

What health issues can Nepali journalists write about?

- ♦ We asked 118 journalists to list health issues that they could write about in their respective media outlets
- ♦ Journalists from print, radio and online media attended 1 of our 7 workshops

What challenges do Nepali journalists face when reporting on health issues?

- ♦ At regional level, journalists have to cover all types of stories so cannot go into the required depth for each type of story
- ♦ Educational background of journalists matters; individuals can call themselves journalists when they have no qualifications

