The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between

The People of the United Kingdom

Her Majesty's Government

– and –

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families. They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles Of The Armed Forces Covenant

1.1 We, The Queen Elizabeth Hospital King's Lynn NHS Foundation Trust will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved.

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 The Queen Elizabeth Hospital King's Lynn NHS Foundation Trust recognises the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- promoting the fact that we are an armed forces-friendly organisation by publicising our Armed Forces Covenant and the Armed Forces Covenant logo on our website, through our social media and alongside our vacancies on the NHS Jobs website.
- seeking to support the employment of veterans young and old and working with the Career Transition Partnership (CTP) and Step Into Health, in order to establish a tailored employment pathway for Service Leavers;
 - Value and recognise military skills and qualifications when interviewing for positions.
 - Participate in selected careers fairs for those leaving the Armed Forces
- striving to support the employment of Service spouses and partners by understanding how we can make it easier for them to work in the NHS.
- endeavouring to offer a degree of flexibility in granting leave for Service spouses and partners before, during and after a partner's deployment;
- seeking to support our employees who choose to be members of the Reserve forces, including by accommodating their training and deployment where possible;

- aiming to actively participate in Armed Forces Day by supporting our employees who are Reservists and including information about Armed Forces Day in our staff newsletter to raise awareness of our Armed Forces Covenant and support to reservists.
- Provide training and development opportunities within the Trust
 - Opportunities for work experience in the clinical and support divisions across the Trust
 - Establish close links with the local Armed Forces Units to promote community engagement
 - Work with military veterans and their representative organisations
 - Work with wounded, sick and injured military veterans and their representative organisations as appropriate.

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature and on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
