

River Thames – notice of event

Iffley Lock to Folly Bridge

Saturday 19 September 2015 – 10.00 to 18.00

Isis Sculls head race

Directions for navigation and general information during this event:

This stretch of the river will be very busy on Saturday 19 September as City of Oxford Rowing Club will be holding their annual head race, the Isis Sculls event.

Four divisions of racing will take place at 10.30, 12.30, 14.30 and 16.30.

The normal rules of navigation will apply to both racing boats and normal river traffic. All those navigating this reach between the above times should pay particular attention to byelaws 24 – 42 of The Thames Navigation Licensing and General Byelaws 1993.

The regatta marshals will be wearing high visibility jackets. Please pay attention to any advice they may offer as they are acting for the safety of both the rowers and other river users.

Whilst racing is in progress, the marshals may request boaters to moor at one of the designated mooring points and wait, for a period of no longer than 15 minutes until the current race has finished, before proceeding up or downstream through the course. If you are able to wait for the current race to finish before proceeding with your journey this will be greatly appreciated by the competitors and organisers.
