

Freedom of Information request 233/2014

Received 16 January 2014

Published

Information request

We are doing a research to find out at what age train conductors and train heads (drivers) can retire in your Country . Would you please assist by providing the information or if we are writing to the wrong address, would you please let us know who we can direct the question?

DWP response

The age at which private pension scheme benefits can be accessed are dependent on the rules of individual schemes.

State Pension can be accessed at an individual's State Pension age. The State Pension age is changing, and is legislated to complete its rise to 68 for men and women from 2046. Further details on the State Pension and State Pension age is available at: <https://www.gov.uk/changes-state-pension>