

O-392-15

ORDER under the Companies Act 2006

In the matter of application

No. 923 by Dart Industries Inc

For a change of company name of registration

No. 09244800

DECISION

The company name Tupperware Ltd has been registered since 2 October 2010 under number 09244800.

By an application filed on 27 March 2015, Dart Industries Inc applied for a change of name of this registration under the provisions of section 69(1) of the Companies Act 2006 (the Act).

A copy of this application was sent to the primary respondent's registered office on 20 April 2015, in accordance with rule 3(2) of the Company Names Adjudicator Rules 2008. The copy of the application was sent by Royal Mail special delivery. On the same date, the Tribunal also wrote to Mrs Caroline Burton to inform her that the applicant had requested that she be joined to the proceedings. No comments were received from Mrs Burton in relation to this request. On 2 July 2015, Mrs Burton was joined as a co-respondent. On the same date, the parties were advised that no defence had been received to the application and so the adjudicator may treat the application as not being opposed. The parties were granted a period of 14 days to request a hearing in relation to this matter, if they so wished. No request for a hearing was made.

The primary respondent did not file a defence within the two months period specified by the adjudicator under rule 3(3). Rule 3(4) states

“The primary respondent, before the end of that period, shall file a counter-statement on the appropriate form, otherwise the adjudicator may treat it as not opposing the application and may make an order under section 73(1).”

Under the provisions of this rule, the adjudicator may exercise discretion so as to treat the respondent as opposing the application. In this case I can see no reason to exercise such discretion and, therefore, decline to do so.

As the primary respondent has not responded to the allegations made, it is treated as not opposing the application. Therefore, in accordance with section 73(1) of the Act I make the following order:

- (a) Tupperware Ltd shall change its name within one month of the date of this order to one that is not an offending nameⁱ;
- (b) Tupperware Ltd and Mrs Caroline Stewart shall:
 - (i) take such steps as are within their power to make, or facilitate the making, of that change;
 - (ii) not cause or permit any steps to be taken calculated to result in another company being registered with a name that is an offending name.

In accordance with s.73(3) of the Act, this order may be enforced in the same way as an order of the High Court or, in Scotland, the Court of Session.

In any event, if no such change is made within one month of the date of these orders, I will determine a new company name as per section 73(4) of the Act and will give notice of that change under section 73(5) of the Act.

All respondents, including individual co-respondents, have a legal duty under Section 73(1)(b)(ii) of the Companies Act 2006 not to cause or permit any steps to be taken calculated to result in another company being registered with an offending name; this includes the current company. Non-compliance may result in an action being brought for contempt of court and may result in a custodial sentence.

Dart Industries Inc, having been successful, may be entitled to a contribution towards its costs. However, at box 7 of the application form, the applicant indicated that it had not made any contact with the respondent prior to filing its application. Paragraph 10.4.1 of the Practice Direction states that “The adjudicator will ... normally not award costs if the applicant indicates in box 7 of the application form (CNA1) that it did not contact the company prior to making the application”. In light of this guidance and the absence of any pre-action enquiries, no award of costs is made.

Any notice of appeal against this decision to order a change of name must be given within one month of the date of this order. Appeal is to the High Court in England, Wales and Northern Ireland and to the Court of Session in Scotland.

The company adjudicator must be advised if an appeal is lodged, so that implementation of the order is suspended.

Dated this 19th day of August 2015

Mark Bryant

Company Names Adjudicator

ⁱAn “offending name” means a name that, by reason of its similarity to the name associated with the applicant in which he claims goodwill, would be likely to be the subject of a direction under section 67 (power of Secretary of State to direct change of name), or to give rise to a further application under section 69.
