Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing in response to your request for information regarding the below. Your request has been handled under Section 1(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. In accordance with Section 1(1) (a) of the Act I hereby confirm that the CNC/CNPA does not hold information of the type specified. The answer to all of the below are zero.

In the last two financial years, on how many occasions have officers/other staff from your force been drafted in to help other police forces? This includes times where cooperation was made as part of a mutual aid request from the National Police Coordination Centre. If you can only provide details of assistance for mutual aid requests, that is fine. Please provide this information broken down for 2015-16, 2016-17, and 2017-18 so far.

2.) Broken down by these financial years, I would be grateful if you could state how much money has been received by your force in return for assisting other police forces? I would be grateful if for each year, you could break down these payments by police force.

I.e. the payments received for helping each police force - even if the payment was not made directly by the force who requested assistance.

Please note that the CNC do provide occasional support for a very limited period to a Home Office force on request for resources to assist with a spontaneous local incident, for which there will be no charge made.

The Civil Nuclear Constabulary is a specialist armed police service dedicated to the civil nuclear industry, with Operational Policing Units based at 10 civil nuclear sites in England and Scotland and over 1400 police officers and staff. The Constabulary headquarters is at Culham in Oxfordshire. The civil nuclear industry forms part of the UK's critical national infrastructure and the role of the Constabulary contribute to the overall framework of national security.

The purpose of the Constabulary is to protect licensed civil nuclear sites and to safeguard nuclear material in transit. The Constabulary works in partnership with the appropriate Home Office Police Force or Police Scotland at each site. Policing services required at each site are agreed with nuclear operators in accordance with the Nuclear Industries Security Regulations 2003 and ratified by the UK regulator, the Office for Nuclear Regulation (ONR). Armed policing services are required at most civil nuclear sites in the United Kingdom. The majority of officers in the Constabulary are Authorised Firearms Officers.

The Constabulary is recognised by the National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC) and the Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS). Through the National Coordinated Policing Protocol, the Constabulary has established memorandums of understanding with the local police forces at all 10 Operational Policing Units. Mutual support and assistance enable the Constabulary to maintain focus on its core role.
