

Executive Directors and Board expenses

2014 - 2015

June 2015

The Environment Agency delivers flood risk management, environmental regulation and other environmental services across England. The majority of staff are based in local offices close to where they provide services. Our main National Office is in Bristol, with a further office in London. The nature of the work of the Chairman, Chief Executive and Executive Directors requires a significant degree of travel in England, with early starts and late finishes necessitating overnight stays.

So that the Environment Agency can remain effectively networked with the European Commission and environmental regulators in other countries, some foreign travel is required.

To minimise carbon emissions, travel in the UK is mostly undertaken using public transport, with best value delivered both for travel and for hotel accommodation through the Environment Agency's procurement contracts.
