Decision

1. The Council is directed to determine the above-mentioned application.

Reasons

2. Authorities are required to investigate applications as soon as reasonably practicable and, after consulting the relevant district and parish councils, decide whether to make an order on the basis of the evidence discovered. Applicants have the right to ask the Secretary of State to direct a surveying authority to reach a decision on an application if no decision has been reached within twelve months of the authority's receipt of certification that the applicant has served notice of the application on affected landowners and occupiers. The Secretary of State in considering whether, in response to such a request, to direct an authority to determine an application for an order within a specified period, will take into account any statement made by the authority setting out its priorities for bringing and keeping the definitive map up to date, the reasonableness of such priorities, any actions already taken by the authority or expressed intentions of further action on the application in question, the circumstances of the case and any views expressed by the applicant¹.
3. Cornwall Council's current policy statement is based on a two-tier system. This application fulfils the criteria for preferential status and has been given a higher priority. Nevertheless, it currently stands at number 54 in their priority list of undetermined Definitive Map Modification Order (DMMO) applications, in part due to other applications having been promoted above it following successful appeals to the Secretary of State for directions to make determinations. The Council anticipates processing between 8 and 10 DMMO applications each year based on current resource levels and estimates this application will be determined in approximately 5 to 6 years. The Applicant estimates a much longer period given current circumstances, and comments on her age and health as factors affecting such a delay, as well as the age of witnesses providing evidence of use in support of the application.

4. This application was made in late November 2012 and validated in early February 2013, the Applicant having been made aware of the backlog of DMMO applications waiting to be processed. The Council does not consider there to be any mitigating factors or exceptional circumstances in this case to warrant its promotion over and above other similar cases awaiting determination, especially those where the path is obstructed. Indeed, it notes the application route is currently open and available to all users and the application seeks to 'tidy up' the Definitive Map at this location. I note the Applicant's view that the application may be beneficial in establishing a route for the England Coast Path at this location.
5. Whilst the Council believes that a direction in this case would be to the detriment of other cases on their priority list, an applicant's right to seek a direction from the Secretary of State gives rise to the expectation of a determination of that application within 12 months under normal circumstances. In this case, more than 6½ years have passed since the application was submitted and no exceptional circumstances have been indicated by the Council for its non-determination.
6. In the circumstances I have decided that there is a case for setting a date by which time the application should be determined. It is appreciated that the Council will require some time to carry out its investigation and make a decision on the application. A further period of 6 months has been allowed.
7. The Applicant refers to their rights under Article 6(1) of the Human Rights Act 1998. This provides that in the determination of their civil rights and obligations...everyone is entitled to a fair and public hearing within a reasonable time by an independent and impartial tribunal established by law. However, my decision as to whether the authority has investigated and determined the application as soon as reasonably practicable in accordance with paragraph 3(1) of Schedule 14 of the 1981 Act does not amount to a determination of the applicant's civil rights and obligations. Article 6(1) is not applicable to this decision.

Direction

On behalf of the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs and pursuant to Paragraph 3(2) of Schedule 14 of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981, I HEREBY DIRECT the Cornwall Council to determine the above-mentioned application not later than six months from the date of this decision.
