1. Introduction

This release provides information about the company population in the United Kingdom. A company is defined here as a specific form of Company formed under the Companies Act 2006¹. Companies are registered at Companies House regardless of whether they go on to trade actively. It includes information on the population size and how the population has changed over a calendar month.

The statistics in this release include the total number of incorporated companies, the number newly incorporated, the number of companies that were dissolved, as well as information on company insolvencies. The release focuses on the headline messages for the UK companies (excluding Limited Liability Partnerships), with more information (including Limited Liability Partnerships) contained in the supplementary tables that accompany the release.

Companies House is currently reviewing its statistics. The review has led to the changes to this release, which brings together the monthly Company Register statistics and workload statistics published on Companies House website. Companies House would welcome any comments on the changes to the releases.

Key Points

- In the United Kingdom in June, there were 46,888 Incorporations and 31,123 dissolutions causing the number of companies on the Total Register to reach 3,307,118.
- March and April tend to mark the annual peak for new company incorporations, whereas dissolutions vary little between months. The incorporation peak is associated with the time of the year (seasonality) and the seasonal effects are not removed from the statistics; users should interpret these statistics with this in mind.

- Between 1979 and 2014², incorporations have increased from 66,500 to 533,000 per 12 months and dissolutions from 25,700 to 332,200 per 12 months. Over the same period, the number of incorporated companies on the Total and Effective Registers have increased by over 2 million.
- In the UK in June 2014, there were 1,573 company liquidations and 284 insolvency proceedings notifications, with 81,738 companies in the process of Insolvency at the end of June 2014.
- During the first quarter (1 April – 30 June 2014) of 2014/15, volumes of dissolved companies increased by 24% when compared to a Q1 2013, from 74,494 in Q1 2013 to 92,515 Q1 2014. Despite this relatively large increase in the number of dissolved companies in Q1, the proportion of companies being removed from the register in a rolling 12 month period has changed little, increasing by 0.4 percentage points, from 10.2% in the period April 13 to March 14 to 10.6% in July 13 to June 14.

² Reporting periods from 1986/87 to 2013/14 are reporting financial years (1 April - 31 March). Earlier years 1979 - 1986 are reporting calendar years (1 Jan - 31 Dec).

2. Incorporated companies

In the United Kingdom in June, there were 46,888 incorporations and 31,123 dissolutions causing the number of companies on the Total Register—including those in the process of dissolution or liquidation (279,496)—to reach 3,307,118.

This was an increase of 16,205 driven by changes in England and Wales (15,147), with changes in Northern Ireland and Scotland adding 1,058 companies. The Effective register, which excludes those in the process of liquidation or dissolution, stood at 3,027,622 at the end of the month.

Change in the Total Register,
April 2011 - June 2014, UK (Chart 2)

- UK Total Register size

- Companies dissolved

During the first quarter (1 April – 30 June 2014) of 2014/15, volumes of dissolved companies increased by 24% when compared to a Q1 2013, from 74,494 in Q1 2013 to 92,515 Q1 2014. Each month within the quarter has seen an increase on last year April +47.9%; May +11.3%; June +19.7%) with the largest annual increase concentrated in April. The annual change in April's dissolutions is in part due to the relatively low number of dissolutions in April 2013. Despite this relatively large increase in the number of dissolved companies in Q1, the proportion of companies being removed from the register in a rolling 12 month period has changed little, increasing by 0.4 percentage points, from 10.2% in the period April 13 to March 14 to 10.6% in July 13 to June 14.

March and April tend to mark the annual peak for company incorporations. Historically, on average 8.2 per cent of incorporations occur in June. Dissolutions remain relatively stable over the course of the year. The number of incorporations and dissolutions fluctuate annually, but the number of each has generally been increasing over time. The numbers of incorporations and dissolutions in a year have seen large increases between January 1979 and March 14: Incorporations have increased from 66,500 to 533,000 and dissolutions from 25,700 to 332,200¹.

The growth in incorporated companies

Between 1979 and 2014, the Total and the Effective register have increased by over 2 million companies. Over this time, the Total register has increased annually for 31 of the 35 years. Over the same period, the Effective register has increased annually for 29 of the last 35 years. The most recent decline in the Great Britain Effective register occurred in 2008-2009 (157,700) and a year later for the Great Britain Total register (128,300). 2009-2010 was a year of significant change for the Register:

- the Northern Ireland Register was included to create a UK Register;
- there was a change in the administrative system that forms the register; and,
- there was a purge to remove companies that had spent an extended period in the process of dissolution or liquidation.

