October 2017

You asked for the Committee's advice about taking up an appointment as a Consultant at Squire Patton Boggs (UK) LLP.

The Committee's remit

It is the Committee's role to advise on any conditions that should apply to appointments or employment under the Government's Business Appointments Rules for Former Ministers (the Rules), which apply to former Ministers for two years after they leave office.

The Rules seek to counter suspicion that:

- a) the decisions and statements of a serving Minister might be influenced by the hope or expectation of future employment with a particular firm or organisation; or
- b) an employer could make improper use of official information to which a former Minister has had access; or
- c) there may be cause for concern about the appointment in some other particular respect.

When the Committee considers applications it must have in mind that Government has judged that it is in the public interest that former Ministers with experience in Government should be able to move into business or into other areas of public life, and to be able to start a new career or resume a former one. It is equally important that when a former Minister takes up a particular appointment or employment, there should be no cause for any suspicion of impropriety.

Squire Patton Boggs (UK) LLP

Appointment details

You explained that you had been approached by the law firm Squire Patton Boggs (UK) LLP about taking up an appointment as a consultant.

You would be working with the firm to provide advice to clients, on both legal and general matters. You would support the firm's Brexit team to advise clients on regulation changes arising from changes to the UK's relationship with the EU. This is a paid, part-time role, involving approximately 20 hours per month.

You confirmed that you had no official dealings with Squire Patton Boggs (UK) LLP during your last two years in Ministerial office and that you would have no contact with Government in this role.

We approached the Permanent Secretary of DfID, your last Government department for a view on your application. Nick Dyer confirmed that DfID does not have a relationship with Squire Patton Boggs; you did not have any official dealings with them whilst in office, and that you have no sensitive information that you could give them. On the basis of this Mr Dyer has no objection to this appointment.

Your former Department, DCLG, was also consulted and raised no concerns about this appointment.

The Committee's consideration

When considering your application the Committee took into account that before being an MP and Minister you were (and remain) a solicitor.

The Committee concluded that this role could not reasonably be seen as a reward related to your time in office given you had no official dealings with the firm.

As you have explained that you will have no contact with Government in this role and DfID has confirmed that you have no access to any sensitive information which could benefit your proposed employer, the Committee concluded that the risk of you affording Squire Patton Boggs (UK) LLP an unfair advantage is low, bearing in mind the restrictions set out below.

Taking into account these factors, in accordance with the Government's Business Appointment Rules, the Committee advises this appointment be subject to the following conditions:

- you should not draw on (disclose or use for the benefit of yourself or the persons or organisations to which this advice refers) any privileged information available to you as a Minister;
- for two years from your last day in Ministerial office, you should not become personally involved in lobbying the UK Government on behalf of Squire Patton Boggs (UK) LLP or its clients or the wider law firms of Squire Patton Boggs.

By 'privileged information' we mean official information to which a Minister or Crown servant has had access as a consequence of his or her office or employment and which has not been made publicly available. Applicants are also reminded that they may be subject to other duties of confidentiality, whether under the Official Secrets Act, the Civil Service Code or otherwise.

The Business Appointment Rules explain that the restriction on lobbying means that the former Crown servant/Minister "should not engage in communication with Government (Ministers, civil servants, including special advisers, and other relevant officials/public office holders) – wherever it takes place - with a view to influencing a Government decision, policy or contract award/grant in relation to their own interests or the interests of the organisation by which they are employed, or to whom they are contracted or with which they hold office."

I should be grateful if you would inform us as soon as you take up employment with this organisation, or if it is announced that you will do so, either by returning the enclosed form or by emailing the office at the above address. We shall otherwise not be able to deal with any enquiries, since we do not release information about appointments that have not been taken up or announced. This could lead to a false assumption being made about whether you had complied with the Rules and the Ministerial Code.

Please also inform us if you propose to extend or otherwise change the nature of your role as, depending on the circumstances, it may be necessary for you to make a fresh application.

Once the appointment has been publicly announced or taken up, we will publish this letter on the Committee's website and include the main details of the application, together with the Advisory Committee's advice, in the regularly updated consolidated list on our website and in the next annual report.

Mr James Wharton
