You requested the following information:

the department's expenditure on advertising in national newspapers in the last year. I would like a breakdown of expenditure which indicates how much was spent at which newspapers; if this is not possible, I am particularly interested in knowing which newspapers have been advertised in the most.

We have handled your request under the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

In the last year, the Wales Office placed a job advert for a specialist role in the Guardian newspaper at a cost of £973.
