To Members of the MRWS team

I endorse the decision by the Cumbria County Council to refuse to go ahead with the proposals for an underground repository as outlined in the MRWS consultation document and public meetings held in 2012.

The DECC and the NDA should devote all their efforts to procuring a safe interim storage facility of nuclear waste at Sellafield. In addition a new and more independent consultation should be set up to find a suitable safe location for a longer term proposal for safe storage..

Until an independent national geological survey is undertaken to provide some firm scientific answers to any proposals for nuclear waste storage, no further attempts to persuade volunteering authorities that their area is safe should be undertaken. Previous attempts to put volunteerism before 'safe site location' have failed and is on this point that the previous consultation was flawed.

As a resident of Cockermouth I have a keen personal interest in the outcome of any future proposals and will be listening to and participating in the debate as it unfolds through public meetings, the press and scientific papers.
