Introduction

What is Child Benefit?

Child Benefit is a payment that you can claim for your child. It is usually paid every four weeks but in some cases can be paid weekly. The payment can be claimed by anyone who qualifies.

As of January 2013, claimants may be liable to a tax charge called the 'High Income Child Benefit charge'. Being liable for this charge does not affect a child's entitlement but any Child Benefit recipient is liable to repay some or all of their Child Benefit back if they or their partner has an individual income of more than £50,000 per year. For every additional £100 over the £50,000 threshold that an individual earns, the tax charge due increases by 1%. This means that any recipient whose income (or partner's income) is over £60,000 will be liable to repay their entire Child Benefit entitlement. Alternatively, claimants affected by the High Income Child Benefit charge have the option to opt-out of receiving Child Benefit, thereby ceasing their payments.

Child Benefit is paid to those responsible for children (aged under 16) or qualifying young people. The latter includes:

- a) those in full-time non-advanced education or (from April 2006) on certain approved vocational training courses and who are under 19, or are aged 19 and have been on the same course since their 19th birthdays. (Note: those reaching 19 up to 9 April 2006 ceased to qualify on their 19th birthdays);
- b) those entered for future external examinations, or are in the period between leaving education (or exams finishing) and the week containing the first Monday in September (or similar dates after Easter and in early January, if earlier), and are not in work (there are slight variations for Scotland);
- c) those aged under 18 who have moved directly from full-time education to being registered for work or training with the Careers service or with Connexions.

You can get Child Benefit even if your child doesn't live with you. However, if they live with someone else, you can only get Child Benefit if:

- a) you pay towards the upkeep of your child
- b) what you pay is at least the same as the amount of Child Benefit you get for your child
- c) the person bringing up your child is not getting Child Benefit for them - if you and another person both claim Child Benefit for the same child, only one of you can get it

You can also claim Child Benefit for a child even if you're not their parent, but you have to be responsible for them to qualify.

Awards are also subject to residence criteria being satisfied.

There are two separate amounts, with a higher amount for your eldest (or only) child and a lower amount for each of your other children.

For further information about who can claim please refer to the HMRC website:

What does this publication tell me?

This publication includes details of the number of families claiming Child Benefit as at 31st August 2014, the number and ages of children within those families and their geographical location. Population counts at Country and English Region level are shown, as well as by Local Authority and Parliamentary Constituency (Westminster and Scottish) in the United Kingdom. This publication also contains details of the number of families that had opted out of receiving Child Benefit as at August 2014, the number and ages of children within those families and their geographical location. Again population counts broken down by Country and English Region, Local Authority and Parliamentary Constituency are provided.

The statistics are as close to real-time as possible and represent the complete picture as at the 31st August, including back-dated awards pertaining to new-births. As these statistics are classified as National Statistics the exact date of publication is pre-announced at least a month in advance with the month published a year ahead in the previous publication.

This publication includes detailed analysis of the Child Benefit population as at 31st August 2014, as well as headline time series figures for each August back to 2003, this is because HM Revenue & Customs took over the responsibility for Child Benefit from April 2003.

Previously and up until April 2003, Child Benefit was administered by the Department of Social Security (now the Department for Work and Pensions), statistics for previous years are available on the DWP website:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/department-for-work-pensions/about/statistics>

We also publish detailed small area statistics for Great Britain, at Lower Layer Super Out Area (LSOA) for England and Wales, and Data Zone for Scotland. These statistics are based on the same source data and totals for higher level geographies will match up. The statistics are available with the National Statistics release of these statistics. Currently the small area data is not labelled as National Statistics and appears on the HMRC website and on the Neighbourhood Statistics website.

Further geographical statistics, down to Lower Layer Super Output Area (LSOA) in England and Wales, Data Zones in Scotland and Output Areas in Northern Ireland are available from the following sites:

- Office for National Statistics: Neighbourhood Statistics
- Scottish Government: Scottish Neighbourhood Statistics
- Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency (NISRA): Northern Ireland Neighbourhood Information Service

Who might be interested?

The statistics contained in this publication will be of interest for anyone that is looking for the latest possible data on Child Benefit. Specifically, there are statistics on the number of children, by age band, in each geographical area. These statistics may be of interest to academics, think tanks as well as Local Government and might be used for comparison to comparable Tax Credits statistics.

Although the number of families that have opted out and the children within those families are included within this publication, we are unable to provide figures on those that have chosen not to claim Child Benefit due to the introduction of the High income Child Benefit charge. This means that the Child Benefit population (up to 16) may not continue to be as useful a proxy for the child population as a whole in future years.

What do the tables contain?

At end-August 2014 there were 7.46 million families, responsible for 12.96 million children and qualifying young people ("children"), receiving Child Benefit. The figures cover backdated awards, and so include all awards now reckoned to have entitlement spanning that date.

Table 1 shows the high level time series for August 2003 to August 2014. It shows the number of families in receipt of Child Benefit in each Country and English Region, as well as the number of children.

Table 2 shows further breakdowns of these numbers by the number of children within each family, and separately the age bands of the children within the awards.

Table 3 provides the first detailed view of August 2014 statistics. This table shows the headline figures for the number of children in each family, as well as the number of children broken down by age band, in each Country and English Region.

Table 4 provides a detailed breakdown of the counts of the number of children by individual ages for each Country and English Region.

Tables 5, 6 and 6a provide the same headline figures of the number of families receiving Child Benefit by the number of children, and the number of children broken down by age band for each Local Authority (Table 5), Westminster Parliamentary Constituency (Table 6) and Scottish Parliamentary Constituency (Table 6a).

Table 7 shows the number of children by individual ages for each local authority in the United Kingdom. We previously published this data in a supplementary release which is now available within this publication.

Please note that the above tables will also include some claimants that are subject to the High Income Child Benefit charge and have chosen to continue receiving Child Benefit and to repay their liability through an income tax charge, as such claimants are not separately identifiable from unaffected claimants.

However, those that have opted out of receiving Child Benefit can be identified. At end-August 2014 there were 475 thousand families, responsible for 819 thousand children and qualifying young people ("children"), that had opted out of receiving Child Benefit. The figures also cover backdated awards, and so include all awards now reckoned to have opted out of entitlement spanning that date.

Table 8 shows the headline figures for the number of children in each family that had opted out, as well as the number of children broken down by age band, in each Country and English Region.

Table 9 provides a detailed breakdown of the counts of the number of children in families that have opted out of receiving Child Benefit by individual ages for each Country and English Region.

Tables 10, 11 and 11a provide the same headline figures of the number of families that have opted out of receiving Child Benefit by the number of children, and the number of children broken down by age band for each Local Authority (Table 9), Westminster Parliamentary Constituency (Table 10) and Scottish Parliamentary Constituency (Table 10a).

No further breakdowns for opt out figures were possible due to small figures, and some family size categories were aggregated because of this reason.

National Statistics Review

We carried out a formal review of our National Statistics publications, covering both Tax Credits (provisional and finalised) and Child Benefit in 2011.

The Child Benefit Statistics User Consultation ran from 11 July to 30 September 2011 and covered Child Benefit National Statistics and Official Statistics using an on-line survey. A summary of the results from the consultation have been published on the HMRC website:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/child_benefit/review-cb-stats.htm

Following feedback from the consultation, we have introduced a new category in this publication to show the number of families in receipt of CB for four children and five or more children.

Rounding

The figures have been independently rounded to the nearest 5. This can lead to components as shown not summing to totals as shown.

Age bands of data on children

For most tables in this publication, figures showing the age of children for whom CB is claimed have been grouped into four age bands. Figures at a local authority level showing the number of children by single year of age are available in Table 7 and replaces the Supplementary Table publication.

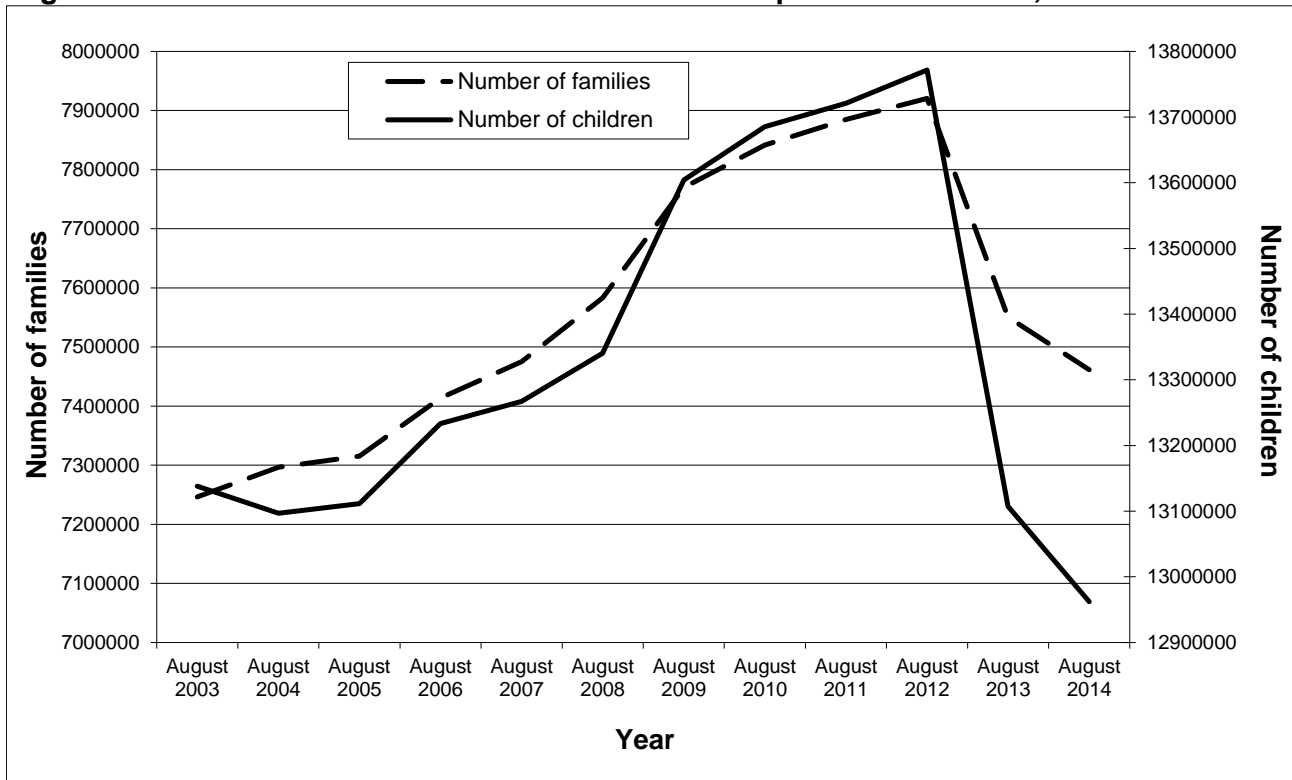

Commentary

Overall Trends in time series of families and children

Ahead of August 2013 there had been significant growth in both the number of families in receipt of Child Benefit and the number of children being claimed for since 2007. The increases between August 2007 and August 2012 across each of the countries of the United Kingdom were between 1% and 7%. However, subsequent to the introduction of the High Income Child Benefit Charge in January 2013, we have seen a decrease for the first time (since HMRC begun producing these statistics) in the number of families in receipt of Child Benefit and the first decrease in the number of children for whom the Child Benefit is being paid since 2004.

The decreases in the number of families and children between 2012 and 2013 and across each of the countries of the United Kingdom are between 1% and 6%. The number of families and children attributed to Foreign and unknown has been decreasing since August 2009 but has been quite volatile across the years, which could be due to inaccuracies in the recorded information and also to the net flow of migrant workers. The affects of the introduction of the High Income Child Benefit Charge are still seen in 2014 statistics. Reductions in the number of claimant families and children are still seen for all countries between 1% and 2%. Foreign and Unknown again decreased by 13%.

In August 2014 there were 7.46 million families, responsible for 12.96 million children and qualifying young people ("children"), receiving Child Benefit (CB), compared with 2013, when there were there were 7.55 million families, responsible for 13.11 million children (Figure 1).

Under UK domestic law a claimant is eligible to receive Child Benefit if they are present and ordinarily resident in the UK. For citizens of other countries (such as the European Economic Area, including A2 and A8 countries) they are able to claim Child Benefit as long as they meet the requirements of the "right to reside" test, which amongst other requirements means that they must generally be in registered or authorised employment (as set out in Home Office transitional regulations), in self-employment or be self-sufficient.

