Subject Consultation on tobacco packaging - Request for extension for submission [SEC=UNCLASSIFIED]

Dear [REDACTED]

We corresponded earlier this year just after I took over from [REDACTED] - I hope this email finds you well and fully engaged in the plain packaging consultation! We have been watching from a far with much interest.

My Department has coordinated a whole of government submission to the UK Consultation on Standardised Packaging of Tobacco Products which we note is due on 10 July 2012. We are currently going through the clearance process for the submission at a time when several of our key Ministers are absent on leave or work related travel, during a break in the Parliamentary sitting period.

I am sure that our Minister for Health, The Hon Tanya Plibersek MP, would welcome the opportunity to personally sign off on the Submission, if at all possible. To achieve this, we will require an extension, due to her short absence. Accordingly, would you or the relevant area responsible for the consultation, be willing to approve a two week extension until Tuesday 24 July? Alternately, can you suggest a timeframe that would be acceptable?

I am most grateful for your consideration, [REDACTED]. Please let me know if it is more appropriate for me direct my request elsewhere.

Kind regards,

[REDACTED]

Subject: Consultation on tobacco packaging published today in the United Kingdom [SEC=No Protective Marking]

I am writing to let you know that a consultation on tobacco packaging has been published today in the United Kingdom.

The consultation is titled "Consultation on the standardised packaging of tobacco products" and is available on the Department of Health's website at:

http://consultations.dh.gov.uk/tobacco/standardised-packaging-of-tobacco-products/consult_view

The Secretary of State for Health's written ministerial statement to Parliament is available on Parliament's website at:

http://www.parliament.uk/documents/commons-vote-office/April_2012/16-04-12/7-Health-Tobacco-Packaging-Consultation.pdf

The Government has an open mind at this stage about introducing standardised packaging. Through the consultation, the Government wants to understand whether there is evidence to demonstrate that the standardised packaging of tobacco products would have an additional public health benefit, over and above existing tobacco control initiatives. The consultation asks whether standardised packaging could improve public health by:

- reducing the appeal of tobacco products to consumers;
- increasing the effectiveness of health warnings on the packaging of tobacco products;
- reducing the ability of tobacco packaging to mislead consumers about the harmful effects of smoking; and
- having a positive effect on smoking-related attitudes, beliefs, intentions and behaviours, particularly among children and young people.

Through the consultation, the Government is also interested in exploring whether there might be other implications if standardised packaging requirements were introduced, including any potential effect on the illicit tobacco market.

To inform responses to this consultation and any subsequent policy-making, the Department of Health commissioned a systematic review of the evidence on plain tobacco packaging. The review was supported through the Public Health Research Consortium (PHRC), a network of researchers funded by the Department of Health's Policy Research Programme. The review was undertaken by academics at the University of Stirling, the University of Nottingham and the Institute of Education, London. The resulting report has been peer-reviewed in accordance with the Department of Health's Research Governance Framework and is available on the PHRC's website at:

http://phrc.lshtm.ac.uk/project_2011-2016_006.html

The consultation will be open for responses from 16 April to 10 July 2012. The Government encourages any person, business or organisation with an interest to respond.

Any decisions to take further policy action on tobacco packaging will be taken only after full consideration is given to consultation responses, evidence and other relevant information.

Please feel free to copy this email to others that may be interested.

Best wishes,
