1. Introduction

This release provides information about the company population in the United Kingdom. A company is defined here as a specific form of Company formed under the Companies Act 2006¹. Companies are registered at Companies House regardless of whether they go on to trade actively. It includes information on the population size and how the population has changed over a calendar month.

The statistics in this release include the total number of incorporated companies, the number newly incorporated, the number of companies that were dissolved, as well as information on company insolvencies. The release focuses on the headline messages for UK companies (excluding Limited Liability Partnerships), with more information (including Limited Liability Partnerships) contained in the supplementary tables that accompany the release.

Key Points

- In the United Kingdom in January, there were 47,362 Incorporations and 46,619 dissolutions causing the number of companies on the Total Register to reach 3,641,258.
- The number of companies on the Total Register increased by 1,969 in January 2016, compared with 23,265 in January 2015. The small increase in January 2016 is due to legislative changes implemented in October 2015 that shortened the dissolution process by one month. These changes have led to an 87.8% increase in the number of companies dissolved during January 2016, compared to January 2015.
- Between 1979 and 2016², incorporations have increased from 66,500 to 585,700 per 12 months and dissolutions from 25,700 to 369,500 per 12 months. Over the same period, the number of incorporated companies on the Total and Effective Registers have increased by over 2.5 million.
- In the UK in January 2016, there were 2,047 company liquidations and 228 insolvency proceedings notifications, with 82,643 companies in the process of Insolvency at the end of January 2016.

1. Companies Act 2006 companies are defined in the Definitions section of the background notes.

2. Reporting periods from 1986/87 to 2014/15 are reporting financial years (1 April - 31 March). Earlier years 1979 - 1986 are reporting calendar years (1 January - 31 December).

