To whom it may concern

I am writing to you as I am very worried over the impact on my business the potential introduction of a new legislation, to govern My pub company Admiral would have.

I am currently a pub tenant for Admiral Taverns, and

I have a very good relationship with Admiral and My BDM and they have been very supportive of me and treated me fairly.

I run my pub with the full support of my BDM and without her support and the support of Admiral I would not be in the position to be running my own pub, due to not having the funds to purchase a free hold.

I work in an industry that is already heavily regulated and do not see the need for further legislation that will undoubtedly end up harming my business.

People do not usually take the time to write if they are happy with something, but I feel very strongly about this and the harm it will do to not only my business but the potential harm to the relationship I have with My BDM and Admiral. I currently have a very good relationship with Admiral who have treated me fairly and have been of a massive support, I would hate for this to end.

Yours Sincerely
