Please tick this box if you think you may qualify for exemption from registration

(You must be registered if you wish to import regulated forestry material from countries outside of the EU. Within the EU, plant health checks are focused on the place of production, and therefore it is the producer, or subsequent trader, who must be registered if moving regulated forestry material to a protected zone (PZ) within the EU, including internal movement to a PZ within GB.)

Please state the reasons why you think you may qualify for exemption

NOTES

- 1 The Plant Health (Forestry) Order 2005 defines an 'importer' as follows: 'in relation to any tree pest or relevant material at any time between their landing from a third country and the time when they are discharged by an inspector under this Order, includes any owner or other person for the time being possessed of or beneficially interested in the tree pest or relevant material'.
- 2 Growers who sell any trees with roots intended for planting must apply for registration to Defra (Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs) in England and Wales or Science and Advice for Scottish Agriculture (SASA) in Scotland. Growers who sell trees without roots which are greater than 3 metres in height to wholesalers or retailers, must apply for registration to the Forestry Commission.
- 3 If you intend to send material out of Great Britain, it may be necessary for you to issue plant passports for such movements, e.g. if you intend moving wood of conifers, where the end product retains bark, to a Protected Zone such as France (Corsica), Greece (EL), Ireland (IRL), UK (Northern Ireland, Isle of Man and Jersey). If wood of conifers is bark-free then there is no need for the material to be accompanied with a plant passport when it is exported to any of these Protected Zones. Similarly if the wood is being imported to Great Britain (i.e. a Protected Zone) from other EU Member States which is bark-free then again there is no need for the material to be accompanied with a plant passport.
- 4 Bark-free means wood from which all bark, excluding the vascular cambium, ingrown bark around knots and bark pockets between rings of annual growth, has been removed.
