Details about the college offer can be reviewed on the Sunderland College website

Specialisms:

Sunderland College is currently one of only 4 colleges in the UK allowed to deliver the NextGen skills academy course, which leads directly to level 4 and 5 in games design

The college is the only provider in the area to offer classroom delivery of the General Dental Council (GDC) approved diploma in dental nursing

Provision for learners with learning difficulties and/or disabilities was judged to be good by Ofsted in June 2016. The foundation learning programme (FLP) courses support a large proportion of learners with learning difficulties and/or disabilities to progress academically at pre entry to level 1

GCE A level provision resulting from the merger of 2 tertiary colleges and further enhanced by the formation of the sixth-form partnerships dating back to 2002, which resulted in strong ties between the college and the 11-16 secondary schools in and around Sunderland. The college, despite growing sixth-form competition, continues to attract large numbers of A level students. In 2015/16, there were 405 AS level and 340 A level students, studying 33 subjects. The A level pass rate has been 99% for the past 7 years

Access to higher education diplomas - the college successfully runs a large access to higher education programme, preparing students for progression to higher education. The access pathways offered link in particularly with the employment sector and North East LEP skills priority of health and wellbeing, including nursing, education, counselling, health science and social work pathways. The college received external recognition in March 2016, being awarded outstanding commitment to the student experience from One Awards and one of their students won the higher learning higher earning award

Travel and Tourism – Hays Travel Academy places the college in a unique position, linking in with Hays Travel and operating a fully functioning Hays travel agency alongside the Hays Travel Academy, which has seen an increase in HND applications this year
