BIS has delivered and continues to deliver significant reductions in regulatory burdens on business. BIS closed its One-in, One-out (OIOO) account with a credit of £131.89m. This covered regulations brought in from January 2011 to December 2012. We have risen to the challenge of One-In, Two-Out (OITO), and taken action that is having a real impact on business, including through our engagement with the Red Tape Challenge and Focus on Enforcement programmes.

BIS De-regulation in action

Simple Accounting for Micro Businesses: the Government has made use of exemptions offered in the Micros Directive to greatly reduce the financial reporting obligations on micro-entities.<sup>1</sup> By maximising the available thresholds<sup>2</sup> used to define a micro-entity we have provided 1.4m companies with the choice of preparing and filing simple statutory financial statements, often referred to as the 'annual accounts'. Since the regulations came into force a year ago, over 9,500 companies have taken advantage of this option.

Reduced financial reporting and audit burdens: the EU's new Accounting Directive introduced changes to the financial reporting framework for all limited liabilities companies in the EU. This Directive has offered BIS the opportunity to further simplify and reduce the reporting obligations for small companies in the UK. We consulted on our approach to implementing the Directive into UK company law, and subject to Parliament's approval, all small companies will be able to report under a less onerous financial reporting regime if they wish. In addition, by maximising the permitted size thresholds used to define a small company, we will enable around 11,000 additional companies the opportunity to access the small company regime for the first time and remove the obligation to have a statutory audit from around 9,000 companies. Small companies will be able to decide for themselves which level of financial reporting is most appropriate for their business needs.

Orphan Works: a new licensing scheme, launched on 29 October 2014, will now give access to at least 91 million culturally valuable creative works – including diaries, photographs, oral history recordings and documentary films. These works are currently covered by copyright but given rights holders cannot be found by those who need to seek permission to reproduce them, the new scheme allows for a licence to be granted by the Intellectual Property Office so that these works can be reproduced on websites, in books and on TV without breaking the law, while at the same time protecting the rights of the owners so they can be remunerated if they come forward. An EU Directive on orphan works was implemented at the same time which provides an exception to copyright for cultural and heritage organisations to digitise certain works and make them available online for non-commercial use.

Legislative Reform (Patents) Order 2014: this deregulatory LRO was a SNR 8 measure and came into force on 1 October 2014. The change allows companies to use a patented medicine in work they do to provide information to the regulatory authorities and bodies such as the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence. The measure reduces the risk of patent infringement when doing this work and should encourage companies to run clinical trials in the UK.

There a number of employment measures in the Small Business Enterprise and Employment Bill which are currently progressing through Parliament. These include limiting postponements at Employment Tribunals and the introduction of penalties for employers who do not pay Employment Tribunal awards. In addition measures in the Bill will render exclusivity terms in zero hours contracts unenforceable.

Convention on International Interests in Mobile Equipment and the Protocol thereto on matters specific to Aircraft Equipment (Cape Town Convention)

The Government intends to introduce legislation in this Parliament to implement the Convention on International Interests in Mobile Equipment and the Protocol thereto on matters specific to Aircraft Equipment, commonly called the Cape Town Convention, in the UK. This international treaty aims to reduce the cost of raising finance to buy or lease airframes, helicopters and aircraft engines. The legislation will come into force during the SNR 10 period.

Small Business, Enterprise and Employment (SBEE) Bill: “consent to act” for directors and company secretaries

The SBEE Bill, which is currently going through Parliament, will remove the requirement for companies to file a “consent to act” with Companies House for newly appointed directors and company secretaries. We have estimated that this measure will save companies £0.9 million a year. We aim, subject to the will of Parliament, to bring this measure into force on 1 October 2015.

Employment	BIS	To implement, in April 2014, Early Conciliation which makes it mandatory for a claimant to contact Acas before they can lodge a claim with an Employment Tribunal.	Businesses have repeatedly expressed concern that the worry of having to defend a potentially costly Tribunal claim, has an adverse affect on their confidence to hire new staff. The strong emphasis that EC places on resolving disputes outside of Tribunal should go a long way to address those concerns. It is estimated that this will save businesses £24.08 million per year.	01/04/2014	Improve

Employment	BIS	Amendments to collective redundancies rules, 1995, 2006 and 2013: Amending provisions in the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992	The 2013 Amendment strips out gold-plating of the EU Collective Redundancies Directive. This reduces the minimum period before dismissals can take effect, from 90 days to 45 days where 100 or more redundancies are proposed. The changes will mean that employers can restructure more effectively whilst ensuring that employees have access to good quality consultations.
