As a person affected by this proposal, I would like to express my utmost objection to such a blatant violation of civil liberties. Such basic rights as sharing a photo of my room will become impossible, simply because it's 100% impractical to obtain licenses to everything in the shot, let alone morally corrupt. I don't want to live in a world where I am not allowed to share such photos without paying someone.

It is particularly outrageous that normal citizens are not even listed as potential interested parties that you are seeking feedback from. I am directly affected by this law, which restricts my freedom to do things I do not consider to be immoral or illegal. Why are you not explicitly seeking for my feedback?
