The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between

The People of the United Kingdom
Her Majesty's Government

– and –

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families.

They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles Of The Armed Forces Corporate Covenant

1.1 We at Quadratek will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved.

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 Quadratek recognises the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- promoting the fact that we are an armed forces-friendly organisation;

We will proudly display the Corporate Covenant logo on our website www.quadratek.net and through the use of social media drive awareness to show that members of the Armed Forces Community are welcome customers

- seeking to support the employment of veterans young and old;

We will always consider veterans young and old to promote the benefits of employing veterans on a national and regional basis, offering support to veterans in employment who may face challenges due to health or ability

- striving to support the employment of Service spouses and partners;

We would welcome applications from spouses/partners if they meet the selection criteria laid out in a job advert

We have a sister recruitment agency that is an armed forces friendly organisation

- endeavouring to offer a degree of flexibility in granting leave for Service spouses and partners before, during and after a partner's deployment;

We consider requests for leave or flexible working during or after a family member has been deployed overseas when the service member has leave to spend time with his/her family

- seeking to support our employees who choose to be members of the Reserve forces, including by accommodating their training and deployment where possible;

We will accommodate training commitments wherever possible and consider flexible working arrangements where appropriate

- Additional commitments Quadratek will make

We will offer a discount on a case by case basis to veteran owned businesses

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature and/or on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
