Dear XXXXXX,

Thank you for your email dated 24 September 2014, where you requested the following information:

- '1) How were the names for the SCOUT SV family Ajax (Ares, Atlas, Argus, Apollo) derived and
- 2) Is there an Army committee or senior officer in charge of naming UORs and future British army vehicles?'

Section 1 of the Freedom of Information Act gives an applicant the right to access recorded information held by public authorities at the time of the request made and does not require public authorities to answer questions, provide explanations or give opinions, unless recorded information is held.

Following a search for recorded information, I have established that some information is held, which I believe is relevant to your questions. In order to be helpful, in accordance with Section 16 of the Act, I can tell you that each of the individual variants is named after a Greek god or hero, whose character reflects the role of the vehicle:

Variant	Name	Meaning
Recce/Strike	AJAX	Greek hero notable for strength and courage
APC	ARES	Greek God of war
Command and Control	ATHENA	Greek Goddess of intelligence, battle strategy and wisdom
ES Recovery	ATLAS	God who carried the world
ES Repair	APOLLO	God of healing
Engineer Recce	ARGUS	All seeing giant

In response to your second question I can tell you that there is no specific process for the naming of Army vehicles.

The information supplied to you continues to be protected by copyright. You are free to use it for your own purposes, including for private study and non-commercial research, and for any other purpose authorised by an exception in current copyright law. Documents (except photographs) can be also used in the UK without requiring permission for the purposes of news reporting. Any other reuse, for example commercial publication, would require the permission of the copyright holder.

Most documents supplied by the Ministry of Defence will have been produced within government and will be Crown Copyright. For information about re-using Crown Copyright see the Office of Public Sector Information website at www.opsi.gov.uk. The copyright in some documents may rest with a third party. For information about obtaining permission from a third party see the Intellectual Property Office's website at www.ipo.gov.uk.

If you are not satisfied with this response or you wish to complain about any aspect of the handling of your request, then you should contact me in the first instance. If informal resolution is not possible and you are still dissatisfied then you may apply for an independent internal review by contacting the Information Rights Compliance team, 1st Floor, MOD Main Building, Whitehall, SW1A 2HB (e-mail CIO-FOI-IR@mod.uk). Please note that any request for an internal review must be made within 40 working days of the date on which the attempt to reach informal resolution has come to an end.

If you remain dissatisfied following an internal review, you may take your complaint to the Information Commissioner under the provisions of Section 50 of the Freedom of Information Act. Please note that the Information Commissioner will not investigate your case until the MOD internal review process has been completed. Further details of the role and powers of the Information Commissioner can be found on the Commissioner's website, <https://ico.org.uk>.

Yours sincerely,

XXXXXXX
