

Civil Service

The Reserves and the Civil Service

Did you know?

- Joining the Reserves gives you the chance to learn new - and enhance existing - skills including leadership, communication, team work, decision making, working under pressure and delivering at pace.
- The training, skills and experience you gain in the Reserves are highly relevant to your role in the Civil Service and can be used to improve your performance in your day to day job.
- There is more to being a Reservist than combat roles with many different and exciting roles available across the three services.

Search Reserves
or contact your Reserves Champion

Civil Service

The Reserves and the Civil Service

Did you know?

- Much of the training you receive as a Reservist can be accredited by the Chartered Management Institute, City and Guilds and the Institute of Leadership and Management.
- Within most departments you will receive a minimum of 15 days special paid leave for training.
- You will be paid on top of your Civil Service salary as well as being eligible for a annual tax-exempt bounty on completion of your training commitment.
- You don't have to be super fit to join the Reserves. Many roles need only a moderate level of fitness and through progressive training you will improve your fitness over time.