Dear XXXXXXXXX

Thank you for your email of 14 November in which you requested the following information:

Can you please supply me with a excel or CSV spreadsheet with details of all MOD schools including headteacher name and email addresses.

A search for the information has now been completed within the Ministry of Defence, and I can confirm that information in scope of your request is held. Some of the information requested has been provided in the table below.

Details of all MOD schools, including email addresses, names of head teachers and email addresses via which you may contact the head teachers are available on the school websites. Therefore this information is exempt from release under Section 21 (information reasonably accessible to the applicant by other means).

A list of schools is published in an excel spreadsheet at the following weblink:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/sce-school-websites>

This list was last updated in 2016, therefore an up to date list is provided below. The Queen Victoria School website is currently under construction. The web address is included below but is not currently live. An email address via which you may contact the head teacher is:
