

Record transfer report: Spring 2015

The National Archives is required to monitor and report to the Lord Chancellor on compliance with the 20-year rule. This survey provides public transparency, by department, of volumes of records awaiting processing or transfer each year. It does not include records that may be placed in local places of deposit

Please respond on behalf of your department/organisation to this record transfer report on or before 12 June 2015. Data is to be collected and published twice a year, in the spring and the autumn.

Reported record holdings and transfer plans are published on The National Archives' website: <http://nationalarchives.gov.uk/about/record-transfer-report.htm> .

As the results will be published you may decide to link to this report on your own web pages and offer a more detailed explanation as you see necessary.

Questions marked with an asterisk (*) are mandatory.

Please discuss this return with your information management consultant at The National Archives or email information.management@nationalarchives.gsi.gov.uk.

Only complete this survey if you have records dated up to 1989
