative suggestions to meet the statutory rules.
12. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 4 April 2008.

Local Inquiry

13. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed E F Bowen QC, Sheriff Principal of Lothian and Borders, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our proposals for City of Edinburgh council area. We arranged for a transcript to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Edinburgh on 9 September 2008.
14. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report on the Local Inquiry that:
 - the minor amendments suggested by City of Edinburgh Council should be accepted; and
 - reconsideration should be given to the proposed South West Edinburgh constituency and the proposed South Edinburgh constituency, taking into account:
 - the unity of The Inch and its affinity to South Edinburgh;
 - local ties that link Moredun and Gilmerton to Kaimes and Alnwickhill; and
 - the link between Fairmilehead, Colinton, Firrhill and South Morningside.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

15. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/06.
16. We noted that the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals had not resulted in objections to the proposed arrangements for the north, west and centre of the city, and that the City of Edinburgh Council's suggested minor amendments would not have a significant effect in terms of electorate numbers. We agreed to amend our Provisional Proposals for these areas to reflect the Council's amendments, as part of our Revised Recommendations.
17. We also considered different options for arrangements in the south and east of the city, which complied, as far as possible, with the Assistant Commissioner's conclusions. We concluded that the option that reinstated the existing Scottish Parliament constituency boundary between Fairmilehead and Liberton, and made other changes in the southern part of the city, while not fully complying with the Assistant Commissioner's conclusions, addressed many of the issues surrounding community ties in the southern and eastern parts of the city. We agreed, therefore, that this option should form part of our Revised Recommendations.
18. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009.
19. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. For City of Edinburgh council area, this included using locality names rather than compass-points, in order to clearly distinguish names of Scottish Parliament constituencies from names of Westminster constituencies. Thus we chose the names Edinburgh Corstorphine and Forth in place of West Edinburgh, and Edinburgh Trinity and Leith in place of North Edinburgh and Leith. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.

20. We adopted the 6 revised constituencies arising from paragraphs 16, 17 and 19 as our Revised Recommendations for City of Edinburgh council area.

Revised Recommendations

21. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in City of Edinburgh council area, which were as shown in Figure E.9.6.

Edinburgh Central	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	56,450
Edinburgh Corstorphine and Forth	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	57,170
Edinburgh East and South	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	57,770
Edinburgh Pentlands	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	56,050
Edinburgh Southside	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	53,150
Edinburgh Trinity and Leith	City of Edinburgh	Burgh	56,690
Total			337,280

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

22. We considered the 120 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/33.
23. The representations raised a number of issues including:
- suggestions for alternative names from City of Edinburgh Council and others;
 - requests for Craiglockhart not to be divided between 2 constituencies;
 - requests for Liberton not to be divided between 2 constituencies;
 - support for the Revised Recommendations; and
 - requests for Abbeyhill to be included in the proposed Edinburgh Central constituency.
24. In light of the representations received, we agreed to amend the southern boundary between the proposed Edinburgh Southside constituency and the proposed Edinburgh Pentlands constituency by aligning it, in part, with the boundary of ward 9 (Fountainbridge / Craiglockhart). This amendment resulted in ward 9 being divided between 2 constituencies rather than 3, resulted in the whole of Craiglockhart being located in a single constituency, and complied well with the statutory rules.
25. We were not persuaded that the suggested amendments to the Abbeyhill and Liberton areas improved upon our Revised Recommendations.
26. After considering the representations concerning constituency names, we agreed to adopt the amended constituency names suggested by the City of Edinburgh Council, namely, Edinburgh Southern in place of Edinburgh Southside; Edinburgh Western in place of Edinburgh Corstorphine and Forth; Edinburgh Northern and Leith in place of Edinburgh Trinity and Leith; and Edinburgh Eastern in place of Edinburgh East and South.

27. We agreed that these were the only changes that needed to be made to our Revised Recommendations for City of Edinburgh council area.
28. We adopted these revised constituencies as our Further Recommendations for City of Edinburgh council area.
29. Our discussions and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Further Recommendations

30. On 3 September 2009 we published for consultation our Further Recommendations for City of Edinburgh council area, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.9.1, E.9.2 and E.9.3.

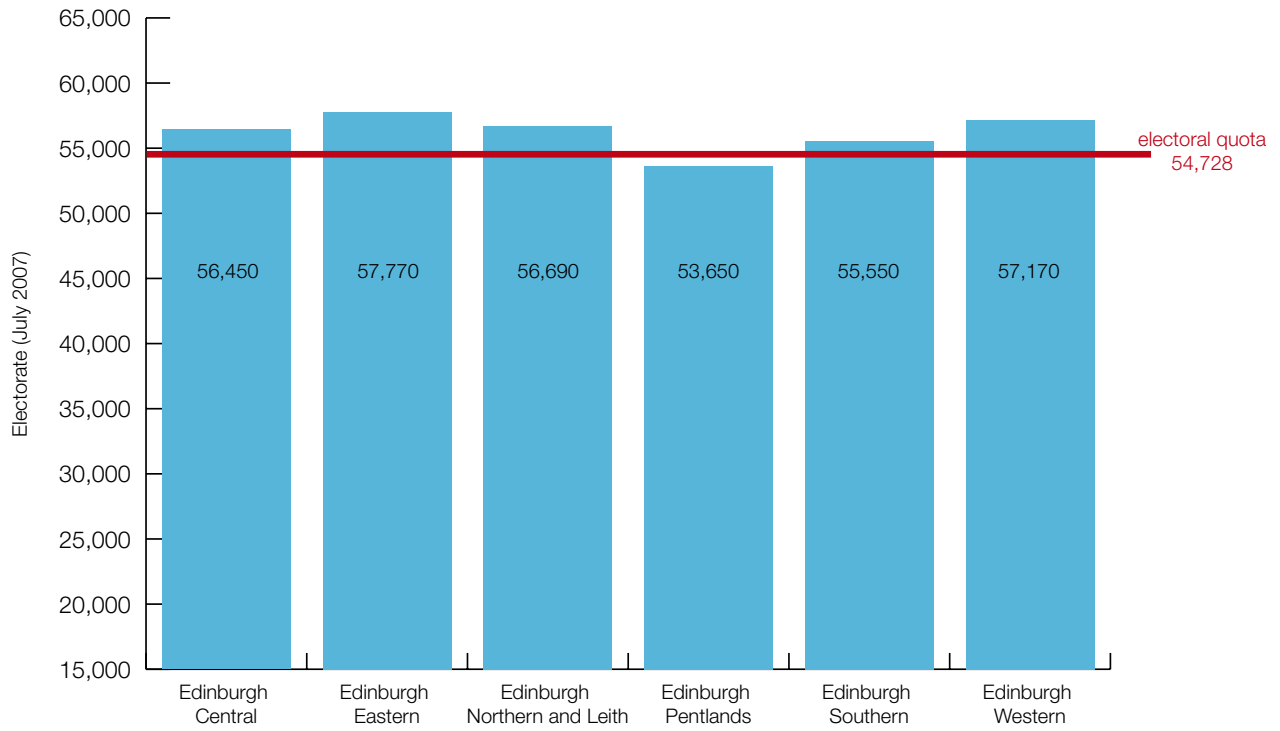

Consideration of Further Recommendations

31. We considered the 2 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Further Recommendations in Paper 2009/46. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 19 October 2009.
32. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Further Recommendations.

Final Recommendations

33. We adopted our Further Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for City of Edinburgh council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.9.1, E.9.2 and E.9.3.
34. Figure E.9.7 shows the electorates of the recommended constituencies relative to the electoral quota.

Constituencies at the start of this review

3. At the establishment of the modern Scottish Parliament in 1999, Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area comprised 1 constituency, as shown in Figure E.10.4.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	1999 electorate	July 2007 electorate
Western Isles	Na h-Eileanan an Iar	County	22,570	22,200
Total			22,570	22,200

Provisional Proposals

4. In forming our Provisional Proposals we had in mind the following considerations:
- the July 2007 electorate of Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area was 22,200, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 0.41 constituencies; and
 - the arguments, which had influenced earlier reviews to conclude that Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area should not be combined with Highland council area to configure constituencies, still had validity for the current review.
5. Within the terms of the statutory rules, we concluded that special geographic circumstances applied to Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area due to the community and communication issues that exist and, under these circumstances, the area should form a single constituency.
6. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 10 August 2007 under the paragraphs headed Highland Council Area (BCS 2007/10).
7. We decided on the constituency name after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
8. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area which were as shown in Figure E.10.5.

9. Details of the wards contained within the constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, are included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

10. We considered the 4 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/21. The representations were from Comhairle nan Eilean Siar, Scottish Conservatives, Scottish Labour Party and Scottish Liberal Democrats. All conveyed support for our Provisional Proposals.
11. In light of the representations received, we agreed that there was no need to hold a Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

12. We noted that a small number of representations regarding our Provisional Proposals for Highland council area suggested that a constituency should be formed which combined Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area with part of Highland council area. These representations were to be considered by the Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals for Highland council area.
13. Subject to consideration of the findings of the Local Inquiries into our proposals for the Highland council area and elsewhere, we concluded that no changes were required to our Provisional Proposals for Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area.
14. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 October 2008.
15. We reviewed the constituency name in the light of our revised approach described in Chapter 2.5, and decided that no changes were required as a result of that revised approach.
16. As noted above, the Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals for Highland council area considered representations which suggested combining Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area with part of Highland council area. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report and representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals for Highland council area in Paper 2009/05. Our proposals for Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area were unaltered by our conclusions following the findings of the Local Inquiry. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009.

