Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing in response to your request for information regarding the below. Your request has been handled under Section 1(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. In accordance with Section 1(1) (a) of the Act I hereby confirm that the CNC/CNPA does not hold information of the type specified.

“Any documentation published by your force regarding how people who are protected by a restraining order and people who are subject(.i.e the person whose behavior is restricted)” to a restraining order should act in future interactions

This documentation can be a force procedure , advisory documents or anything that advises the victim and subject how to interact. Obviously there are many different type of restrictions but it is also true there are generally speaking a number of main restrictions. For instance if John is prevented from having direct contact with Mary , is there guidance given to both parties if they meet in the stree?. Does the force offer guidance on what Mary should do ? Should she walk away ? Is John obliged to leave? Things get even more murky when there are kids involved. Then there is indirect contact which really is a very grey area

Anecdotal evidence suggests there is little guidance and it is up to both parties to adopt a common sense approach and in my view this causes a host of problems. So my request is what is your forces advice/guidance/procedure on this? While I would welcome any documentation I don't expect you to cover all scenarios. I'm unaware of any national guidance but you are aware of any then I would appreciate this information

The Civil Nuclear Constabulary is a specialist armed police service dedicated to the civil nuclear industry, with Operational Policing Units based at 10 civil nuclear sites in England and Scotland and over 1400 police officers and staff. The Constabulary headquarters is at Culham in Oxfordshire. The civil nuclear industry forms part of the UK's critical national infrastructure and the role of the Constabulary contribute to the overall framework of national security.

The purpose of the Constabulary is to protect licensed civil nuclear sites and to safeguard nuclear material in transit. The Constabulary works in partnership with the appropriate Home Office Police Force or Police Scotland at each site. Policing services required at each site are agreed with nuclear operators in accordance with the Nuclear Industries Security Regulations 2003 and ratified by the UK regulator, the Office for Nuclear Regulation (ONR). Armed policing services are required at most civil nuclear sites in the United Kingdom. The majority of officers in the Constabulary are Authorised Firearms Officers.

The Constabulary is recognised by the National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC) and the Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS). Through the National Coordinated Policing Protocol, the Constabulary has established memorandums of understanding with the local police forces at all 10 Operational Policing Units. Mutual support and assistance enable the Constabulary to maintain focus on its core role.