These changes may have had an impact on the size of the Total and Effective Register.

Company insolvencies

In June 2014, there were 1,573 company liquidations in the UK. Almost half (44.6%, 702) of these liquidations were creditors' voluntary liquidations. In addition, there were 284 insolvency proceedings notifications, of which 34.9% (99) had administrators appointed closing the month with 81,738 companies in the UK that were in the process of insolvency. More detail about insolvency statistics is provided by the Insolvency Service³, including information on company liquidations and individual insolvencies.

A range of other statistics are included in the tables that accompany this release, including:

- Companies House workload statistics:

Coverage

This release provides information on the size and change of the company population and the changes that have occurred within the month. The release includes statistics for the United Kingdom, England & Wales, Northern Ireland and Scotland. A company is a specific legal form of business that is registered at Companies House. The statistics do not include information on sole proprietorship, partnerships and charities.

Use and users

Companies House statistics are used extensively by government, the public, public bodies and businesses. For example, they are used by:

- government in understanding the likely impact of policy changes and monitoring the impact of economic changes on companies;
- businesses in understanding their market share and planning marketing strategies;
- by banks in developing an understanding of their customer base;
- by foreign firms in making UK location decisions;
- by academics to inform research into businesses at local and national level; and,
- by a range of public bodies in decision making and in evaluating business-related policies.

Quality

These statistics are taken from the Companies House Register. Companies House has strict quality and audit procedures around making amendments, additions and removals to the Register. The compilation of these statistics has been quality assured.

These statistics are not seasonally adjusted and should be interpreted with this in mind. To remove seasonal effects, we recommend that users make comparisons with the same period twelve months ago.

Coherence

This section provides brief information on how these statistics relate to selected business statistics. More detailed information can be found in 'Guide to the Business Population and Demographics statistics publications'¹, which explores the similarities and differences between business statistics. It focuses on the differences between estimates of the business population and includes a range of related statistics.

Company incorporations and business creation.

There is a range of official data sources available to monitor business creation, but each has a slightly different coverage. Taken together, they provide a good overall picture of the trend in business creation activity. Individually, each source will be suitable for different specific purposes. Sources include:

- Business Demography², which provides information for businesses registering for VAT or PAYE. An annual release that provides information on Business 'births' defined as new registrations for VAT or PAYE. Business Demography does not capture the smallest, non-employed business start-ups which do not register for VAT or PAYE.
- Companies House Incorporations — new company registrations, including those not actively trading. Incorporations are one source of statistics on business creation. They provide information on newly formed companies that are added to the Companies House Register.

Incorporated companies can go on to trade actively, but some will be dormant companies that do not trade actively. Companies House Incorporations do not capture business start-ups of other business types such as those starting up as an unincorporated sole proprietorship or partnership.

Business population

There are a number of official statistics that provide information on the size of the business population. Each source will be suitable for different specific purposes. Sources include:

- Business Population Estimates³ provide the only estimate of the total UK business population. It includes information on incorporated companies and unincorporated sole proprietorships and partnerships.
- UK Business⁴ provides more detail on the business population that has registered for VAT or PAYE.
- Companies House provides information on the total number of incorporated companies that are filing documents to Companies House. Two figures are provided: the 'Total' Register which includes companies that are trading, dormant and in the process of liquidation or dissolution; and, the 'Effective' Register which includes those trading and dormant, but excludes those companies in the process of liquidation or dissolution, but includes companies in receivership.

Company insolvency and company dissolutions

Company insolvency proceedings are formal measures taken when a company becomes insolvent¹. The Insolvency Service² reports the most complete picture on Insolvency statistics, including company liquidations and individual insolvencies, as it has policy responsibility for all forms of corporate insolvency in England and Wales. Compulsory liquidations published in this release differ from those published by the Insolvency Service. The Insolvency Service's compulsory liquidations' statistics are sourced from their administrative systems. All other forms of company insolvency published by the Insolvency Service are on the same basis as those published by Companies House.

There are many different types of company insolvencies including compulsory liquidations and creditors' voluntary liquidations (both of which are procedures resulting in the final winding-up of a company); and receiverships, administrations and company voluntary arrangements (which are aimed at company rescue and/or restructuring). Another form of company liquidation, members' voluntary liquidation, is not included in the Insolvency Service's statistics, as it does not involve insolvency.

Dissolution is the act of removing an incorporated company from the Companies House Register. There are many ways in which a company can be dissolved; these include the final outcome of the insolvency procedures³. Once a company has been dissolved, it is removed from the Companies House Register and can only be restored under certain circumstances.
