Information Released

I have been advised by our Post Room that CH does not hold any figures relating to 'delayed post.

Although postal dates are not checked due to the volume of mail received, CH would not be able to determine whether an item of mail was received late as a result of the supplier unless we had been informed of a delay by that supplier.

CH is not responsible for any delays in mail being received as a result of the service provided by a third party supplier. I can only suggest that you direct your enquiry to the Royal Mail.
