

DNA Database Ethics Group Recruitment Campaign

Members for the National DNA Database Ethics Group – Ref HOSRS4

The NDNADEG is an advisory Non-Departmental Public Body (NDPB) established to provide independent ethical advice to Home Office Ministers on the operation and practice of the National DNA database.

The Home Office is seeking to appoint 7 members to the National DNA Database Ethics Group (NDNADEG).

We welcome applicants with experience in fields related to the group's work, such as diversity issues, human rights law, policy development, psychology and medicine.

Members will need to commit 4 days a year to the role, though some additional work may be required between meetings.

Closing date for receipt of applications is Friday 22 November 2013, with interviews for shortlisted candidates to be held on 14, 17, 21, 28 & 30 January 2014.

If you think you have the qualities required and wish to have an applications pack for any of the appointments, please download from the following website:

NDNADEG - <https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/national-dna-database-ethics-group>

Enquiries about these appointments should be made to HOSRSRecruitment@homeoffice.gsi.gov.uk or on:020 7035 3049 (NDNADEG)

All the appointments will be for an initial period of up to three years. The appointments are unremunerated; however there will be reimbursement for travel and subsistence incurred in carrying out their roles.

Applications from Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland would be welcome. The Home Office will not discriminate on grounds of age, disability, gender, gender identity, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sexual orientation, those with caring responsibilities, or any other factor irrelevant to the post. This post is regulated by the Commissioner for Public Appointments.