The number of families, regardless of family size, has decreased since August 2013. Despite this decrease, the number of families with one child in 2014 is higher than the number of families with one child in 2008, whereas, the number of families with more than one child in 2014 is lower than in 2003. This is in keeping with the underlying trend of the number of families with one child increasing each year between 2003 and 2012 and the general decline in families with more than one child during the same period. Changes in the size of families in receipt of Child Benefits could be due to qualifying young people staying on in education or just a reflection of the general rise in birth rates over the same period. The number of qualifying young people (children aged 16 and over) decreased by 0.6% between 2013 and 2014 (Figure 4). The average number of children per family in the United Kingdom for which child benefit is paid has reduced each year between 2003 and 2013 (Figure 3). This trend ends in 2014 where the average number of children per family increase from 1.736 in 2013 to 1.737.

In terms of the age distribution of children, the number of children and young people aged 16 to 19 had been increasing steadily for some time and continued to do so up to 2010 but began to decrease slightly in 2011 and 2012. There was also a decrease in this age group between 2013 and 2014 but, as the overall number of children and young people has decreased (and so the numbers of children in the other age categories have also decreased), we cannot say whether this decrease is continuing the trend or due to the policy change that has come into effect since the production of the 2012 statistics- the High Income Child Benefit charge. There was a significant increase in the number of 16-19 year olds between August 2005 and August 2006 following the extension in April 2006 of Child Benefit to qualifying 19 year olds (Figure 4).

Analysis of August 2014 Population

There are higher numbers of children in the North West, London and the South East. (Figure 5)

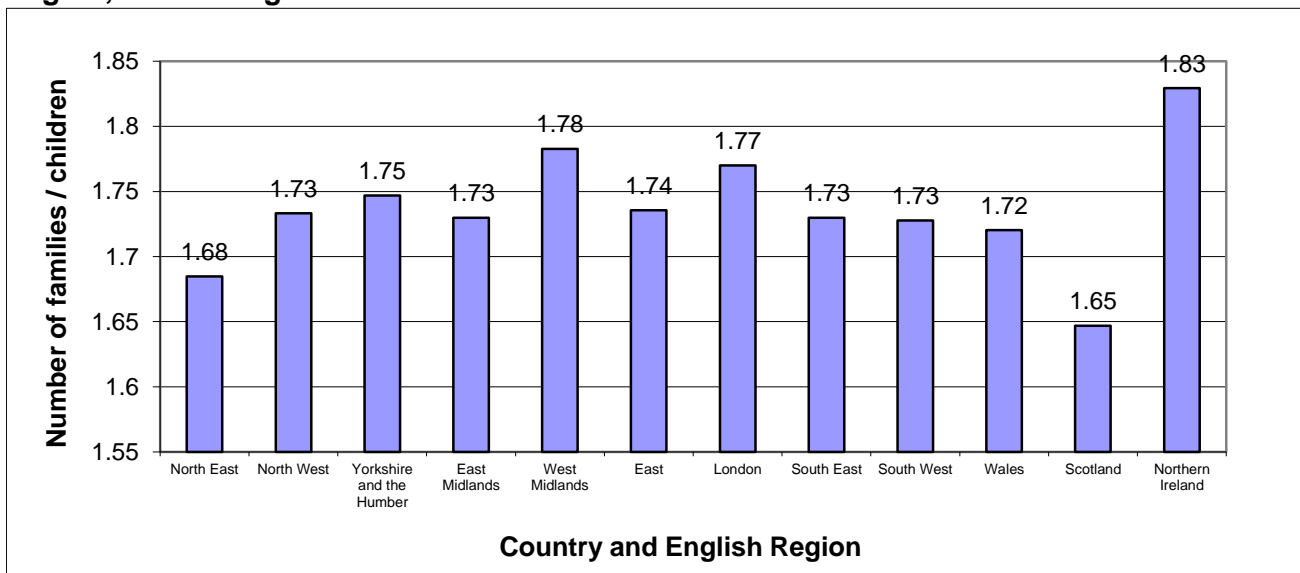

Figure 5: The number of families and children broken down by country and English region, at 31st August 2014

Children aged 16-19 are only included within Child Benefit claims if they meet the eligibility criteria for non-advanced further education or training, therefore you can expect to see the number of children in these categories decline sharply away from the mid-year population projections. This is shown in Figure 7.