Revised Recommendations

17. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.10.1, E.10.2, and E.10.3.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

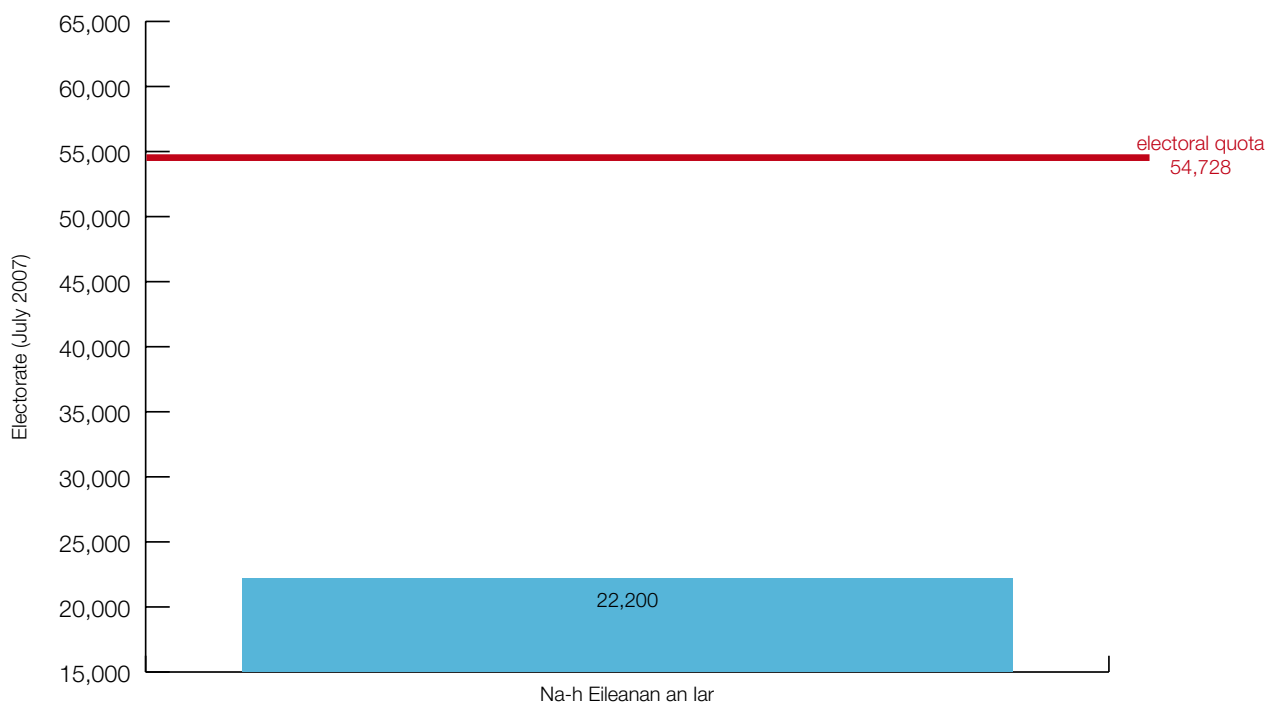

18. We considered the 5 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/25.

19. The representations were from Comhairle nan Eilean Siar, Scottish Conservatives, Scottish Labour Party, Scottish Liberal Democrats and Scottish National Party. All conveyed support for our Revised Recommendations.
20. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
21. Our discussions and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

22. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for Na h-Eileanan an Iar council area. Details of the recommended constituency are in Figures E.10.1, E.10.2 and E.10.3.

- At the establishment of the modern Scottish Parliament in 1999, Falkirk council area was divided between 2 constituencies, as shown in Figure E.11.4.

Falkirk West	Falkirk	County	53,460	56,080
Total			111,110	113,700

Provisional Proposals

- We decided on our Provisional Proposals for this area after considering the options in Paper 2007/08 and Paper 2007/08A. We had in mind the following considerations:
 - the July 2007 electorate of Falkirk council area was 113,700, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 2.08 constituencies;
 - within the terms of the statutory rules, it was possible to leave the 2 existing constituencies unchanged;
 - we saw no added benefit in combining Falkirk council area with any of the surrounding council areas to configure Scottish Parliament constituencies;
 - minor changes could be made to the current arrangements in order to produce a stronger and more identifiable boundary between the existing constituencies; and
 - the distribution of electorate in the council area did not lend itself to having constituency boundaries that were coterminous with local government ward boundaries.
- Having considered the wider area, we concluded that Falkirk council area should be divided into 2 constituencies exactly covering the extent of the council area. We noted that the existing arrangements would continue to provide 2 constituencies with balanced electorates that conformed to the statutory rules. However, we concluded that minor changes should be made to the existing constituency boundary in the areas of West Mains and Carronvale House, in the interests of producing a better defined boundary in these areas. These revisions had no material effect in terms of the overall constituency electorates and produced a stronger and better-defined constituency boundary.
- Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 11 June 2007.
- We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
- On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for Falkirk council area which were as shown in Figure E.11.5.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	Electorate
East Falkirk	Falkirk	County	57,550

Representations on Provisional Proposals

9. We considered the 5 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/23 and in Paper 2008/25.
10. Based on representations received, which included support from Falkirk Council (subject to a small number of minor amendments), the Scottish Labour Party and the Scottish Liberal Democrats, we agreed that there was no requirement to hold a Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals.
11. Representations received included a submission from the Scottish Conservatives suggesting an alternative configuration, which combined Falkirk council area with the council areas of Clackmannanshire, Stirling and West Lothian to form 6 constituencies. We were not persuaded by the Scottish Conservatives' submission to amend our Provisional Proposals but noted that their alternative would be subject to scrutiny and consideration at Local Inquiries held into our Provisional Proposals for those other areas and therefore we might need to revisit the issue once the relevant Assistant Commissioners' reports were received.
12. We agreed to a number of Falkirk Council's suggested amendments and adopted the resulting constituencies as our Revised Recommendations, subject to the outcome of the Local Inquiries involving Clackmannanshire, Stirling and West Lothian council areas.
13. When we subsequently received the reports from those Local Inquiries, neither of them suggested adoption of the Scottish Conservatives' alternative configuration for the council areas of Clackmannanshire, Falkirk, Stirling and West Lothian, and therefore we did not make any further alterations to our Provisional Proposals for Falkirk council area.
14. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 October 2008 and the minutes of our meeting of 1 December 2008.
15. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. As a result, we agreed to amend our proposed constituency names to Falkirk East and Falkirk West. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
16. We adopted the 2 constituencies arising from paragraphs 12 and 15 as our Revised Recommendations for Falkirk council area.

Revised Recommendations

17. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Falkirk council area, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.11.1, E.11.2 and E.11.3.

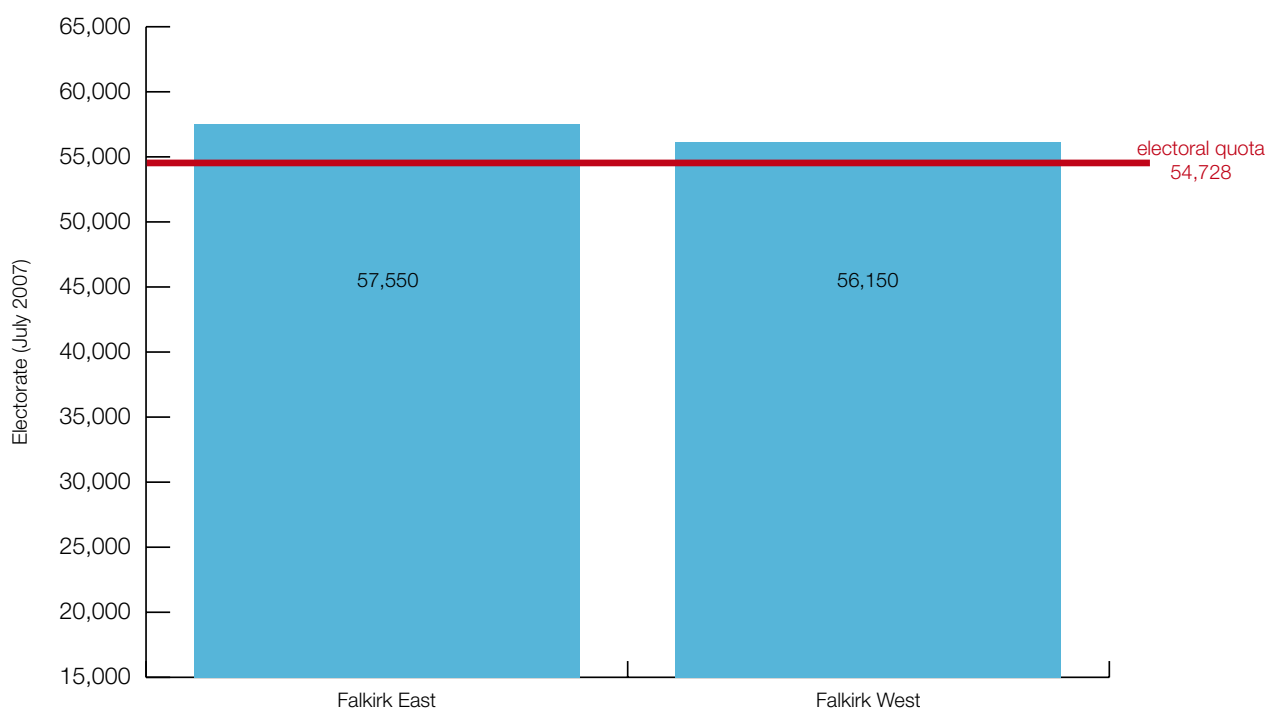

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

18. We considered the 5 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/21.
19. Among the representations, Falkirk Council and the Scottish Liberal Democrats supported our Revised Recommendations. The Scottish Conservatives continued to endorse their alternative configuration for 6 constituencies covering the combined council areas of Clackmannanshire, Falkirk, Stirling and West Lothian. The Scottish Labour Party and Scottish National Party made no comment.
20. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
21. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

22. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for Falkirk council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.11.1, E.11.2 and E.11.3.

