REDACTION

I hope to send you a final draft of the UKOOG fact book tomorrow

This will form part of the redesigned website which will start to filter through early October

We will also issue the Facebook to interested parties

Hello Ken

Grateful if you could update me on this. I had understood that there was a plan to produce factsheets, make your content more accessible, and have it checked over by independent scientists. We are putting together improved comms plans here and knowing what else there is and what is likely to change is very helpful to us in this.
