CHILD SUPPORT AGENCY QUARTERLY SUMMARY OF STATISTICS

Introduction

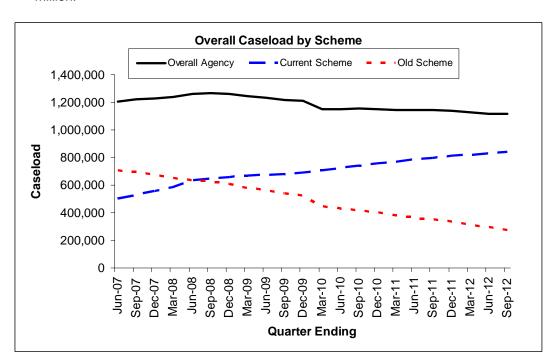

The Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) is responsible for the child maintenance system in Great Britain. It funds information and support for separating parents and runs the statutory child maintenance schemes, currently operated through the Child Support Agency (CSA).

DWP assumed responsibility for the CSA from the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission on the 1 August 2012, following an announcement on 14 October 2010 that the Commission would become an executive agency of DWP as part of the Public Bodies Reform. The Commission had responsibility for the CSA between the 1 November 2008 and the 31 July 2012, prior to that DWP had responsibility for the CSA.

The figures presented include cases managed off system.

Main Findings

 At the end of September 2012, the CSA live and assessed caseload stood at 1.11 million.

- In the quarter ending September 2012, 80.0% of all cases in which maintenance was due had either received maintenance via the CSA collection service, or had a maintenance direct arrangement in place.
- In the quarter to September 2012, maintenance had been collected or arranged by the CSA via the statutory maintenance service on behalf of 899,400 children.
- In the quarter to September 2012, the CSA collected or arranged £305.6m in child maintenance (regular and arrears), of which £28.1m was arrears. In the year to September 2012, the CSA collected or arranged £1,204.5m in child maintenance (regular and arrears), of which £113.2m was arrears.

^{2.} Certain Social Media sites have been advertising alternative numbers for contacting the Child Support Agency. This has resulted in a greater number of calls being received on lines that are not resourced to cope with customer demand, and the dip in performance is attributable to this issue. A solution has been implemented which should bring performance back to expected levels next quarter.

Notes to Editors

The Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) is responsible for the child maintenance system in Great Britain. It funds information and support for separating parents and runs the statutory child maintenance schemes, currently operated through the Child Support Agency (CSA).

DWP assumed responsibility for the CSA from the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission on the 1 August 2012, following an announcement on 14 October 2010 that the Commission would become an executive agency of DWP as part of the Public Bodies Reform. The Commission had responsibility for the CSA between the 1 November 2008 and the 31 July 2012, prior to that DWP had responsibility for the CSA.

This publication, produced in conjunction with DWP Information, Governance and Security Directorate, contains the most up-to-date tables and breakdowns on the CSA's two existing statutory child maintenance schemes.

The data covers the periods when DWP had responsibility for the CSA, and when the Commission had responsibility. The data also covers the period both before and after the removal of the compulsion on parents with care who are claiming income based benefits to use the CSA to collect or arrange maintenance payments. The change, which came into force on 27th October 2008, affects CSA clients who can now choose to make private maintenance arrangements with the non resident parent.

After this date, some parents with care have opted to end their child support claim with CSA. This can be seen as a fall in overall caseload after October 2008.

Changes in this QSS

There are no changes in this QSS.

Previously it was announced that we intended to publish additional tables and breakdowns to increase understanding of the CSA's collections and arrears.

Work is ongoing to develop and finalise proposals and additional data will be published when it is considered appropriate to do so.