2. Incorporated companies

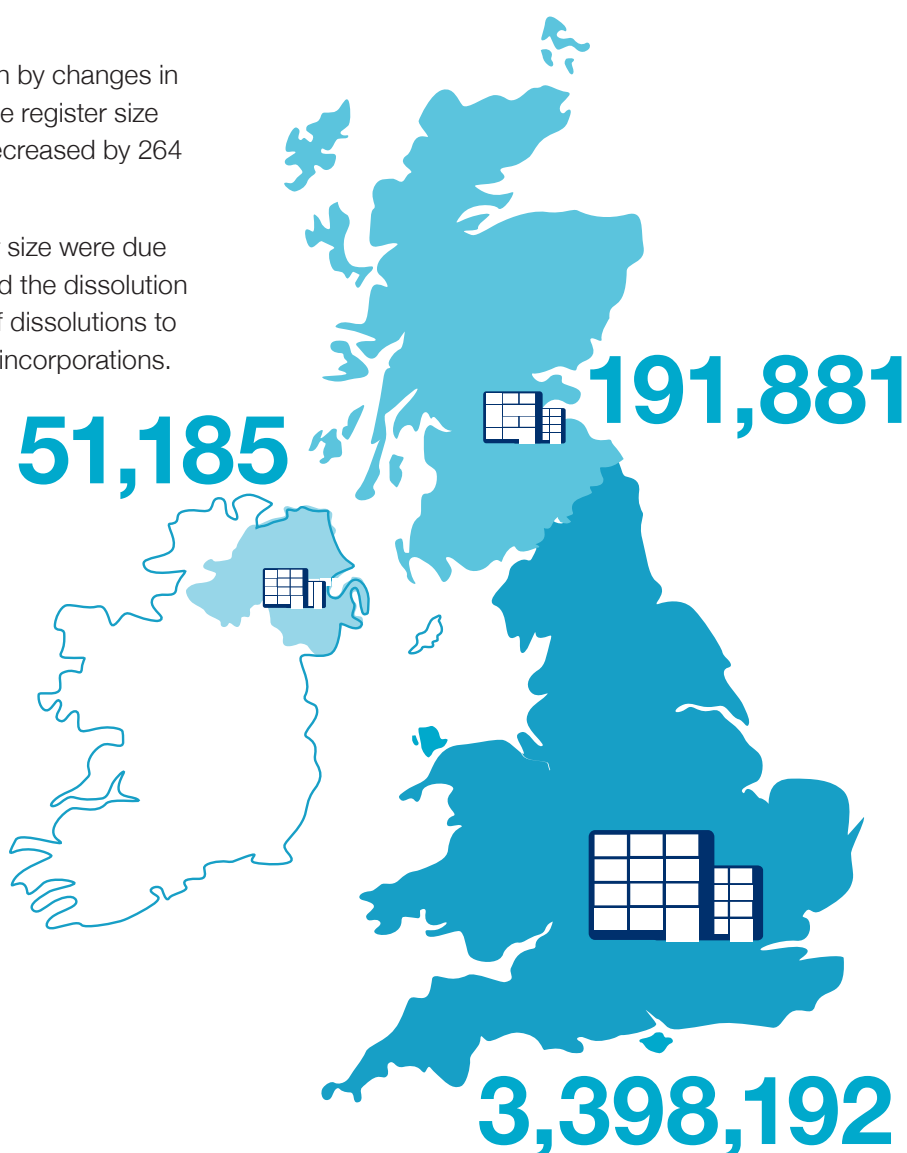

In the United Kingdom in January, there were 47,362 incorporations and 46,619 dissolutions causing the number of companies on the Total Register – including those in the process of dissolution or liquidation (261,560) – to reach 3,641,258.

This was an increase of 1,969 driven by changes in England and Wales (2,233), while the register size in Northern Ireland and Scotland decreased by 264 companies.

These small changes to the register size were due to legislative changes that shortened the dissolution process, and caused the number of dissolutions to be broadly similar to the number of incorporations.

The Effective register, which excludes those in the process of liquidation or dissolution, stood at 3,379,698 at the end of the month.

Total Register numbers are a snapshot of the Register from 1979 to 2016. 1979 to 1986 are calendar years (1 January – 31 December) and 1987 onwards are financial years (1 April – 31 March).

March and April tend to mark the annual peak for company incorporations. Historically, on average 8.3% of incorporations occur in January. Dissolutions remain relatively stable over the course of the year. The number of incorporations and dissolutions fluctuate annually, but the number of each has generally been increasing over time. The numbers of incorporations and dissolutions in a year have seen large increases between January 1979 and March 2015: Incorporations have increased from 66,500 to 585,700 and dissolutions from 25,700 to 369,500¹.

There has been an 87.8% increase in the number of companies dissolved during January 2016 (46,619) compared with January 2015 (24,821). This increase is due to legislative changes that were implemented in October 2015 that shortened both the voluntary and compulsory dissolution processes by one month. The voluntary dissolution process has shortened from four months to three months, and the compulsory dissolution process has shortened to between four and five months rather than between five and six months. The impact of these changes has materialised during January due to companies that would not have been dissolved until February or March under old legislation now being dissolved during January.

The growth in incorporated companies

Between 1979 and 2016, the Total and the Effective register have increased by over 2.5 million companies.² Over this time, the Total register has increased annually for 31 of the 36 years. Over the same period, the Effective register has increased annually for 30 of the last 36 years. The most recent decline in the Great Britain Effective register occurred in 2008/09 (157,700) and a year later for the Great Britain Total register (132,800). 2009/10 was a year of significant change for the Register:

- the Northern Ireland Register was included to create a UK Register;
- there was a change in the administrative system that forms the register; and,
- there was a purge to remove companies that had spent an extended period in the process of dissolution or liquidation.

These changes may have had an impact on the size of the Total and Effective Register.

1. Statistics for 1979 are for Great Britain. In October 2009 the Northern Ireland Register merged with the register for Great Britain to create a UK Register. UK figures are from 2009/10 onwards. In Great Britain in 2009/10, incorporations and dissolutions were 362,317 and 508,512 respectively. In Northern Ireland in 2009/10, incorporations and dissolutions were 3,332 and 1,199 respectively. Reporting periods from 1986/87 to 2014/15 are reporting financial years (1 April - 31 March). Earlier years 1979 - 1986 are reporting calendar years (1 January - 31 December).