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for Fife council area after considering the options in Paper 2007/05 and Paper 2007/05A. We had in mind the following considerations:
- the electorate of Fife council area was 280,590, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 5.13 constituencies;
 - there appeared to be no added benefit in combining Fife council area with any of the surrounding council areas to configure Scottish Parliament constituencies;
 - within the terms of the statutory rules, it was unacceptable to leave the 5 existing constituencies unchanged;
 - it was possible to design 5 constituencies which would satisfy the statutory rules while having regard to local government electoral ward boundaries;
 - the proposals for revised constituencies could retain the core electorates of the existing constituencies; and
 - the proposals should not divide the contiguous built-up areas of Dunfermline, Kirkcaldy or Glenrothes.
5. We concluded that Fife council area should continue to be divided into 5 constituencies but noted that the distribution of electorate within Fife had changed. In view of changes to the distribution of electorate, and the lack of circumstances to justify retention of the existing arrangements, we agreed that it was necessary to make revisions. Further, we agreed that the disparity of electorates, which was particularly evident in the North East Fife constituency, should be addressed.
6. In considering different options for our Provisional Proposals, it became evident that it was possible to design 5 constituencies based on aggregations of complete local government electoral wards. We recognised that such a design would be attractive from an administrative viewpoint, would address the disparity of electorate, and would produce a configuration of constituencies that complied with the statutory rules.

7. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 11 June 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.
8. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
9. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for Fife council area which were as shown in Figure E.12.5.

Total			280,590

10. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

11. We considered the 110 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/08. The main issues raised were:
 - objections to the inclusion of Largo and Lundin Links in the proposed Mid Fife and Glenrothes constituency;
 - support for the proposals from Fife Council, with suggestions for alternative constituency names; and
 - suggestions for alternative constituency names.
12. Based on the representations received, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
13. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 4 April 2008.

Local Inquiry

14. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed R A Dunlop QC, Sheriff Principal of Tayside, Central and Fife as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals. We arranged for a transcript to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Glenrothes on 15 September and 16 September 2008.

15. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report on the Local Inquiry that he found the issues raised concerning the Largo and Lundin Links area difficult ones on which to make a recommendation.
16. He noted that the local ties, which would be broken by our Provisional Proposals in the Largo and Lundin Links area, are as strong as one is likely to encounter and there was undoubtedly substantial public opposition to the Commission's proposals. On the other hand, he expressed discomfort at the significant divergence from the electoral quota that would occur from placing Largo and Lundin Links in a North East Fife constituency. He was also conscious of our expressed wish to achieve consistency across the country and that making a concession to the claims of the Largo and Lundin Links residents may have an adverse impact on the realisation of that objective.
17. Noting that the electorate of 61,600 in the existing North East Fife constituency did not appear to fall outwith the limits which we seemed prepared to tolerate elsewhere, he was less confident than others at the Local Inquiry about limitations on the future growth of the electorate in North East Fife. He, therefore, concluded that, even if we were prepared to tolerate an electorate of 61,600 at the moment, the time would soon arrive when a division of North East Fife would be absolutely necessary. On that basis, he suggested that the Commission might think it preferable to grasp the nettle now, particularly having regard to the importance of statutory rule 2. In coming to a conclusion, the Assistant Commissioner considered that the matter was finely balanced and that it was for the Commission to decide on what side of the argument the balance fell.
18. The Assistant Commissioner reported that the evidence available on the issue of which constituency the community of Kingseat should be in was not particularly extensive, but he was inclined to agree that the ties between Kingseat and Dunfermline were probably stronger than Kingseat's ties with Cowdenbeath. He believed the only negative aspect of including Kingseat in the Dunfermline constituency would be the division of local government ward 7, The Lochs.
19. The Assistant Commissioner advised that there was not a great deal of evidence given on the question of constituency names, other than on the name for the proposed North and East Fife constituency. The Assistant Commissioner noted our desire to differentiate Scottish Parliament constituency names from Westminster constituency names but suspected that the existing name would continue to be used in practice, regardless of our decision.
20. The Assistant Commissioner reported that no evidence emerged at the Local Inquiry which cast light on the other alternative names suggested within written representations, and that therefore he had no recommendations to make on this matter.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

21. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report, and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/04.

22. We noted the strength of feeling that existed in the Largo and Lundin Links area and the Assistant Commissioner's advice that local ties would be broken by our Provisional Proposals in this area. However, after careful consideration of the matter, we concluded that the high electorate that would result from including the Largo and Lundin Links area in the proposed North and East Fife constituency could only be justified under the statutory rules by exceptional circumstances, and agreed that there were no such circumstances in this case.
23. It should be noted that no one at the Local Inquiry suggested a compensatory transfer of another area from within the existing North East Fife constituency to the proposed Mid Fife and Glenrothes constituency, which would have resulted in better compliance with statutory rule 2.
24. In coming to our conclusion, we noted the upward trend in the number of electors in the existing North East Fife constituency and concluded that the time had arrived to address this situation. We agreed, therefore, to retain the constituency boundaries in our Provisional Proposals in this area without amendment.
25. After consideration of the evidence and the Assistant Commissioner's conclusions regarding the village of Kingseat, we concluded that the village had stronger ties to Dunfermline and should therefore be transferred from the proposed Cowdenbeath constituency to the proposed Dunfermline constituency, resulting in the transfer of 820 electors. In doing so, we noted that the resulting amended constituencies continued to have a high compliance with the statutory rules. We agreed that the amended boundary between the proposed Dunfermline and Cowdenbeath constituencies should be aligned to the M90 motorway, noting that this provided a strong and easily identifiable feature for the boundary to follow.
26. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009.
27. We also reviewed the constituency names in the light of our revised approach described in Chapter 2.5, and decided that no changes were required as a result of that revised approach. However, having noted the large body of opinion favouring the constituency name of North East Fife, we agreed with the Assistant Commissioner that the proposed North and East Fife constituency name was not significantly different from its counterpart Westminster constituency and that the existing name was likely to continue to be used in practice. We, therefore, agreed that the proposed North and East Fife constituency should be renamed North East Fife constituency. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
28. We concluded that, other than amending the name of the proposed North and East Fife constituency, we were not persuaded to change any of the other constituency names under our Provisional Proposals.
29. We adopted the revised constituencies arising from paragraphs 25 and 27 as our Revised Recommendations for Fife council area.

Revised Recommendations

30. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Fife council area, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.12.1, E.12.2 and E.12.3.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

31. We considered the 99 representations received in response to our public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/28.
32. The vast majority of the representations continued to oppose the proposed exclusion of the Largo and Lundin Links villages from the North East Fife constituency.
33. We considered that the issues relating to the Largo and Lundin Links villages had been given extensive consideration earlier in this review and had been fully discussed at the Local Inquiry. Having examined the further representations received, we noted that they did not advance any fresh evidence to persuade us to modify our proposals.
34. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
35. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

36. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for Fife council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.12.1, E.12.2 and E.12.3.
37. Figure E.12.6 shows the electorates of the recommended constituencies relative to the electoral quota.

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for Glasgow City council area after considering the options in Paper 2007/07 and Paper 2007/07A. In forming our Provisional Proposals for the area we had in mind the following considerations:
- the July 2007 electorate of Glasgow City council area was 435,600, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 7.96 constituencies;
 - within the terms of the statutory rules, we concluded that it was unacceptable to leave the existing constituencies unchanged;
 - there was no longer a need to combine Glasgow City council area with other neighbouring council areas in order to configure constituencies suitable for the Scottish Parliament; and
 - it was possible to design 8 constituencies exactly covering Glasgow City council area, which satisfied the statutory rules.
5. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 11 June 2007.
6. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.

2 In 2002, a minor amendment to the council area boundary between Glasgow City and Renfrewshire council areas resulted in a small part of Glasgow Govan constituency (which was previously in Glasgow City council area) being in Renfrewshire council area.

7. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for Glasgow City council area which were as shown in Figure E.13.5.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

9. We considered the 22 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/24 and in Paper 2008/26. The main issues raised were:
- requests that the Broomhill Drive area should not be divided between the proposed constituencies of North Central Glasgow and West Glasgow;
 - requests that an area to the west of Queen Margaret Drive should be transferred from the proposed North Central Glasgow constituency to the proposed North Glasgow constituency;
 - suggestion of an alternative configuration for the proposed constituencies of North Glasgow, North Central Glasgow and East Glasgow for areas around Maryhill, Springburn and Dennistoun;
 - suggested amendments to the proposed constituencies of East Glasgow and South East Glasgow in the Barlanark, Easthall and Wellhouse areas;
 - suggestion of an alternative configuration for 3 constituencies south of the River Clyde;
 - suggestion of an alternative configuration for 5 constituencies north of the River Clyde;
 - support for the proposed boundaries; and
 - requests for the re-introduction of constituency names based on localities rather than compass-points.
10. We noted that no representation was received from Glasgow City Council. Based on the representations received, we agreed that there was no need to hold a Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals for Glasgow City council area.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

11. We considered the suggested realignment between North Central Glasgow constituency and West Glasgow constituency in the area of Broomhill Drive. We decided to amend the boundary alignment in this area to produce a well defined boundary which better respected community considerations.
12. We concluded that our Provisional Proposals around Queen Margaret Drive respected community considerations and found no reason to amend them.
13. We were not persuaded that the alternative suggestion for the areas around Maryhill, Springburn and Dennistoun improved upon our Provisional Proposals.
14. In the Barlanark, Easthall and Wellhouse areas, we concluded that a boundary which followed community council boundaries between the proposed East Glasgow and South East Glasgow constituencies produced an acceptable solution, which responded to the issues raised by the representations.
15. We were not persuaded that the alternative suggestion south of the River Clyde better respected community considerations. We noted that the suggestion produced constituencies with greater divergence from the electoral quota, and confirmed our Provisional Proposals in this area.
16. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 October 2008 and the minutes of our meeting of 1 December 2008.
17. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. This involved adopting locality-based names in place of compass-point names as follows: Glasgow Anniesland in place of West Glasgow; Glasgow Cathcart in place of South Glasgow; Glasgow Kelvin in place of North Central Glasgow; Glasgow Maryhill and Springburn in place of North Glasgow; Glasgow Pollok in place of South West Glasgow; Glasgow Provan in place of East Glasgow; Glasgow Shettleston in place of South East Glasgow; and Glasgow Southside in place of South Central Glasgow. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
18. We noted the review by the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland (LGBCS) of the council area boundary at Cardowan by Stepps between Glasgow City and North Lanarkshire council areas, as described in Chapter 2.6, in Paper 2009/13. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
19. We adopted the 8 constituencies arising from paragraphs 11, 14 and 17 as our Revised Recommendations for Glasgow City council area.

Revised Recommendations

20. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for 8 constituencies in Glasgow City council area, which were as shown in Figure E.13.6.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

22. We considered the 7 representations received in response to our public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/34.
23. We noted that Glasgow City Council was generally supportive of our Revised Recommendations. All other representations which commented on Glasgow City council area intimated support.
24. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
25. As a result of the LGBCS review referred to in paragraph 18, the council area boundary at Cardowan has been amended³, taking effect on 1 April 2010, decreasing the electorate of Glasgow Provan constituency by 340. We have incorporated that amendment into our Final Recommendations.
26. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

27. We adopted our Revised Recommendations, incorporating the minor amendment discussed in paragraph 25, as our Final Recommendations for Glasgow City council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.13.1, E.13.2 and E.13.3.

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for Highland council area after considering the options in Paper 2007/10. We had in mind the following considerations:
- the July 2007 electorate of Highland council area was 173,760, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 3.17 constituencies;
 - within the terms of the statutory rules, it was unacceptable to leave the existing constituencies unchanged;
 - there appeared to be no added benefit to combining Highland council area with any of the surrounding council areas to configure Scottish Parliament constituencies;
 - any departure from Rule 2 of the statutory rules (see Chapter 3.3) had an impact on the configuration of constituencies in all other areas of Scotland. Furthermore, having no discretion to vary the total number of constituencies for the Scottish Parliament, it followed that the more numerous the occasions that significant departures from Rule 2 are agreed, the greater the impact on constituency design for other areas;
 - the distribution of electorate within Highland council area presents particular challenges for the design of 3 constituencies: the large concentration of electorate in Inverness contrasts with the very sparsely populated areas outside Inverness; and
 - the feasibility of a single constituency which contained the whole of Inverness.
5. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 10 August 2007.
6. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
7. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for Highland council area which were as shown in Figure E.14.5.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	Electorate
East Highland	Highland	County	61,690
North Highland	Highland	County	56,170

Total			173,760

8. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

9. We considered the 37 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/09. The main issues raised were:
- whether sufficient account has been taken of the special geographical circumstances, including whether 4 constituencies should be allocated to Highland council area;
 - alternative suggestions, revising our 3 proposed constituencies, configuring 4 constituencies for Highland council area, and combining Highland council area with other council areas to configure constituencies;
 - objections to the Black Isle being included in the proposed North Highland constituency;
 - requests for Inverness to be contained within a single constituency;
 - suggestion that existing community ties are not recognised in the proposals;
 - support for the proposals; and
 - suggestions of alternative names for the constituencies.
10. Based on the representations received, which included an objection from Highland Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
11. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 4 April 2008.

Local Inquiry

12. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed Sir S S T Young QC, Sheriff Principal of Grampian, Highland and Islands, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our proposals for Highland council area. We arranged for a transcript to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Inverness on 19 November 2008.
13. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report of the Local Inquiry that:
- the Commission should reconsider its decision to allocate only three constituencies to Highland council area and allocate four constituencies;
 - should the above recommendation be unacceptable, the Commission should accept the Scottish Liberal Democrats' alternative suggestion which would see the creation of 5 constituencies spread across Highland council area and Argyll and Bute council area;

- should both the above recommendations be unacceptable, the Commission should accept Highland Council's alternative suggestion for a 3 constituency configuration exactly covering Highland council area; and
- the names given to constituencies relating to Highland council area should reflect the communities and areas covered by those constituencies.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

14. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/05.
15. We concluded that the Assistant Commissioner's first preference for 4 constituencies could not be adopted, taking account of the statutory provisions governing the review and the theoretical entitlement of the different areas across Scotland. We noted the differences between the legislation governing the current review and that governing the Fifth Periodical Review of Westminster constituencies. These include the fact that we have no power to alter the overall number of Scottish Parliament constituencies. As a result, any decision to allocate an additional constituency to one area would have the undesirable consequence of reducing the representation of other parts of Scotland. We concluded, therefore, that it would not be appropriate to allocate four constituencies exactly covering Highland council area, when its theoretical entitlement was 3.17 constituencies.
16. We noted that adoption of the Assistant Commissioner's second preference, linking Highland council area with Argyll and Bute council area, would require a major revision of the constituencies proposed under our Provisional Proposals for the West Scotland and South West and Central Scotland areas. We also noted that this would conflict with the conclusions and recommendations of the Assistant Commissioners' reports for those areas. Having considered the ramifications of such change, we were not persuaded that this alternative improved upon our Provisional Proposals in terms of the wider area.
17. Our attention therefore moved to the Assistant Commissioner's third preference of adopting Highland Council's alternative suggestion for 3 constituencies exactly covering the council area. We noted that this alternative addressed many of the concerns raised at the Local Inquiry, was compatible with decisions we had taken nationally in terms of theoretical entitlements to constituencies, and was in line with the statutory rules.
18. However, we were concerned at the large geographical area and sizeable electorate (61,160 electors) that was suggested by Highland Council for a Mid Ross, Skye, Lochaber and Badenoch constituency. We agreed that, of the 3 constituencies suggested under this configuration, the Inverness and Nairn constituency should have the highest electorate since it was significantly smaller in terms of geographical extent and the majority of the electorate were concentrated in the city of Inverness and other towns.

19. We concluded that Highland Council's alternative should be amended by dividing ward 21 (Badenoch and Strathspey) along the southern boundaries of Nethy Bridge, Boat of Garten and Carrbridge Community Councils and transferring the northern part of the ward from the proposed Mid Ross, Skye, Lochaber and Badenoch constituency to the proposed Inverness and Nairn constituency.
20. Subject to the above change, we agreed that Highland Council's alternative should form part of our Revised Recommendations.
21. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009.
22. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
23. We adopted the 3 revised constituencies arising from paragraphs 17, 19 and 22 as our Revised Recommendations for Highland council area.

Revised Recommendations

24. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Highland council area. Our Revised Recommendations were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.14.1, E.14.2 and E.14.3.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

25. We considered the 48 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/26.
26. The representations raised a number of issues including:
 - suggestion that ward 21 (Badenoch and Strathspey) should not be divided between 2 constituencies;
 - suggestion that the geographic size of the proposed constituencies and lack of transport links, will present difficulties for MSPs in the effective representation of their electorate;
 - opposition to splitting the Black Isle and Dingwall from the rest of Ross-shire;
 - requests for 4 constituencies exactly covering Highland council area;
 - requests for a 3 constituency configuration mirroring the Westminster constituencies;
 - support for the 3 constituency alternative proposed by Highland Council;
 - requests for the status quo;
 - support for our Revised Recommendations; and
 - suggestions for alternative constituency names.

27. We considered again the number of constituencies and confirmed our earlier conclusions that it was not possible to allocate 4 constituencies exactly covering Highland council area when it has a theoretical entitlement to 3.17 constituencies. Further, we were not persuaded that combining Highland with one or more other council areas provided for a better solution over the wider area in terms of the statutory rules.
28. We confirmed our conclusion that there should be 3 constituencies exactly covering Highland council area. We were aware that this presented a number of challenges in terms of trying to balance the geographic extents of the constituencies with the number of electors contained within them. We noted that, on average, each constituency would have 57,920 electors.
29. We examined alternative suggestions that followed to varying degrees the current Westminster constituency boundaries and considered that these complied with certain statutory rules at the expense of others. Those that placed ward 21 (Badenoch and Strathspey) in either the proposed Inverness and Nairn constituency or the Skye, Lochaber and Badenoch constituency produced configurations that were unacceptable in terms of statutory rule 2 (on electoral parity). We noted that including all of ward 21 in the Inverness and Nairn constituency would result in a constituency with an electorate larger than any in our Revised Recommendations and that this electorate would contrast markedly with the electorate of the neighbouring Moray constituency.
30. We concluded that our Revised Recommendations produced an acceptable solution, within the circumstances prevailing in Highland council area, which conformed to the statutory rules. We also considered that this solution was more consistent with our decisions in other parts of Scotland. We agreed that no further changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
31. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

32. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for Highland council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.14.1, E.14.2 and E.14.3.

