Dear Sirs,

Long Term Storage of Nuclear Waste

I live
following reasons:-

I object to the proposals for the

1. The Government was originally making proposals without any proper geological survey. No country in the world was considering such a plan.
2. The engineering techniques for making the deposits safe in perpetuity, do not yet exist.
3. There is the prospect of a new method of utilising highly active waste to create power, which have the prospect of reducing the half life to a limited number of years. This is a worldwide undertaking, it would be wonderful if the UK made the progress but this solution will happen in a foreseeable time frame.
4. The way the Government set up the inquiry promised to respect Localism. Surely we can trust the Government to honour its commitments.

Yours faithfully
