(1) These figures represent the number of families achieving crime/anti social behaviour/education outcomes as defined within the Troubled Families programme Financial Framework (March 2012).

(2) These figures represent the number of families in which one adult in the household has moved off out of work benefits and into continuous employment as defined within the Troubled Families programme Financial Framework (March 2012).

(3) These figures take into account of all results for turning around families as claimed by local authorities up to the end of March 2014. This combines all crime/anti social behaviour/education results and all continuous employment results since the start of the programme. This does not include progress to work outcomes.

(4) These figures represent the number of families achieving the progress to work outcome, as defined within the Troubled Families programme Financial Framework (March 2012).
