Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing in response to your request for information regarding the below. Your request has been handled under Section 1(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. In accordance with Section 1(1) (a) of the Act I hereby confirm that the CNC/CNPA does not hold information of the type specified. The answer to all of the below are zero.

I am writing to request data for the number of and value of tickets and fines handed out for the below motoring related offences for the latest 12 month period you hold data for:

Drink Driving violations

Drug Driving violations

Speeding violations

Parking violations

No insurance violations

Using a mobile phone while driving violations

I request this data for the most recent 12 month period available, and that the data be broken down by neighbourhoods in your force area and returned in the following format:

Drink Driving violations

- number of times committed - number of fines issued - value of fines paid

Drug Driving violations

- number of times committed - number of fines issued - value of fines paid

Speeding violations

- number of times committed - number of fines issued - value of fines paid

Parking violations

- number of times committed - number of fines issued - value of fines paid

No insurance violations

- number of times committed - number of fines issued - value of fines paid

Using a mobile phone while driving violations

- number of times committed - number of fines issued - value of fines paid

If this granular level of data is not available, please provide a top level figure of how many motoring offences were committed as a whole in the following format:

Number of driving offences committed - number of fines issued - value of fines paid

The Civil Nuclear Constabulary is a specialist armed police service dedicated to the civil nuclear industry, with Operational Policing Units based at 10 civil nuclear sites in England and Scotland and over 1400 police officers and staff. The Constabulary headquarters is at Culham in Oxfordshire. The civil nuclear industry forms part of the UK's critical national infrastructure and the role of the Constabulary contribute to the overall framework of national security.

The purpose of the Constabulary is to protect licensed civil nuclear sites and to safeguard nuclear material in transit. The Constabulary works in partnership with the appropriate Home Office Police Force or Police Scotland at each site. Policing services required at each site are agreed with nuclear operators in accordance with the Nuclear Industries Security Regulations 2003 and ratified by the UK regulator, the Office for Nuclear Regulation (ONR). Armed policing services are required at most civil nuclear sites in the United Kingdom. The majority of officers in the Constabulary are Authorised Firearms Officers.

The Constabulary is recognised by the National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC) and the Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS). Through the National Coordinated Policing Protocol, the Constabulary has established memorandums of understanding with the local police forces at all 10 Operational Policing Units. Mutual support and assistance enable the Constabulary to maintain focus on its core role.
