Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for your email dated 3 March 2015 requesting the following information:

How many both commissioned and non commissioned personnel within the Royal Air Force receive 'flying pay'?

Of these personnel, what proportion are in office-based roles, where no flying duties are performed.

I am treating your correspondence as a request for information under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA).

For the purposes of this request we have assumed you are seeking information about Recruitment and Retention Payment (Flying) (RRP(F)), formerly Specialist Pay(Flying), which is colloquially known as Flying Pay. A search for the information has now been completed within the Ministry of Defence, and I can confirm that information in scope of your request is held. The information you requested is shown in the tables below.

Total number of RAF Commissioned personnel who received RRP(F) in January 2015	2000
Total number of RAF Non-Commission personnel who received RRP(F) in January 2015	1200
Total number of RAF Commissioned personnel in non-flying posts who received RRP(F) in January 2015	150
Total number of RAF Non-Commissioned personnel in non-flying posts who received RRP(F) in January 2015	30

In accordance with the Data Protection Act and our obligations in relation to the protection of confidentiality when handling personal data, data has been rounded to the nearest 10. When rounding to the nearest 10, numbers ending in 5 have been rounded to the nearest multiple of 20 to prevent systematic bias.

Under Section 16 of the Act (Advice and Assistance) you may find it useful to know that RRP is paid to Armed Forces personnel to assist with specific recruitment or retention requirements within particular cadres. It is paid to personnel in eligible posts who meet the specialist training or qualification criteria laid down in regulations and is in addition to their military salary and is non-pensionable. Eligible posts can be either direct RRP posts – requiring the individual to undertake duties utilising their particular specialism – or RRP-related posts – requiring utilisation of practitioner knowledge and expertise related to same specialism. Each RRP category is reviewed annually and can be reduced in value or removed altogether if no longer deemed necessary.

If you are not satisfied with this response or you wish to complain about any aspect of the handling of your request, then you should contact me in the first instance. If informal resolution is not possible and you are still dissatisfied then you may apply for an independent internal review by contacting the Information Rights Compliance team, 1st Floor, MOD Main Building, Whitehall, SW1A 2HB (e-mail CIO-FOI-IR@mod.uk). Please note that any request for an internal review must be made within 40 working days of the date on which the attempt to reach informal resolution has come to an end.

If you remain dissatisfied following an internal review, you may take your complaint to the Information Commissioner under the provisions of Section 50 of the Freedom of Information Act. Please note that the Information Commissioner will not investigate your case until the MOD internal review process has been completed. Further details of the role and powers of the Information Commissioner can be found on the Commissioner's website, <https://ico.org.uk/>.

Yours sincerely,