(Source data: Child Benefit Statistics Table 4 and Population Projections for UK,ONS)

Despite the number of children for whom Child Benefit was received now being lower than the population projections for all ages due to the overall decrease in children, the distribution of children in receipt of Child Benefit mirrors the mid-year population projections[1]. This is with the exception of 16-19 year olds, for the above mentioned reasons, and for infants under 1 where we know there is a delay in claiming Child Benefit. Both series show the lower volumes of children aged 11 and 12 compared to the other age groups, and the resulting increase in birth rates since 2002.

Families that have opted out of receiving Child Benefit

Within the population of claimants that have opted out of receiving Child Benefit, there are higher numbers of children in the East, London and the South East (Figure 8).

Figure 8: The number of families that have opted out, and the children within those families, broken down by country and region at 31st August 2014

(Source data: Child Benefit Statistics Table 8)

The age distribution of children within families that have opted out of receiving Child Benefit is similar to the age distribution of the children for whom Child Benefit is received. The low number of children under one is likely to be because families subject to the High Income Child Benefit charge, whose first child was aged under one at August 2014, would have had a choice between either registering for Child Benefit and then opting out, or not registering to begin with. These figures suggest that, some of these families may have chosen not to register after learning about the High Income Child Benefit charge. At the other end of the age scale, families with 19 year olds may have been less likely to opt out before August 2014 due to the 19 year olds no longer being in entitlement at the end of the school year anyway (Figure 9). An increase is seen between 17 and 18 year olds following on from a population increase of 17 year olds seen at August 2013.

Appendix A: Background Information

Administrative Data

The data refers to the number of families receiving Child Benefit (CB) (and their eligible dependents) and is derived from two 100% scans from the Child Benefit Computer System (CBCS).

The August 2014 data represents a snapshot at a point in time of all claimants and eligible dependents in the United Kingdom present on the CBCS at 31st August 2014 plus awards for new families and children made by 30th November 2014 and backdated (CB awards can be backdated for up to 3 months). It excludes a small number of cases that are held clerically.

As well as family counts, the number of children in the family and the age of the children are also given. Counts are provided for Countries, English Regions and Local Authorities (LAs).

Although the information is collected for administrative purposes, the data is used for a variety of statistical purposes for example, child population estimations, by HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC), other government departments and relevant stakeholders.

Further information on Child Benefit

Child Benefit (CB) was introduced in 1977. It replaced Family Allowance, which was a benefit payable to families with 2 or more children whereas CB includes all families with 1 child or more.

CB is designed to help with the extra costs of bringing up a child. It is benefit payable to all qualifying parents/guardians in the United Kingdom. From January 2013, if a claimant of CB or their partner has an individual income of more than £50,000 per year, they will be liable to repay some or all of their Child Benefit due to the introduction of the High Income Child Benefit charge. Claimants affected by the High Income Child Benefit charge have the option to opt-out of receiving Child Benefit.

CB is payable to one parent or guardian of all children under 16 years of age other than children in local authority care, and subject to residence conditions. Detailed current eligibility conditions and rules for claiming CB are available from the HMRC website. There is a higher payment for the eldest child and a lower rate for each subsequent child. From 2006-07 new eligibility rules were introduced for families claiming in respect of young persons aged 16 to 19.

A further addition, Child Benefit (Lone Parent), was paid for the eldest or only child of a lone parent up until 1998. Since then, new lone parents are not entitled to this extra benefit. However, those who were in receipt of the Child Benefit (Lone Parent) before this time may continue to receive it.

CB is administered by HMRC (formerly Inland Revenue). Prior to April 2003 CB in England and Wales was administered by the Department of Work and Pensions (DWP).

Data are believed to be of a high standard as they are based on a scan of the computer systems used to administer and pay CB. If anyone attempts to wilfully supply false information, they may be liable to prosecution.

