

River Thames – temporary lock closure

Marlow Lock

07:30 to 12:00 on Wednesday 26 November
2014

Investigation of the hydraulic cylinders

In order to minimise the length of the planned full closure in early 2015, our contractors need to carry out investigative works to the hydraulic cylinders on the lock gates. To allow us to do this, between 07:30 and 12:00 Wednesday 26 November 2014 boat passage will not be possible through the Marlow Lock.

Note: This work will only take place if the red strong stream warning boards currently on display at Marlow have been removed. If the red strong stream warning boards are still on display on Wednesday 26 November this work will be rescheduled and we will issue a further notice advising of the rescheduled date.

We apologise for any inconvenience this short period closure causes and thank you for your patience during this time.
