The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between

The People of the United Kingdom
Her Majesty's Government

— and —

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families. They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles Of The Armed Forces Corporate Covenant

1.1 We XRE Ltd will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved.

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 XRE Ltd recognises the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- Promoting the fact that we are an armed forces-friendly organisation. We will publicise our Corporate Covenant commitments on our website and we will display the Corporate Covenant logo.
- Seeking to support the employment of veterans young and old. We will provide the candidate with professional advice throughout the recruitment process with the aim of securing employment. We will submit all veteran applicants who meet the selection criteria in a job specification to our clients.
- Endeavouring to offer a degree of flexibility in granting leave for Service spouses and partners before, during and after a partner's deployment. We will sympathetically review requests for holidays before, during or after a partner's overseas deployment, when the Service person has leave to spend with their family.
- Seeking to support our employees who choose to be members of the Reserve forces. We will accommodate reservists' training commitments wherever possible. We will wherever possible accommodate the mobilisation of our reservists if they are required to deploy. We will encourage any reservists in our business to participate in Uniform to Work Day.

- We will actively support the Royal Navy and Royal Marines Charity, the Army Benevolent Fund, the RAF Benevolent fund and Help for Heroes by displaying them on our website. We will endeavour to take part in and support fund raising events each year to raise awareness and financial support for the above and other Services charities.

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature and/or on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
