Dear Sir,

We are writing in the first instance to voice and give our support to our Pub Company, Punch Taverns.

In the passed 10 years or so that we have been Punch Taverns tenants we have found them to be very supportive and understanding in their approach to helping us run our business.

Our experience has been enhanced by our relationship with our business manager who has been our main link between Punch Taverns and ourselves providing support and back up if and when we needed it.

Additionally we agree in principle to the tied model for beers as we are allowed to buy other products like wines spirits soft drinks and cider from any supplier.

For new tenants the Pub company model serves as a unique way of "starting up" in business and we feel that further regulations will damage future relations between tenants and parent pub companies.

Yours sincerely