Definitions

Child Benefit is paid to those responsible for children (aged under 16) or qualifying young people. The latter includes:

a) those in full-time non-advanced education or (from April 2006) on certain approved vocational training courses and who are under 19, or are aged 19 and have been on the same course since their 19th birthdays. (Note: those reaching 19 up to 9 April 2006 ceased to qualify on their 19th birthdays);

b) those entered for future external examinations, or are in the period between leaving education (or exams finishing) and the week containing the first Monday in September (or similar dates after Easter and in early January, if earlier), and are not in work (there are slight variations for Scotland);

c) those aged under 18 who have moved directly from full-time education to being registered for work or training with the Careers service or with Connexions.

Full-time non-advanced education: Full-time education is more than 12 hours supervised study a week in normal term-time, not counting breaks for meals and homework.

Non-advanced is not above the Advanced Level of the General Certificate of Education (GCE A-Level) or the Advanced Higher Grade and Higher Grade of the Scottish Certificate of Education (SCE Advanced Highers/ Highers) or SCOTVEC National Certificate/Diploma (ONC/OND) or GNVQ level 3 or equivalent.

Validation and quality assurance processes

Child Benefit data is extracted directly from the Child Benefit Computer System (CBCS) and sent securely and electronically to HMRC. Throughout the transfer process accompanying header and footer records ensure that no records go missing during the extraction process.

When the data is loaded into HMRC's computer environment additional checks are put in place to ensure duplicate records are removed. A further suite of quality assurance takes place to ensure consistent numbers of claimants and children are in receipt of Child Benefit compared with previous data.

Finally the data is cross checked against other administrative sources, notably registrations of newborn children and population estimates compiled by the Office for National Statistics. Quality assurance is carried out at the UK, country, region and local authority level.

Coverage and compilation of the figures

The tables are based on an extract from the Child Benefit Computer System taken on 31st August 2014 and supplemented with additional cases as identified from a further extract on 30th November 2014. This identifies new claims that started between 31st August and 30th November 2014 but are in relation to a child born prior to 31st August 2014.

Geographical allocation

For August 2014, we have remained with the process introduced for August 2007. In publications prior to August 2007 the postcode on the Child Benefit computer system was used wherever possible and, where missing or invalid, was supplemented with postcodes from the previous year.

Due to the increasing demand for low level geographical analysis, greater scrutiny is required when comparing information across different administrative systems. In respect of Child Benefit, as a significant proportion of CB claimants also claim tax credits, it is essential that everything is done to ensure that a family is treated equally within both systems and both sets of small area statistics. From August 2007 we have individually matched the Child Benefit and tax credits data together and in the event that there is a discrepancy we have used the postcode as recorded on the tax credits system in the first instance, and then the postcode as recorded on the Child Benefit system.

At national level this does not have a huge effect, and even down to Local Authority or Parliamentary Constituency level the effect is minimal, but with the increasing demand for very small area statistics, such as Lower-layer Super Output Area (LSOA) and Data Zone (the Scottish equivalent of LSOA), we have done everything we can to ensure that where a family appears in both systems, for the statistics we will be assigning them the same geographical details.

Once the postcode had been identified, the geographical details were obtained from the National Statistics Postcode Look-up (NSPL). This includes the Scottish Parliamentary Constituencies that came into effect in May 2011. England and Wales data represents geographical boundaries derived from Census 2011 data and has been taken from the August 2014 NSPL. Northern Ireland data represents geographical boundaries derived from Census 2001 data, which is still the latest available, and has also been taken from the August 2014 NSPL. Scotland are yet to derive new geographical boundaries based on Census 2011 data, therefore the information for Scotland has been taken from the August 2012 NSPL and represents the latest version of the Census 2001 geographical

Notes:

1. This was payable instead of the standard eldest child rate to most people bringing up children on their own until 6 July 1998. From that date it has continued to be payable to recipients at that date. It is also payable to lone parents who were receiving the lone parent rate of family premium in Income Support or Jobseekers' Allowance and move into work; and lone parents ceasing to receive a "specified" benefit (Child's Special Allowance for the eldest dependent child; the higher rate of Industrial Death Benefit for the child; or an increase for the eldest dependent child with either Widowed Mother's Allowance, War Widow's Pension, Retirement Pension, Industrial Disablement Pension - which includes Unemployability Supplement - or Invalid Care Allowance). In April 2007, this transitionally protected rate of Child Benefit for lone parents was extinguished when the standard rate for the first eldest child increased to £18.10 per week.
