- Between the 1 and 31 July 2016, 546 First Stage applications and 344 Second Stage applications were received under the FHTB scheme. First Stage applications are those which pass initial eligibility checks and Second Stage applications are those which pass detailed eligibility checks.
- During the same period, 355 payments were made to Regular Armed Forces personnel.
- As of the 31 July, 16,786 First Stage FHTB applications have been received since the scheme began in April 2014. 10,274 of these applications have proceeded to the Second Stage.
- Since the scheme began payment has been made to over 7,900 applicants, totalling just over £121 million, an average of approximately £15,200 per claim.

Introduction

The FHTB scheme was launched in April 2014 with the aim of supporting and encouraging home ownership amongst Service Personnel, whose level of home ownership has historically been lower than the rest of the UK population. Regular Service Personnel can borrow up to 50% of their gross annual salary (to a maximum of £25,000) to buy their first home, extend an existing property or move to another.

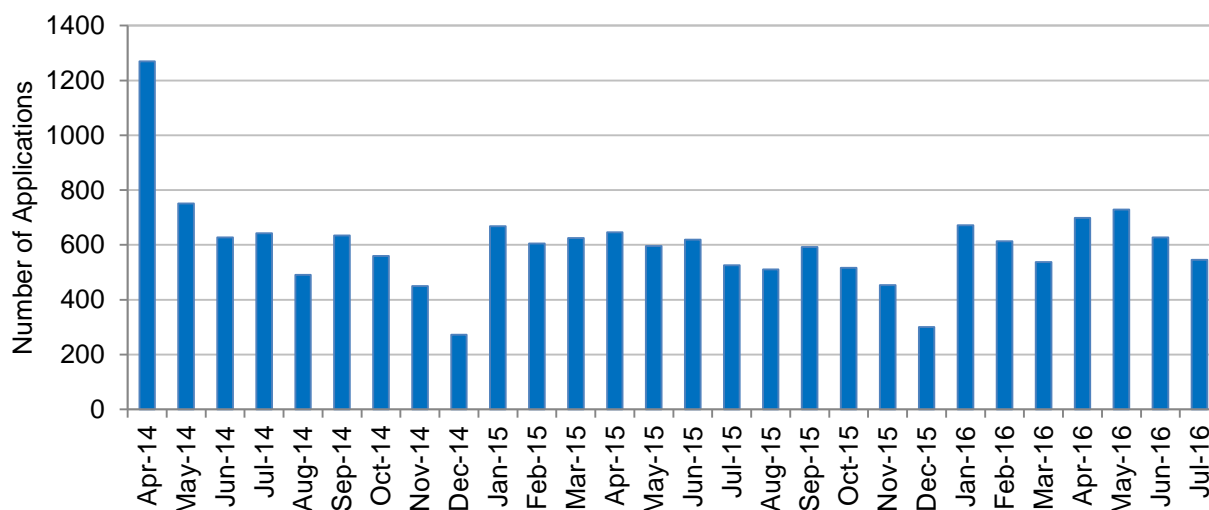

First Stage applications are those which pass initial eligibility checks and Second Stage applications are those which pass detailed eligibility checks.

First and second stage application data and the values the FHTB payments are provided by Defence Business Services (DBS). The Service and Rank breakdowns are provided from Joint Personnel Administration (JPA). The two sets of data are 'as at' different dates in a month. DBS data is as at the end of the preceding month, and JPA data is produced according to when the last pay run for military personnel was completed. The pay run occurs in the middle of the month, which varies according to the month length.

Applications

Figure 1 shows that the number of First Stage applications received in July 2016 (546) was lower than in the previous month (628), and slightly lower than the average number of applications received since the scheme began (600). After the large number of applications received in the first month of the scheme (1270), the number of applications has been fairly consistent over time. There is some seasonal variation, with fewer applications received in November and December each year.

As can be seen in Figure 2, the number of Second Stage applications received in July 2016 (344) was lower than the previous month (425). The longer time-series shows that there is seasonal variation in the number of applications each month, with lower numbers in August and November to January. However, the number of Second Stage applications is largely in the range of 200-400 per month.

Payments

In July 2016, 355 payments were made under the FHTB scheme. As can be seen in Figure 3, this is similar to the previous month (353). The overall trend of payment numbers has been fairly steady.

As of 31 July 2016, a total of 7,973 payments have been made under the FHTB scheme since it was introduced in April 2014. With an average claim of approximately £15,200 this has resulted in an expenditure of just over £121 million.

In July 2016¹ 19% of payments were made to Officers compared to 81% of payments made to Other Ranks. This reflects the proportion of Officers and Other Ranks in the Regular Full-time trained strength population². The largest share of payments (45%) in July 2016¹ was made to Army personnel, with 30% of payments made to RN/RM³ personnel and 25% made to RAF personnel. As at 1 June 2016², the Full-time trained strength population was made up of 57% Army, 21% RN/RM and 22% RAF.

¹ JPA data is produced according to when the last pay run for military personnel was completed. The pay run occurs in the middle of the month, which varies according to the month length. Therefore the Officer / Rank and Service breakdowns represent the number of payments recorded between the pay runs in that month and the preceding month.
