The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between

The People of the United Kingdom
Her Majesty's Government

– and –

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families.

They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles Of The Armed Forces Corporate Covenant

1.1 We Lowell Group will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 Lowell Group recognises the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- promoting the fact that we are an armed forces-friendly organisation through our internal communication channels and adding the corporate covenant logo to our recruitment website.
- supporting our customers in the armed forces through providing a sensitive and bespoke service based on their individual needs.
- seeking to support the employment of veterans young and old by advising our recruit partners of our commitment and working with the career transition partnership
- striving to support the employment of Service spouses and partners by following our inclusive recruitment practices.
- endeavouring to offer a degree of flexibility in granting leave for Service spouses and partners before, during and after a partner's deployment by working with impacted team members on an individual basis to understand their requirements.
- seeking to support our employees who choose to be members of the Reserve forces, including accommodating their training and deployment where possible, working with impacted team members on an individual basis to understand their requirements and the use of our attendance policy.

- offering support to our local cadet units, either in our local community or in local schools, where possible through supporting team member fundraising.
- aiming to actively participate in Armed Forces Day by promoting through our internal communication channels.

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our internal communications and our recruitment website.