2. Statistics for 1979 are for Great Britain. In October 2009 the Northern Ireland Register merged with the Register for Great Britain to create a UK Register. UK figures are from 2009/10 onwards. In March 2009, the Total Register and Effective Register for Northern Ireland were 40,003 and 34,706 respectively. For Great Britain, as at 31 March 2010, the Total Register and Effective Register were 2,589,881 and 2,324,392 respectively.

Company insolvencies

In January 2016, there were 2,047 company liquidations in the UK. Over 40% (40.4%, 826) of these liquidations were creditors' voluntary liquidations and a further 45.1% (923) were members' voluntary liquidations. In addition, there were 228 insolvency proceedings notifications, of which 66.7% (152) had administrators appointed closing the month with 82,643 companies in the UK that were in the process of insolvency.

More detail about insolvency statistics is provided by the Insolvency Service¹, including information on company liquidations and individual insolvencies.

- government in understanding the likely impact of policy changes and monitoring the impact of economic changes on companies;
- businesses in understanding their market share and planning marketing strategies;

Quality

These statistics are taken from the Companies House Register. Companies House has strict quality and audit procedures around making amendments, additions and removals to the Register. The compilation of these statistics has been quality assured.

These statistics are not seasonally adjusted and should be interpreted with this in mind. To remove seasonal effects, we recommend that users make comparisons with the same period twelve months ago.

Coherence

This section provides brief information on how these statistics relate to selected business statistics. More detailed information can be found in 'Guide to the Business Population and Demographics statistics publications'¹, which explores the similarities and differences between business statistics. It focuses on the differences between estimates of the business population and includes a range of related statistics.

Company incorporations and business creation.

There is a range of official data sources available to monitor business creation, but each has a slightly different coverage. Taken together, they provide a good overall picture of the trend in business creation activity. Individually, each source will be suitable for different specific purposes. Sources include:

- Business Demography², which provides information for businesses registering for VAT or PAYE. An annual release that provides information on Business 'births' defined as new registrations for VAT or PAYE. Business Demography does not capture the smallest, non-employed business start-ups which do not register for VAT or PAYE.

- Companies House Incorporations— new company registrations, including those not actively trading. Incorporations are one source of statistics on business creation. They provide information on newly formed companies that are added to the Companies House Register. Incorporated companies can go on to trade actively, but some will be dormant companies that do not trade actively. Companies House Incorporations do not capture business start-ups of other business types such as those starting up as an unincorporated sole proprietorship or partnership.

Business population

There are a number of official statistics that provide information on the size of the business population. Each source will be suitable for different specific purposes. Sources include:

- Business Population Estimates³ provide the only estimate of the total UK business population. It includes information on incorporated companies and unincorporated sole proprietorships and partnerships.
- UK Business⁴ provides more detail on the business population that has registered for VAT or PAYE.
- Companies House provides information on the total number of incorporated companies that are filing documents to Companies House. Two figures are provided: the 'Total' Register which includes companies that are trading, dormant and in the process of liquidation or dissolution; and, the 'Effective' Register which includes those trading and dormant, but excludes those companies in the process of liquidation or dissolution, but includes companies in receivership.

Company insolvency and company dissolutions

Company insolvency proceedings are formal measures taken when a company becomes insolvent¹. The Insolvency Service² reports the most complete picture on Insolvency statistics, including company liquidations and individual insolvencies, as it has policy responsibility for all forms of corporate insolvency in England and Wales. Compulsory liquidations published in this release differ from those published by the Insolvency Service. The Insolvency Service's compulsory liquidations' statistics are sourced from their administrative systems. All other forms of company insolvency published by the Insolvency Service are on the same basis as those published by Companies House.

There are many different types of company insolvencies including compulsory liquidations and creditors' voluntary liquidations (both of which are procedures resulting in the final winding-up of a company); and receiverships, administrations and company voluntary arrangements (which are aimed at company rescue and/or restructuring). Another form of company liquidation, members' voluntary liquidation, is not included in the Insolvency Service's statistics, as it does not involve insolvency.

Dissolution is the act of removing an incorporated company from the Companies House Register. There are many ways in which a company can be dissolved; these include the final outcome of the insolvency procedures³. Once a company has been dissolved, it is removed from the Companies House Register and can only be restored under certain circumstances.