Total			107,240	106,390

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for North Ayrshire council area after considering the options in Paper 2007/03. We had in mind the following considerations:
- the July 2007 electorate of North Ayrshire council area was 106,390, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 1.94 constituencies;
 - it was not possible to design 2 constituencies which satisfied the statutory rules by aggregating complete local government electoral wards; and
 - the proposals should not divide the contiguous built-up area of Ardrossan and Saltcoats.
5. We concluded that it was preferable to make relatively minor adjustments to the boundaries of the existing constituencies rather than leave them unchanged in order to reduce the number of electoral wards divided between the 2 constituencies. This would result in electorates that were acceptable in terms of the electoral quota, and have the advantage of retaining constituencies wholly contained within a single council area.
6. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 11 June 2007.
7. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
8. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for North Ayrshire council area which were as shown in Figure E.15.5.

North Cunninghame	North Ayrshire	County	56,150

9. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

10. We considered the 7 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/08. The main issues raised were:
- support from North Ayrshire Council for the Provisional Proposals;
 - a suggestion from Kenneth Gibson MSP for a slightly different division of ward 4 between the 2 constituencies; and
 - a suggestion from the Scottish Labour Party for a substantially different design of constituencies across Renfrewshire and Ayrshire.
11. Based on the representations received, we agreed that there was no requirement to hold a Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

12. We discussed North Ayrshire council area after having reached a conclusion on Paper 2009/03A which explored the possibility of creating constituencies that included parts of North Ayrshire with neighbouring council areas. We concluded that we were not persuaded of the benefits of designing a constituency which combined part of North Ayrshire with any other council area.
13. We examined Kenneth Gibson MSP's suggestion and noted that its adoption would divide Saltcoats between two constituencies. We were not persuaded by the evidence presented to change our Provisional Proposals.
14. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
15. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
16. We adopted the 2 constituencies from our Provisional Proposals with unchanged boundaries and amended names as our Revised Recommendations for North Ayrshire council area.

Revised Recommendations

17. On 21 May 2009 we published our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in North Ayrshire council area, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.15.1, E.15.2 and E.15.3.

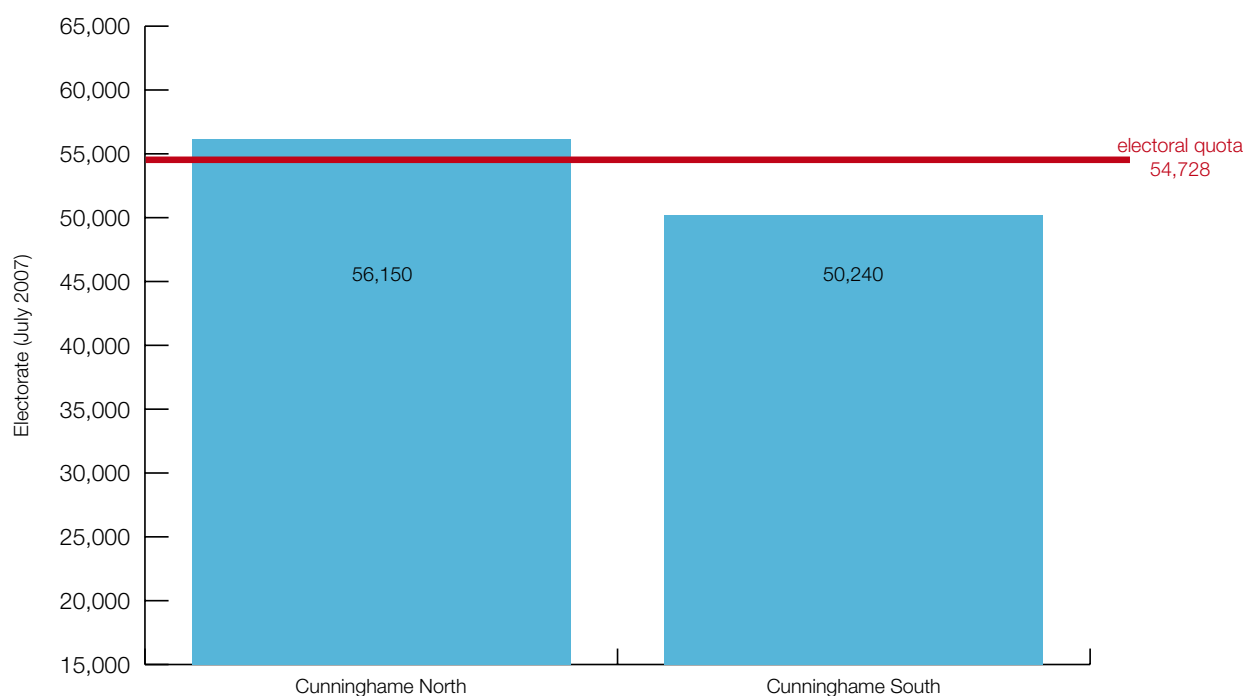

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

18. We considered the 4 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/22.
19. The representations were from 4 of the political parties. North Ayrshire Council did not submit a further representation.
20. The Scottish Liberal Democrats and Scottish Conservatives supported the Revised Recommendations. The Scottish Labour Party welcomed elements of the recommendations and the Scottish National Party representation offered no comment on this council area.
21. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
22. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

23. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for North Ayrshire council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.15.1, E.15.2 and E.15.3.
24. Figure E.15.6 shows the electorates of the recommended constituencies relative to the electoral quota.

Provisional Proposals

4. At our meeting of 6 September 2007, we considered the complexities involved in providing for constituencies in West, Central and South West Scotland, which complied with the statutory rules. This large area involved the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, North Lanarkshire, Renfrewshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire, West Dunbartonshire and West Lothian. The combined area had an electorate of 1,270,250, and a theoretical entitlement to 23.21 constituencies.
5. It was clear to us that it was not possible to leave the existing arrangements unchanged, or to make minor alterations to them, because of large imbalances of electorate between the existing constituencies in the area. Substantial change was necessary.
6. We concluded that we should deal with this large area by dividing it into 2 blocks. Block 1 combined the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, Renfrewshire and West Dunbartonshire to provide for 7 constituencies. We referred to this block as West Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Block 2 combined the council areas of East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, North Lanarkshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire and West Lothian to provide for 16 constituencies. We referred to this block as South West and Central Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.

7. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas, as part of our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland, after considering the options in Paper 2007/16 and Paper 2007/16A.
8. We considered at length the issues that would be raised by forming a large rural constituency covering parts of East Ayrshire and South Lanarkshire council areas and a substantial tract of the current Clydesdale constituency.
9. We agreed that our Provisional Proposals for the areas covered by the constituencies of Cumbernauld and East Airdrie, Coatbridge and Airdrie, Motherwell and Wishaw, South Hamilton and Larkhall, and Cumnock and Clydesdale produced acceptable constituencies which generally reflected community considerations, met the demands set by the electoral quota, provided for well-balanced electorates across the wider area and for most part offered strong, easily identifiable boundaries.
10. We considered in detail the proposed boundaries of the North Hamilton and Bellshill constituency, and decided to use the railway line as a significant part of the western boundary of the constituency. Within Hamilton, along the southern boundary of this constituency, we agreed a boundary which used major roads and which produced a better balance of electorate between the proposed constituencies.
11. Regarding the proposed constituency of Lanark, Shotts and Whitburn, we noted that it was necessary to include parts of 3 council area areas within the constituency in order to achieve an acceptable configuration of constituencies over the wider area which complied with the statutory rules.
12. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 3 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
13. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
14. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas. These were contained in our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland. The Provisional Proposals were as shown in Figure E.16.5.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

16. We considered the 1,290 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland, of which some 780 related directly to North and South Lanarkshire council areas, in Paper 2008/15. The main issues raised relating to North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas were:
- the view that the proposals should closely follow the existing constituencies, expressed among others by both North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire Councils;
 - opposition to a constituency crossing the boundary between West Lothian council area and either North Lanarkshire or South Lanarkshire council area;
 - opposition to a constituency crossing the boundary between South Lanarkshire council area and East Ayrshire council area; and
 - objection to the town of Airdrie being divided between 2 constituencies.
17. Based on the representations received in response to our Provisional Proposals for the area of South West and Central Scotland, which included objections from East Ayrshire Council, North Lanarkshire Council, South Lanarkshire Council and West Lothian Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
18. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 16 June 2008.

Local Inquiry

19. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Lockhart, Sheriff Principal of South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into 15 out of 16 of our proposed constituencies for South West and Central Scotland. We arranged for a transcript to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Airdrie on 23 September and 24 September 2008, Ayr on 26 September and 29 September 2008, and Lanark on 30 September and 1 October 2008.
20. The Assistant Commissioner made a number of recommendations in his report on the Local Inquiry, which directly or indirectly related to North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas:
 - the Commission should revisit its plans for the proposed constituency of Lanark, Shotts and Whitburn with a view to keeping intact the boundary between Lanarkshire and West Lothian;
 - in light of evidence that points essentially to the status quo, the Commission should consider allowing the existing constituencies of Airdrie and Shotts, Coatbridge and Chryston, and Cumbernauld and Kilsyth to remain largely unaltered; and
 - the Commission should revisit its proposals for a Clydesdale and Cumnock cross-council constituency and consider alternative arrangements that respect the boundary between South Lanarkshire and East Ayrshire.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

21. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/03. We gave further consideration to these matters while considering Paper 2009/03A.
22. We noted that the combined electorate of North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas was 494,150, giving a theoretical entitlement to 9.02 constituencies.
23. We examined revised constituency proposals prepared by our Secretariat, based on the recommendations of the Assistant Commissioner and the representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals. These constituency proposals comprised 9 constituencies exactly covering the combined extent of North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas. We concluded that these constituencies addressed the points raised by the Assistant Commissioner, and were acceptable under the statutory rules.
24. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009 and the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
25. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.

