This report covers military Search and Rescue (SAR) activities for July 2015. The report includes the number of incidents (the number of emergencies that military SAR units have responded to), the number of callouts (the number of units attending an incident) and the number of persons moved.

Coverage

United Kingdom, Cyprus, Falkland Islands

Key Points and Trends

- As part of the phased transition to a single civilian contract managed by the Department for Transport (DfT), the existing military SAR bases will close during 2015/16. Therefore the totals in these reports will gradually decrease. The July 2015 report includes the closure of the SAR unit at RAF Valley.
- During July 2015 there were 134 incidents, resulting in 135 callouts and 101 persons moved.
- Most callouts were on land, as in previous months. During July 2015 there were 82 land, 37 coast and 16 maritime callouts.
- The busiest two units during July 2015 were RAF Chivenor and RNAS Culdrose. RAF Chivenor attended 39 callouts and moved 29 persons, while RNAS Culdrose attended 35 callouts and moved 27 persons.
- The most common type of callout this month was Medrescue, with 60 callouts. Medrescues also involved the highest number of persons moved, with 64, which represents over half of all persons moved.
- The units with the highest total flying hours this month were RNAS Culdrose and HMS Gannet, both with over 47 hours flown at an average of 1 hour and 21 minutes and 1 hour and 53 minutes per callout respectively.
- Mountain Rescue Teams responded to 3 callouts during July 2015, requiring a total of 632 man hours.

What is included in this report?

This report covers military Search and Rescue (SAR) activities for July 2015. It includes details of the activities of UK military SAR helicopters, RAF SAR helicopters operating in Cyprus and the Falkland Islands and military Mountain Rescue Teams. It also provides a summary of Maritime and Coastguard Agency (MCA) helicopter callouts. Additionally, military SAR reports are produced on an annual basis and have previously been published on a quarterly basis. These are available at:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/military-search-and-rescue-annual-statistics-index>

<https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/military-search-and-rescue-quarterly-statistics-index>

The report includes counts of the number of incidents, callouts and persons moved in the previous month.

Incidents are emergencies attended by Royal Navy (RN) or Royal Air Force (RAF) units whose primary task is SAR, plus other military aircraft and ships that are available to the Aeronautical Rescue Coordination Centre (ARCC).

Each SAR unit attending an incident is described as a callout. An incident may result in one or more callouts.

Persons moved figures include people who are moved from a hostile environment to a safe environment, or to a medical facility to receive urgent medical attention. They also include individuals moved between medical facilities at the request of the NHS.

The data source for this report is a weekly download from the ARCC database. Every incident recorded by the ARCC is included in these tables. Incident data for Cyprus and the Falklands is provided by ARCC Kinloss but checked directly with the overseas units to ensure that there are no missing records. All data is validated and checked by Defence Economics on receipt. Further details are available in the SAR Background Quality Report. This also includes details of internal and external users of the reports, including a summary of their requirements and how well Defence Economics' reports meet these requirements.

Introduction

Military Search and Rescue

The military SAR service exists primarily to assist military personnel in difficulty, but the majority of its work involves assisting civilians in distress, both on land and at sea. SAR coverage for the United Kingdom and a large area of the surrounding sea is provided 24 hours a day and 365 days a year by the RAF and the Royal Navy.

UK Helicopters

The UK military SAR aeronautical coverage currently consists of RAF and Royal Navy SAR Sea King helicopters operating from the following locations around the UK: RAF Boulmer, RAF Chivenor, RAF Wattisham, RNAS Culdrose and HMS Gannet. Three former SAR units have closed; RAF Lossiemouth and RAF Leconfield at the end of March 2015 and RAF Valley at the end of June 2015. The military SAR force operates 24 hours a day. It provides coverage throughout the UK, and also covers an area extending from the Faroe Islands in the north, the English Channel in the south, about half way across the North Sea to the east and halfway across the Atlantic Ocean to the west.

The UK SAR helicopter coverage is coordinated by the Aeronautical Rescue Coordination Centre (ARCC) based at Kinloss Barracks.

Mountain Rescue Teams

The RAF has three Mountain Rescue Teams (MRT) based at RAF Lossiemouth, RAF Leeming and RAF Valley. The MRT units provide land rescues, primarily over the mountain regions of the UK. Military MRT units are coordinated by the ARCC, and often work in conjunction with helicopter units.

Overseas Helicopters

A SAR service is also provided by two overseas bases, at RAF Akrotiri in Cyprus and RAF Mount Pleasant in the Falkland Islands.

Further information on the UK's military SAR coverage is available at:

<http://www.raf.mod.uk/rafsearchandrescue/>

<http://www.royalnavy.mod.uk/Operations/Enduring-Operations/UK/Search-and-Rescue>

Other Search and Rescue

In addition to the RAF and Royal Navy, a number of non-military organisations provide SAR coverage throughout the UK. The activities of these non-military organisations are outside the scope of this report; however background information on some of the organisations involved is provided below.

Civilian Search and Rescue

From April 2015 the current mix of military and civilian search and rescue capacity will transition to a single civilian contract, managed by the Maritime and Coastguard Agency (MCA). By summer 2017 there will be 10 coastguard helicopter bases in operation around the UK. Statistics on the civilian search and rescue units are not included in this report.

In addition to its aeronautical coverage, the MCA provides maritime SAR coverage throughout the UK. Details of maritime SAR callouts are not included in this report. Further information is available at:

<http://www.dft.gov.uk/mca/mcga07-home/emergencyresponse/mcga-searchandrescue.htm>

RNLI

The RNLI is a charitable organisation providing 24 hour lifeboat SAR coverage around the coast of the UK and Republic of Ireland, along with a seasonal lifeguard service.

<http://www.rnli.org.uk/>

Mountain Rescue Teams

A number of voluntary Mountain Rescue services operate throughout the UK. These often work in conjunction with the military SAR service. Details of non-military Mountain Rescue callouts are not included in this report. Further information can be found at:

<http://www.mountain.rescue.org.uk/>

<http://www.mrcofs.org/>

Air Ambulance

Air Ambulance services operate throughout the UK, providing emergency medical assistance. Further information is available at:
