DECISION

Decisions of the tribunal

- (1) The tribunal grants dispensation from the requirements to consult leaseholders in relation to additional works to the Lancaster Gate Porticos and Façade works as described in the application dated 29 April 2019.

Background:

- (2) The tribunal received an application under S.20ZA of the Landlord & Tenant Act 1985 in which the applicants seek dispensation from the requirements to consult leaseholders in relation to additional works to be carried out at the property.
- (3) The further background is that in 2017 following a full consultation under S.20 of the Landlord & Tenant Act 1985, the applicants entered into a contract for the repair of the facades in the building (“the façade works”). Following further investigation it was determined that additional façade works were necessary and leaseholders were informed that the existing contract sum would increase by approximately 10%. A notice of intention was served on the leaseholders on 28 June 2018 giving them until 28 July to make any responses.
- (4) Meetings were held between the Board and the contractors (“Rosewood”) who were undertaking the major works, with the result that a specification of the additional works was agreed in March 2019, but that it was difficult for alternative quotations to be obtained mainly because the additional work was of a relatively low value, and contractors felt they would have little chance of securing the work, given that Rosewood were already on site and had the skills to complete the work themselves.
- (5) A statement of estimates was served on the respondents on 29 March 2019, in relation to the additional works. The leaseholders had until 1 May to make observations, but at the date of the application to the tribunal none had been received.
- (6) The applicant seeks dispensation and says that in the event the tribunal finds it has not complied with the consultation requirements, that dispensation be granted in relation to the additional façade works.
- (7) Directions were issued by the tribunal which required any respondent who opposed the application to reply. The tribunal has not received any opposition from the respondents.

The issues

1. The issue for the tribunal is whether or not it should grant dispensation, and whether any of the respondent leaseholders would be prejudiced if dispensation were to be granted.
2. It is important for the respondents to understand that the application relates purely to if the tribunal should grant dispensation, and not whether the cost of any works is recoverable or reasonable.:

The tribunal's decision

3. The tribunal determines that dispensation should be granted in relation to the additional works as identified in the application. .

Reasons for the tribunal's decision

4. The tribunal considers that the applicants have complied with the requirements to consult in relation to the main contract and that no prejudice would be suffered by any of the respondents in relation to the additional works, since notices of intention and estimates have been served, and the respondents have been given an opportunity to respond. In addition, the tribunal has not received any correspondence from any of the respondents opposing the application, and the tribunal is satisfied from the documents supplied that it is reasonable to dispense with the requirements to consult leaseholders in relation to the additional works.

Rights of appeal

By rule 36(2) of the Tribunal Procedure (First-tier Tribunal) (Property Chamber) Rules 2013, the tribunal is required to notify the parties about any right of appeal they may have.

If a party wishes to appeal this decision to the Upper Tribunal (Lands Chamber), then a written application for permission must be made to the First-tier Tribunal at the regional office which has been dealing with the case.

The application for permission to appeal must arrive at the regional office within 28 days after the tribunal sends written reasons for the decision to the person making the application.

If the application is not made within the 28-day time limit, such application must include a request for an extension of time and the reason for not complying with the 28-day time limit; the tribunal will then look at such reason(s) and decide whether to allow the application for permission to appeal to proceed, despite not being within the time limit.

The application for permission to appeal must identify the decision of the tribunal to which it relates (i.e. give the date, the property and the case number), state the grounds of appeal and state the result the party making the application is seeking.

If the tribunal refuses to grant permission to appeal, a further application for permission may be made to the Upper Tribunal (Lands Chamber).