26. We noted the review by the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland (LGBCS) of the council area boundary at Cardowan by Steps between Glasgow City and North Lanarkshire council areas, as described in Chapter 2.6, in Paper 2009/13. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
27. We adopted the revised constituencies arising from paragraphs 23 and 25 as our Revised Recommendations for North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas.

Revised Recommendations

28. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas, which were as shown in Figure E.16.6.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

30. We considered the 8 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/36.
31. The representations were supportive of the Revised Recommendations, and included support from North Lanarkshire Council and the main political parties. South Lanarkshire Council did not make a representation.
32. Suggestions were made for amended names for 2 constituencies.
33. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.

34. As a result of the LGBCS review referred to in paragraph 26, the council area boundary at Cardowan has been amended³, taking effect on 1 April 2010, increasing the electorate of Coatbridge and Chryston constituency by 340. We have incorporated that amendment into our Final Recommendations.
35. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

36. We adopted our Revised Recommendations, incorporating the minor amendment discussed in paragraph 34, as our Final Recommendations for North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.16.1, E.16.2 and E.16.3.

Provisional Proposals

4. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for Perth and Kinross council area after considering the options in Paper 2007/09 and Paper 2007/09A. We had in mind the following considerations:
- the electorate of Perth and Kinross council area was 108,160, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 1.98 constituencies;
 - within the terms of the statutory rules, we concluded that it was unacceptable to leave the 4 existing constituencies unchanged;
 - there was no need to combine Perth and Kinross council area with neighbouring council areas in order to configure constituencies suitable for the Scottish Parliament; and
 - it was possible to design 2 constituencies exactly covering Perth and Kinross council area which satisfied the statutory rules, and which fully aligned with local government electoral ward boundaries.
5. Having considered the wider area, we concluded that Perth and Kinross council area should be divided into 2 constituencies exactly covering the extent of the council area. In considering options for our Provisional Proposals, we examined different configurations for the two constituencies, including:
- the division of Perth between the constituencies using an aggregation of complete local government electoral wards;
 - the division of Perth between the constituencies with some wards divided; and
 - the inclusion of the whole of Perth within one of the constituencies.
6. After considering different options, we agreed that Perth provided a focus for the whole of the council area. With this in mind, we concluded that a configuration which included part of Perth in each of the 2 constituencies, and which respected electoral ward boundaries, produced a more acceptable solution than other configurations, in terms of the statutory rules.

7. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 11 June 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 10 August 2007.
8. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
9. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for Perth and Kinross council area which were as shown in Figure E.18.5.

Constituency name	Council area	Designation	Electorate
North Perthshire	Perth and Kinross	County	52,310
South Perthshire and Kinross	Perth and Kinross	County	55,850
Total			108,160

10. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

11. We considered the 11 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2008/12. The main issues raised were:
 - whether Perth should be divided between 2 constituencies, or placed in a single constituency; and
 - support for the Provisional Proposals.
12. Based on the representations received, which included an objection to the proposals from Perth and Kinross Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
13. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 22 May 2008.

Local Inquiry

14. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed R A Dunlop QC, Sheriff Principal of Tayside, Central and Fife as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals. We arranged for a transcript to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Perth on 20 August and 21 August 2008.
15. The Assistant Commissioner concluded in his report on the Local Inquiry that:
 - there was general acceptance that the Perth and Kinross council area justified two constituencies exactly covering its extent;
 - Perth and Kinross Council had made an alternative suggestion of placing ward 12 in the South Perthshire and Kinross constituency, thereby putting all of the city of Perth in that constituency, and placing ward 6 in North Perthshire constituency. Under this suggestion, the deviation from the electoral quota and disparity between the electorate of the 2 constituencies were serious weaknesses;

- the Scottish Liberal Democrats supported Perth and Kinross Council's suggestion with the additional modification of transferring part of ward 9 into the North Perthshire constituency. There was an inadequate evidential basis upon which to conclude that the Scottish Liberal Democrats' suggestion would command support among the electorate;
- there was competition between the claims of Perth on the one hand and of ward 6 on the other for inclusion in the South Perthshire and Kinross constituency. The Assistant Commissioner considered that in either case an issue may arise under statutory rule 4 on local ties, but that there was no clear basis for preferring the Council's alternative suggestion to that of the Commission; and
- there was no dissent to the Council's suggestion that South Perthshire and Kinross constituency be renamed South Perthshire and Kinross-shire constituency.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

16. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/02.
17. We agreed with the Assistant Commissioner that there was no material advantage in amending our Provisional Proposals in favour of the alternative suggestions submitted by Perth and Kinross Council or the Scottish Liberal Democrats. We therefore agreed that no changes to constituency boundaries were needed.
18. We were persuaded to change the name of the South Perthshire and Kinross constituency to South Perthshire and Kinross-shire constituency, as suggested by Perth and Kinross Council.
19. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009.
20. In addition, we noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
21. We adopted the 2 constituencies from our Provisional Proposals with unchanged boundaries and amended names as our Revised Recommendations for Perth and Kinross council area.

Revised Recommendations

22. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in Perth and Kinross council area, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.18.1, E.18.2 and E.18.3.

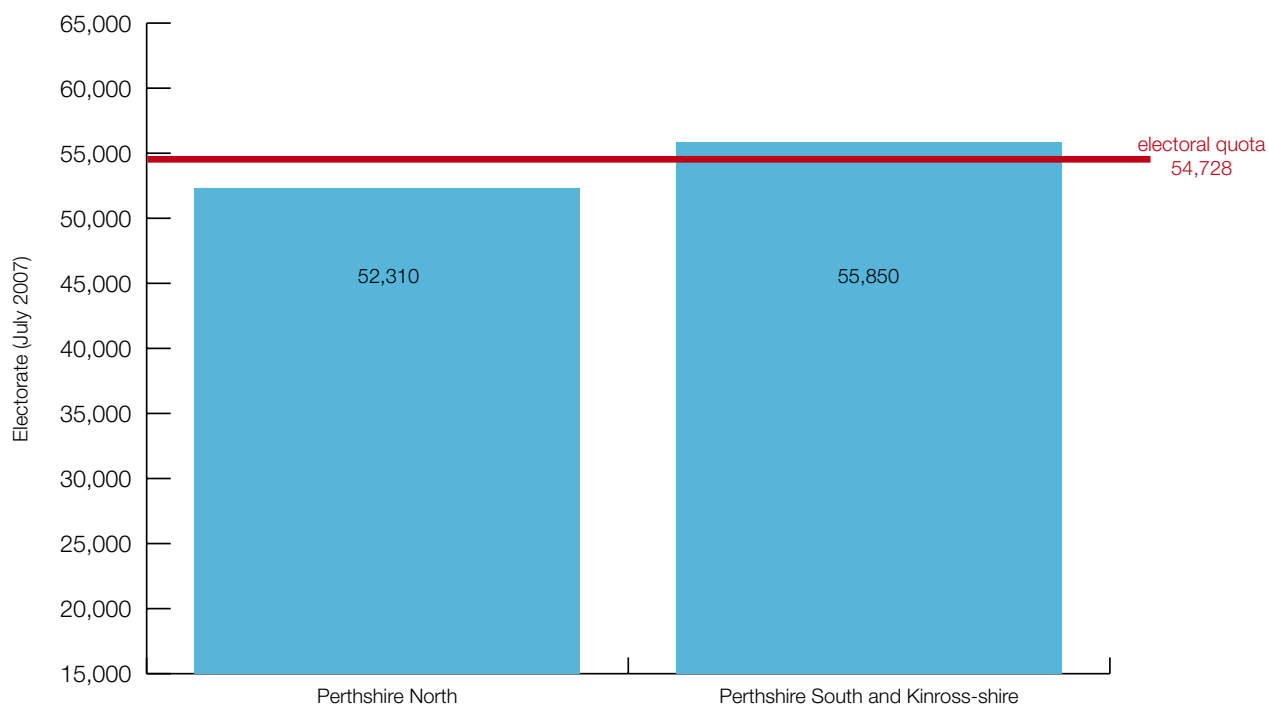

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

23. We considered the 5 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/24.
24. Only the representation from Perth and Kinross Council opposed the recommendations, restating their opposition to Perth being divided between two constituencies.
25. In light of all the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
26. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

27. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for Perth and Kinross council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.18.1, E.18.2 and E.18.3.

Constituencies at the start of this review

3. At the establishment of the modern Scottish Parliament in 1999, West Lothian council area was divided between 2 constituencies. At the start of this review, as a result of a minor amendment to council area boundaries¹, West Lothian council area was divided between 3 constituencies, as shown in Figure E.20.4.

