Information request

Please tell me how many visits to the SSAC home page on the gov.uk website have been recorded for each month since 1st January 2014?

Response

The Social Security Advisory Committee's Gov.uk homepage went live officially on 1 July, at which point the Committee's previous website was 'switched off' and archived. The number of 'unique page views' (visits during which the home page was viewed at least once) during the month of July was 996.

A transitional page for the Committee existed on Gov.uk before migration of our website had been completed. The number of visits to the transitional page during that period is set out below:

January	275
February	216
March	292
April	278
May	230
June	190
