The criteria

Introduction

GCSE subject criteria set out the knowledge, understanding, skills and assessment objectives common to all GCSE specifications in a given subject.

They provide the framework within which the awarding organisation creates the detail of the specification.

Aims and learning outcomes

1. GCSE specifications in Health and Social Care should encourage learners to be inspired, moved and changed by following a broad, coherent, satisfying and worthwhile course of study and gain an insight into related sectors. They should prepare learners to make informed decisions about further learning opportunities and career choices.
2. GCSE specifications in Health and Social Care must enable learners to:
 - actively engage in the processes of health and social care to develop as effective and independent learners;
 - understand aspects of personal development, and the health, social care and early years sectors, through investigation and evaluation of a range of services and organisations;
 - develop a critical and analytical approach to problem-solving within the health, social care and early years sectors;
 - examine issues which affect the nature and quality of human life, including an appreciation of diversity and cultural issues.
3. GCSE double award specification in Health and Social Care must additionally enable learners to:
 - develop their awareness of the influences on an individual's health and wellbeing;
 - understand the importance of motivation and support when improving health.

Subject content

4. The content of GCSE specifications in Health and Social Care must reflect the learning outcomes.

5. GCSE specifications in Health and Social Care must require learners to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of health, social care and early years provision in terms of:
 - the range of care needs of major client groups;
 - the types of services that exist to meet client group needs and how they are developed and organised;
 - the ways people can obtain care services and the possible barriers that could prevent people from gaining access to services;
 - the main work roles and skills of people who provide health, social care and early years services;
 - the principles of care that underpin all care work with clients;
 - personal development and relationships;
 - the stages and pattern of human growth and development;
 - the different factors that can affect human growth and development;
 - the development of self-concept and different types of relationships;
 - major life changes and sources of support.
6. GCSE specifications in Health and Social Care must require learners to plan and carry out tasks in which they:
 - analyse issues and problems;
 - identify, gather and record relevant information and evidence;
 - analyse and evaluate evidence;
 - make reasoned judgements and present conclusions.
7. GCSE double award specifications in Health and Social Care must additionally require learners to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of promoting health and wellbeing in terms of:
 - definitions of health and wellbeing;

- common factors that affect health and wellbeing and the different effects they can have on individuals and groups across the lifespan;
- methods used to measure an individual's physical health;
- ways of promoting and supporting health improvement for an individual or small group.

Assessment objectives

8. All specifications must require learners to demonstrate their ability to:

	Assessment objectives	Weighting
AO1	Recall, select and communicate their knowledge and understanding of a range of contexts.	25–35%
AO2	Apply skills, knowledge and understanding in a variety of contexts and in planning and carrying out investigations and tasks.	40–50%
AO2	Analyse and evaluate information, sources and evidence, make reasoned judgements and present conclusions.	20–30%

Scheme of assessment

9. GCSE specifications in Health and Social Care must allocate a weighting of 40 per cent to external assessment and a weighting of 60 per cent to controlled assessment in the overall scheme of assessment.
10. Question papers must be targeted at the full range of GCSE grades.

Grade descriptions

11. Grade descriptions are provided to give a general indication of the standards of achievement likely to have been shown by candidates awarded particular grades. The descriptions must be interpreted in relation to the content in the specification; they are not designed to define that content.

The grade awarded will depend in practice upon the extent to which the candidate has met the assessment objectives overall. Shortcomings in some aspects of candidates' performance in the assessment may be balanced by better performances in others.
