INFORMATION NOTE:

DIVORCE CERTIFICATES (E-VERSIONS)

To whom it may concern

In April and August 2015, the HM Courts and Tribunals Service (Family and Civil court) moved away from issuing hard documents with wet seals to using electronic seals that are generated when an emailed document is printed out. Therefore the only divorce decree absolute available now in England and Wales will be e-versions which have a black electronic seal.

The information contained in this Note is general and should not be taken as a definitive statement of law.

You'll need to get your certificate translated into the local language
