

Professor Dieter Helm – declaration of interest

Dieter Helm has, over the last 35 years, provided independent advice to most of the companies in the energy sector, to the main regulators, to British government since the 1980s, and to the European Commission (including as a Special Adviser to the Energy Commissioner in 2011). This advice has been mainly through OXERA (up until 2004), Helm Associates, and Aurora Energy Research, as well as provided in a personal capacity. He is also Chairman of the Natural Capital Committee. He will not be advising companies in the energy sector for the period of the Review and will not alter any financial interests he might have in companies that are active in the UK energy sector until fourteen days after publication of the Report at or before the end of October 2017.