Provisional Proposals

4. At our meeting of 6 September 2007, we considered the complexities involved in providing for constituencies in West, Central and South West Scotland, which complied with the statutory rules. This large area involved the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, North Lanarkshire, Renfrewshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire, West Dunbartonshire and West Lothian. The combined area had an electorate of 1,270,250, and a theoretical entitlement to 23.21 constituencies.
5. It was clear to us that it was not possible to leave the existing arrangements unchanged, or to make minor alterations to them, because of large imbalances of electorate between the existing constituencies in the area. Substantial change was necessary.
6. We concluded that we should deal with this large area by dividing it into 2 blocks. Block 1 combined the council areas of Argyll and Bute, East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, Renfrewshire and West Dunbartonshire to provide for 7 constituencies. We referred to this block as West Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Block 2 combined the council areas of East Ayrshire, East Dunbartonshire, North Lanarkshire, South Ayrshire, South Lanarkshire and West Lothian to provide for 16 constituencies. We referred to this block as South West and Central Scotland when we published our Provisional Proposals. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 6 September 2007.
7. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for West Lothian council area as part of our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland after considering the options in Paper 2007/16 and Paper 2007/16A. We had in mind the following considerations:

- the July 2007 electorate of West Lothian council area was 122,890, giving it a theoretical entitlement to 2.25 constituencies; and
 - it was necessary to combine West Lothian council area with one or more other council areas if we were to avoid a significant disparity from the electoral quota.
8. We agreed that it was not possible to combine West Lothian council area with certain neighbouring council areas: City of Edinburgh and Falkirk council areas both had sufficient electorates to produce good constituency designs wholly contained within their boundaries, while the geography along the boundary with Midlothian council area did not provide for an acceptable solution.
 9. We concluded that it was necessary to include part of West Lothian council area in a constituency with parts of North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas in order to achieve an acceptable configuration of constituencies over the wider area, which complied with the statutory rules.
 10. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 3 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
 11. We decided on constituency names after considering Paper 2007/17 and Paper 2007/17A. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 October 2007 and the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2007.
 12. On 14 February 2008 we published for consultation our Provisional Proposals for constituencies for West Lothian council area. These were contained in our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland. The Provisional Proposals were as shown in Figure E.20.5.

Total			164,000

13. Details of the wards contained within each constituency in the Provisional Proposals, and their electorates, were included in the maps of our Provisional Proposals which are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

14. We considered the 1,290 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals for South West and Central Scotland, of which some 430 related directly to West Lothian council area, in Paper 2008/15. The main issues raised relating to West Lothian council area were:

- opposition to the creation of a constituency crossing the boundary between West Lothian council area and North and South Lanarkshire council areas; and
 - an alternative suggestion for constituencies including a constituency crossing from West Lothian council area into Falkirk council area.
15. Based on the representations received in response to our Provisional Proposals for the area of South West and Central Scotland, which included objections from East Ayrshire Council, North Lanarkshire Council, South Lanarkshire Council and West Lothian Council, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held.
16. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 16 June 2008.

Local Inquiry

17. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Lockhart, Sheriff Principal of South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into 15 out of 16 of our proposed constituencies for South West and Central Scotland. We arranged for a transcript to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Airdrie on 23 September and 24 September 2008, Ayr on 26 September and 29 September 2008, and Lanark on 30 September and 1 October 2008.
18. The Assistant Commissioner made a number of recommendations in his report on the Local Inquiry which directly or indirectly related to West Lothian council area:
- the Commission should revisit its plans for the proposed constituency of Lanark, Shotts and Whitburn with a view to keeping intact the boundary between Lanarkshire and West Lothian;
 - in light of evidence that points essentially to the status quo, the Commission should consider allowing the existing constituencies of Airdrie and Shotts, Coatbridge and Chryston, and Cumbernauld and Kilsyth to remain largely unaltered; and
 - the Commission should revisit its proposals for a Clydesdale and Cumnock cross-council constituency and consider alternative arrangements that respect the Ayrshire/Lanarkshire boundary.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

19. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's Report and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/03. We gave further consideration to these matters while considering Paper 2009/03A.
20. At these meetings, we considered the consequences of creating 2 constituencies which exactly covered West Lothian council area. We noted that the electorates of such constituencies would be significantly above the electoral quota. We were reluctant to accept divergences of such magnitude in an area that had experienced one of the highest growths of population in recent years. We noted that, if this configuration was adopted and the electorates of the respective constituencies continue to grow, there would be a need for us to design revised constituencies more in line with statutory rule 2 at a future review.

21. Mindful of this, we re-examined the prevailing circumstances, including:
 - proposals for constituencies in neighbouring council areas;
 - the geographical circumstances along the boundaries of West Lothian council area; and
 - the recommendation contained in the report by the Assistant Commissioner that the boundary between Lanarkshire and West Lothian should be respected.

22. We noted that neither the report from the Local Inquiry covering this area nor the report from the Local Inquiry in Clackmannanshire and Stirling council areas supported the suggestion of a constituency combining parts of Falkirk and West Lothian council areas.

23. We concluded that, in order to achieve a satisfactory configuration of constituencies over the wider area, it was necessary to design two constituencies exactly covering the West Lothian council area. This decision was reached exceptionally because of the broader context affecting the West Lothian council area, which prevented an acceptable alternative being developed.

24. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 February 2009 and the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.

25. We noted the representations received concerning our approach to constituency names in our Provisional Proposals, and amended the constituency names in line with our revised approach, as described in Chapter 2.5, after considering Paper 2009/11. We decided on the constituency name of Almond Valley since it provided an acceptable description of the area covered by the constituency, and had the advantage of being different from the name of its Westminster counterpart (Livingston) which has a different extent. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.

26. We adopted the 2 constituencies arising from paragraphs 23 and 25 as our Revised Recommendations for West Lothian council area.

Revised Recommendations

27. On 21 May 2009 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for constituencies in West Lothian council area, which were the same as our Final Recommendations detailed in Figures E.20.1, E.20.2 and E.20.3.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

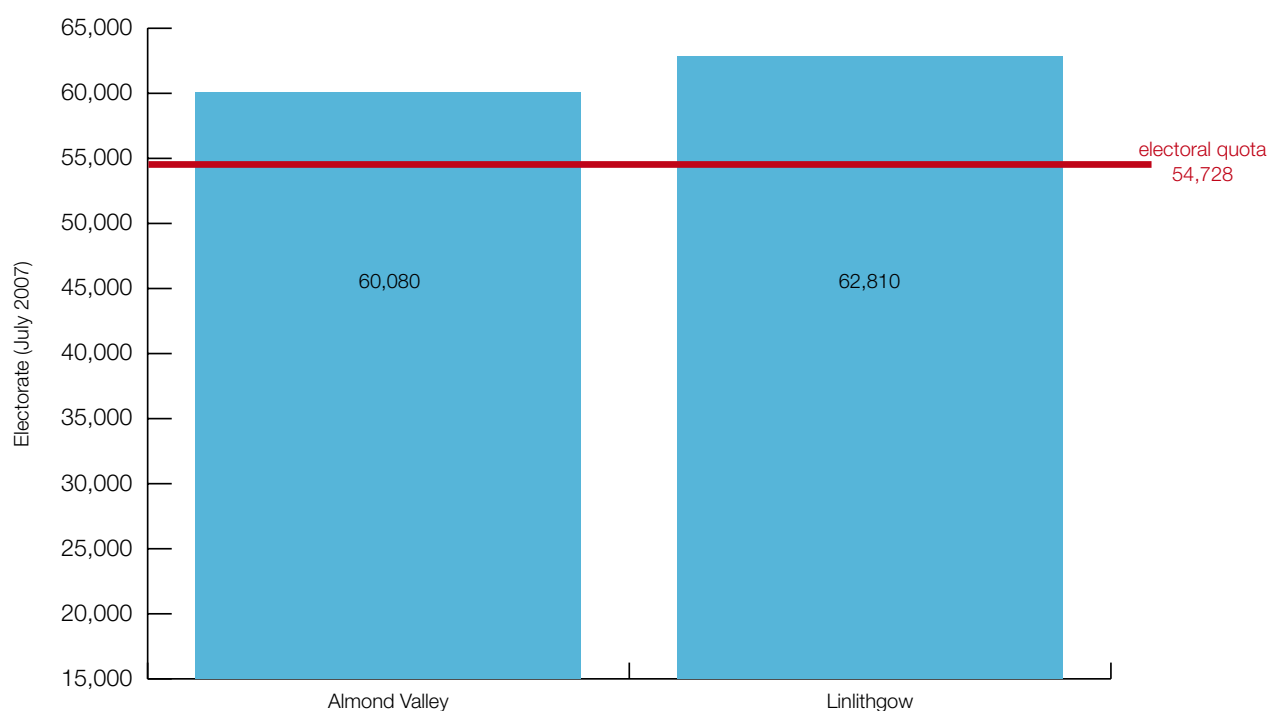

28. We considered the 11 representations received concerning our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2009/30.

29. Among the representations, West Lothian Council and the Scottish Liberal Democrats supported the boundaries of our Revised Recommendations. The Scottish Labour Party suggested an alternative division of West Lothian council area into 2 constituencies, and the Scottish Conservatives continued to suggest a constituency combining parts of West Lothian and Falkirk council areas. Various alternatives to the constituency name of Almond Valley were suggested.
30. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.
31. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Final Recommendations

32. We adopted our Revised Recommendations as our Final Recommendations for West Lothian council area. Details of the recommended constituencies are in Figures E.20.1, E.20.2 and E.20.3.

Provisional Proposals

5. We decided on our Provisional Proposals for regions after considering the options in Paper 2009/12. We had in mind the following considerations:
- it was not possible to leave the existing arrangements unchanged in view of our proposed changes to constituency boundaries arising from this review;
 - the importance that the statutory rules for regions attach to electoral parity;
 - with the requirement for regions to comprise whole constituencies and the electorate of a single constituency being around 10% of the electorate of a region, it would not be possible to adjust the electorate of regions with precision; and
 - although the regional rules do not make mention of boundaries of council areas, local ties, or inconveniences attendant on alterations, we considered that it was reasonable, within the terms of the statutory rules, to take account of such matters where it was possible to do so.
6. We considered 6 possible configurations for regions. The option that we adopted as our Provisional Proposals for regions was selected for reasons that included the following:
- in most cases, the arrangement produced compact geographic areas;
 - the main cities of Scotland were not divided between regions;
 - the option resembled the existing regions;

- the electorate and extent of the proposed Highlands and Islands region reflected the special geographical considerations in that area;
 - Dundee City's links with Angus and the north were respected; and
 - Stirling and Clackmannanshire's links with Perth and Kinross and Fife were respected.
7. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.
8. We noted the reviews by the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland (LGBCS) of council area boundaries, as described in Chapter 2.6, in Paper 2009/13. Our discussion and conclusions on this matter are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 9 March 2009.

10. Maps of our Provisional Proposals for regions are available on our website.

Representations on Provisional Proposals

11. We considered more than 200 representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/19. The main issues raised were:
 - opposition to the inclusion of Clydebank and Milngavie constituency and Strathkelvin and Bearsden constituency in East Central Scotland region, expressed in 135 representations;
 - opposition to the inclusion of Dumbarton constituency in Highlands and Islands region;
 - opposition to the division of West Lothian council area between the proposed East Central Scotland and Lothian regions, with a preference for the entire council area to be placed within Lothian region;
 - support for the proposed North East Scotland region; and
 - suggestions for alternative configurations.

12. Based on the representations received, which included representations from Highland Council, West Dunbartonshire Council and the Scottish Labour Party, we agreed that a Local Inquiry should be held into our Provisional Proposals for the regions of East Central Scotland, Highlands and Islands, Lothian, South Scotland, and West Central Scotland. We concluded that the scope of the Local Inquiry should not include the regions of Glasgow, Mid Scotland and Fife, and North East Scotland as no adverse representations had been received for these regions.

13. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 13 July 2009.

Local Inquiry

14. At our request, the Secretary of State for Scotland appointed B A Kerr QC, Sheriff Principal of North Strathclyde, as Assistant Commissioner to conduct the Local Inquiry into our Provisional Proposals for the regions of East Central Scotland, Highlands and Islands, Lothian, South Scotland and West Central Scotland. We arranged for a transcript to be made of the Local Inquiry proceedings at Glasgow on 22 October 2009.

15. The Assistant Commissioner recommended in his report on the Local Inquiry that:
 - Dumbarton constituency should be removed from the proposed Highlands and Islands region;
 - there should be a region named West of Scotland comprising the following ten constituencies:
 - Clydebank and Milngavie
 - Cunninghame North
 - Cunninghame South
 - Dumbarton
 - Eastwood
 - Greenock and Inverclyde
 - Paisley
 - Renfrewshire North and West
 - Renfrewshire South
 - Strathkelvin and Bearsden

- there should be a region named Central Scotland comprising the following nine constituencies:
 - Airdrie and Shotts
 - Coatbridge and Chryston
 - Cumbernauld and Kilsyth
 - East Kilbride
 - Falkirk East
 - Falkirk West
 - Hamilton, Larkhall and Stonehouse
 - Motherwell and Wishaw
 - Uddingston and Bellshill
- Linlithgow constituency should be moved from the proposed East Central Scotland region to the proposed Lothian region; and
- East Lothian constituency should be moved from the proposed Lothian region to the proposed South Scotland region.

Consideration of Provisional Proposals

16. We considered the Assistant Commissioner's report, and the representations received concerning our Provisional Proposals in Paper 2009/48.
17. Having fully examined the different options that were possible by adopting, to varying degrees, the Assistant Commissioner's recommendations, we concluded that his recommendations produced a balanced solution. We agreed, therefore, to adopt his recommendations concerning the boundaries of regions in full.
18. Turning our attention to names, we agreed that the proposed West Central Scotland region should be renamed West Scotland region and that the proposed East Central Scotland region should be renamed Central Scotland region.
19. We noted the amended constituency names arising from our Further Recommendations for constituencies, and incorporated them into our descriptions of the regions. These were Argyll and Bute in place of Argyllshire and Bute; Edinburgh Western in place of Edinburgh Corstorphine and Forth; Edinburgh Eastern in place of Edinburgh East and South, Edinburgh Southern in place of Edinburgh Southside; and Edinburgh Northern and Leith in place of Edinburgh Trinity and Leith.
20. In light of the representations received in response to the public consultation on our Provisional Proposals and the evidence presented at the Local Inquiry, we agreed that no changes were required to our Provisional Proposals for Glasgow, Mid Scotland and Fife, and North East Scotland regions.
21. We adopted the revised regions arising from paragraphs 18 and 19 as our Revised Recommendations for regions.

22. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 16 November 2009.

Revised Recommendations

23. On 7 January 2010 we published for consultation our Revised Recommendations for Scottish Parliament regions for the regions of Central Scotland, Highlands and Islands, Lothian, South Scotland, and West Scotland. Our Revised Recommendations were as shown in Figure F.7.

Region name	Electorate
Central Scotland	493,000
Glasgow	493,950
Highlands and Islands	334,720
Lothian	517,110
Mid Scotland and Fife	490,700
North East Scotland	540,310
South Scotland	520,840
West Scotland	528,680
Total	3,919,310

24. The constituencies in each region in the Revised Recommendations were the same as in our Final Recommendations, as shown in Figure F.2.

Consideration of Revised Recommendations

25. We considered the 13 representations received in response to our consultation on our Revised Recommendations in Paper 2010/06.

26. The representations included 7 from Councils and 1 from an MSP which were either in favour of the Revised Recommendations or indicated that they had no comment. 1 member of the public objected to Moray constituency being included in the Highlands and Islands region. The remaining 4 representations related to the Commission's proposals for constituencies, and did not concern the regions.

27. In light of the representations received, we agreed that no changes were required to our Revised Recommendations.

28. As a result of the LGBCS reviews referred to in paragraph 8, the council area boundary at Cardowan has been amended¹, taking effect on 1 April 2010, moving 340 electors from Glasgow Provan constituency in Glasgow region to Coatbridge and Chryston constituency in Central Scotland region. We have incorporated that amendment into our Final Recommendations.

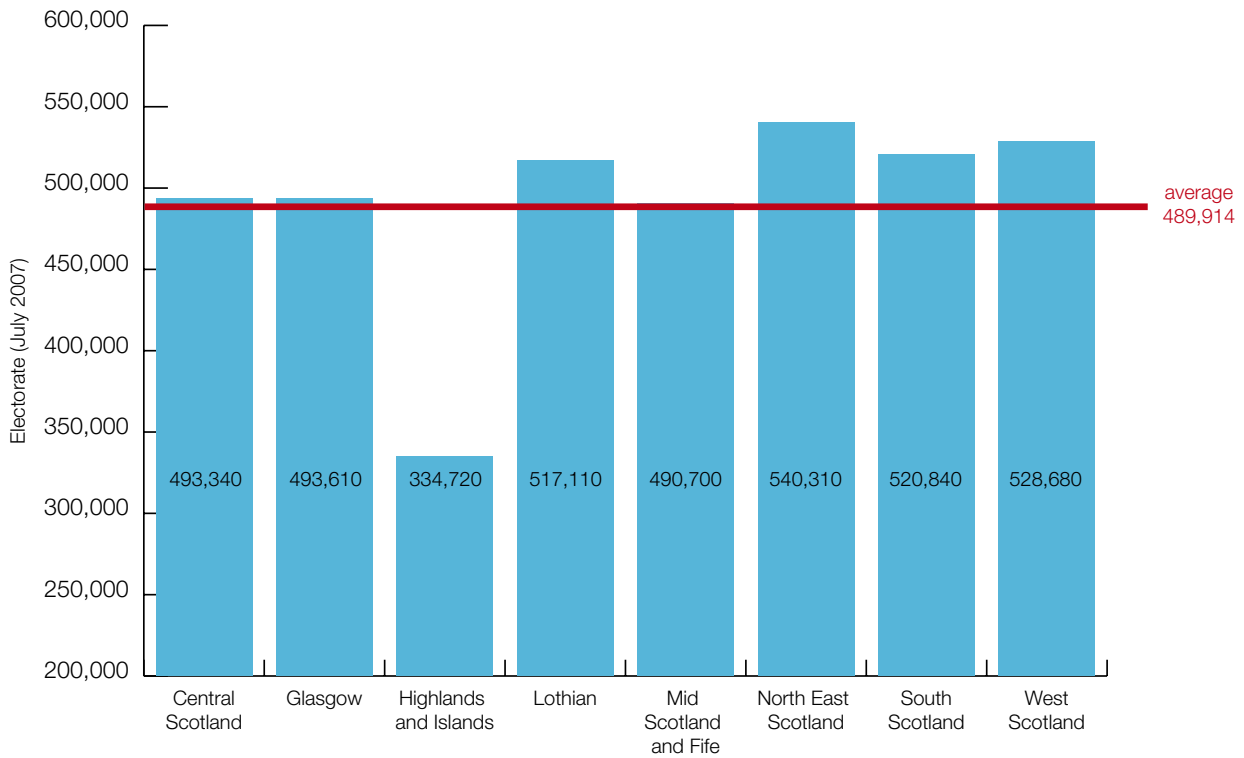

29. Our discussion and conclusions are recorded in the minutes of our meeting of 15 February 2010.

Final Recommendations

30. We adopted our Revised Recommendations, incorporating the minor amendment discussed in paragraph 28, as our Final Recommendations for regions. Details of the recommended regions are in Figures F.1, F.2 and F.3.
31. Figure F.8 shows the electorates of the recommended regions relative to the average electorate of the 8 regions.
